U. S. TAXES ON ESTATE EXCEED PRESENT VALUE

Heirs Owe All and $1,300,000 More.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 7.—[Special.]—The amazing story of how an $11,000,000 block of Montgomery Ward & Co. stock, comprising the major asset of an estate left by a wealthy Chicagoan in 1929, has been converted into a $1,300,000 liability for the heirs, through the application of the federal estate tax, has been brought to the attention of congress as a prize example of how the inheritance taxes have contributed to the destruction of the estates of men dying in 1928, 1929, and 1930.

The block of stock was included in the $14,000,000 estate of Reuben H. Donnelley, Chicago publisher, when he died in February, 1929, just prior to the stock market crash. The government, following treasury regulations, based its tax on the quoted value of the securities as of the date of Mr. Donnelley's death. The tax levied was in excess of $2,000,000, as the estate, based on the prosperity values of the 1929 boom period, came within the maximum 20 per cent bracket of the graduated 1 to 20 per cent federal estate tax.

Rated at Peak Value.

When this stock crashed in value to a fraction of its 1929 quoted selling price the government persisted in the attempt to collect the $2,000,000 tax based on the high 1929 value, notwithstanding the fact that the value of the $11,000,000 block of stock has now dropped to less than three-quarters of a million dollars.

The plight of the Donnelley estate, which is typical of hundreds of others whose values were devastated by falling security prices after federal inheritance taxes were levied, is best shown by testimony included in the official record of the house ways and means committee. It was placed there by James H. Winston, Chicago lawyer, and four other attorneys seeking relief for the heirs of estates, the residue of which is about to be swallowed up by Uncle Sam.

Stock Value Short of Tax.

"A citizen of Chicago (Mr Donnelley) died in February, 1929, owning 88,000 shares of Montgomery Ward stock, which had a quoted market value on the date of death of $130 a share," Mr. Winston and his associates advised the committee in a signed statement. "His estate, including this stock at quoted values on the date of death, comes within the 20 per cent bracket. Now 20 per cent of $130 per share is $26 for each share as the government's transfer tax, notwithstanding that most of this Montgomery Ward stock is still on hand and is today selling at $10 per share.

"In other words, instead of being required to give one-fifth of this stock to the government as its toll, the estate would be required, in effect, to sell the stock and give to the government the entire proceeds from the sale and $15 per share besides.

Stock Long in Family.

"In passing it might be mentioned that this Montgomery Ward stock has been in the family for many years. The decedent's wife was the daughter of one of the founders of the company. It was desired to keep the stock in the family. The decedent was in no way responsible for the inflated price of the stock. It was not a case of speculation. Upon no sound basis of reasoning was Montgomery Ward stock ever really worth $130 per share.

"Neither book value, dividends, nor corporate earnings ever justified even half that price, and yet speculators operating in the atmosphere of the 'new era' ran the price on the exchange to $130 and higher. To tax the transfer of that stock on the basis of $130 per share would be to tax it on a basis of value to which it never attained and probably never will."

Little or Nothing for Heirs.

The object of the Winston testimony was to give congress a picture of the hardships worked on the heirs of pre-crash estates by the basing of the estate tax on the quoted value of securities as of the date of the decedent's death rather than at the time the tax was paid. The testimony disclosed that in scores of instances estates of men who died in 1928, 1929 and 1930 have been so depreciated by falling securities prices that little or nothing will be left for the heirs if the government tax based on the value of securities at the time of death is collected.

FEINBERG QUIZ IS VETOED BY CIRCUIT BENCH

Candidate Defies His Colleagues' Edict.

The Circuit judges in meeting yesterday divested Judge Michael Feinberg of jurisdiction over the special grand jury which he has ordered to appear before him this morning to begin an investigation of charges made against him and others in the Republican primary campaign. The judges, by the decisive vote of 18 to 2, directed that the whole matter be transferred to the jurisdiction of Chief Justice Harry Fisher of the Criminal court.

Judge Feinberg's retort was to defy his fellow members of the Circuit bench. He announced that he would proceed with the investigation in accordance with his plans.

Judges Rebuke Feinberg.

In the meeting the judges rebuked Feinberg for attempting to act in a matter in which they said he is "personally interested." His candidacy for the Republican nomination for state's attorney in opposition to State's Attorney John A. Swanson was the subject of bitter debate between himself and other judges. He was accused of bringing the Circuit court into disrepute through making charges at night in political meetings and trying to substantiate them from the bench next day.

The judges decided that Judge Feinberg had taken cognizance of a petition for the special grand jury filed by one of his political supporters and, acting thereon, had named as special state's attorney to direct the investigation a lawyer politically associated with the petitioner.

Judge Feinberg hotly retorted that his fellow jurists were playing politics by taking the drastic action against him on the eve of the primary.

Shout Down His Arguments.

"Why don't you resign?" was shouted at Judge Feinberg as he strove to present his arguments. "Get a soap box and get out on a street corner and make your speeches there instead of in court. You're making this court a laughing stock," he was told.

Feinberg defended himself by asserting that State's Attorney Swanson had begun the political quarrel by asking the Chicago Bar association to investigate charges against him and Judge Stanley Klarkowski, both of whom are members of the political faction headed by Robert E. Crowe, former state's attorney, who is now managing Feinberg's campaign.

His selection of Attorney Louis E. Hart as special state's attorney to direct the special grand jury inquiry, Judge Feinberg said, was in accordance with the request of State's Attorney Swanson that Hart, as chairman of the Bar association's committee on receiverships and mortgage foreclosures, investigate the appointments by Feinberg and Klarkowski of receivers and attorneys for receivers. Mr. Swanson has charged that Crowe supporters were the beneficiaries of these appointments.

Hart Takes Oath as Prosecutor.

Attorney Hart did not await the decision of the Circuit judges. He went before County Clerk Sweitzer and County Judge Jarecki yesterday and took an oath of office and furnished a bond of $5,000. After the decision he joined Judge Feinberg in saying he would go ahead today in disregard of the order of the other judges.

Hart named as assistant special state's attorneys Russell Whitman, a Democrat, former president of the Bar association, and Richard S. Tuthill, son of the late Judge Richard Tuthill, both of whom reside in Evanston. Attorney Whitman said he would appear this morning before Judge Feinberg ready for any eventuality, since he had promised Hart to help him. Attorney Tuthill could not be reached.

Judges Vote, 18 to 2.

The roll call at the judges' meeting on the question of taking the investigation from Judge Feinberg's jurisdiction and transferring it to the Criminal court was as follows:

COP'S WIFE LOADS GUN AS HE FIRES IN BANDIT CHASE

A policeman's wife resorting to heroic methods of pioneer days helped her husband battle and capture three bandits late last night. The prisoners, with a fourth man arrested later, confessed twenty recent holdups.

The heroine of the capture was Mrs. Anna Bukowski. Her husband is Policeman Bernard Bukowski of the Irving Park station. They were returning from a show to their home at 5151 Henderson street last night when, in front of 2644 Milwaukee avenue, they heard the cry of "Robber!" At the same time a taxicab containing three men dashed in front.

Bukowski pursued. From the cab came a shot, then another. Bukowski, driving with one hand, returned the fire. He emptied his gun as the fugitives sent more bullets at him. Then, like a pioneer woman, Mrs. Bukowski extracted cartridges from her husband's ammunition belt and reloaded his gun. At Armitage and Kedzie avenues Policeman Bukowski and his wife forced the taxi to the curb and seized the occupants.

They were John Shepack, 19 years old, of 1653 North Central Park avenue; Albert Klewer, 20, of 1648 North Spaulding avenue, now out on parole from Pontiac, and Richard Edwards, 21, of 1714 North Troy street. Norman Schroeder, 22, of 2217 North Sawyer avenue, also out on parole from Pontiac, was seized later.

Before their capture Shepack, Klewer, and Edwards, with one revolver between them, had commandeered the cab driven by Jay Kelly of 4707 Maypole avenue. They forced him to take them to the delicatessen in Milwaukee avenue operated by Walter Gresimer. They got $80 and were making their getaway when Policeman Bukowski and his wife sighted them.

STEALS SO THAT SON MAY STUDY TO BE MINISTER

A father who violated the law to earn money so that his son might complete his studies for the ministry was sentenced to serve a term of from one to three years in the house of correction at Milwaukee yesterday.

He is Lloyd Wetzel, 47 years old, of Libertyville. He was arraigned before Judge George A. Shaughnessy on a charge of selling a stolen automobile in Milwaukee. In court, Wetzel's wife pleaded that her husband had violated the law for the ministerial education of their son.

Attorney Paul MacGuffin of Libertyville, who represented Wetzel, said that his client operated an automobile business in Libertyville for several years. The depression ruined him, he added. The son whom Wetzel tried to aid attended the Illinois Wesleyan seminary at Bloomington.

Curtis Ready to Make Final Trip for Baby

Norfolk, Va., April 7.—[Special.]—John H. Curtis, most active of the three Norfolk negotiators for the return of the Lindbergh baby, is awaiting word to make another trip to meet the agent of the kidnapers. It is said the contemplated trip, if it is made, probably will be the last the shipbuilder will be called upon to undertake.

Curtis returned to Norfolk yesterday after a four-day trip in which he made contact with the agent of the kidnapers and saw Col. Lindbergh. He said the pilot had thanked him for his efforts and seemed much cheered at the word from the kidnapers that the baby was safe and well.

Curtis Silent on Parley.

Just what transpired at the conference Curtis had with the mysterious agent, who is supposed to know the whereabouts of the child and the identity of the kidnapers, Curtis declined to say.

Today Curtis was at his shipbuilding plant and was apparently attending to personal business. He conferred with Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage and the Rev. H. Dobson Peacock for more than an hour, but neither of the negotiators would discuss what transpired.

It became known today that Curtis had not conferred with Col. Schwarzkopf, superintendent of the New Jersey police, and it was intimated that Schwarzkopf is not in the confidence of Col. Lindbergh regarding the work of the Norfolk negotiations.

Wife of Curtis Worried.

Mrs. John H. Curtis, wife of the leader of the local trio, said her husband's efforts to effect an arrangement for the return of the baby were fraught with danger and she urged newspaper men not to try to guess where he had made contact with the supposed agent of the kidnapers.

The drawing of Admiral Burrage and Peacock into the case was an accident and resulted from the inability of Curtis to make contact with Col. Lindbergh after he had obtained information about the kidnaped baby.

Curtis has stated that for five days he tried to make contact with Lindbergh, but was blocked on every point by the New Jersey troopers on duty around the Lindbergh estate and by parties in the Lindbergh home.

Curtis has not and cannot acquaint his co-negotiators with the identity of the agent he is making contact with because the arrangements in the beginning were supposed to be between two men—Curtis and the agent.

Hope Fading at Hopewell.

New York, April 7.—[Special.]—Much of the optimism that has characterized the search for the 21 month old Lindbergh baby, stolen from his parents' home more than five weeks ago, was dissipated during the day along with the rumors which gave it birth. The child's continued absence from home, in spite of rumors that it had been found and placed in safe hands and the apparent futility of police efforts to solve the case, were responsible.

Saloon Scene of Execution; Hunt Mangano

Benjamin [Red] Applequist, 43 years old, and his brother, Ernest, 40 years old, both veterans of the beer business on the west side, were shot and killed last night as they were tending bar in their small speakeasy at 42 North Paulina street.

Each was struck in the head, evidently at close range, by shotgun slugs. Four glasses that had contained beer, left standing nearly empty on the bar, indicated to investigators that the brothers had been slain by men who pretended to be customers. That robbery was not the motive of the killers was evidenced by the $31 in the cash register which remained untouched.

Two Men Seen Fleeing.

Witnesses reported seeing two men flee from the place after the shots were fired. They ran to an alley a little to the north and drove away in a small automobile.

An intricate jig saw of politics and beer running, with the usual gang sidelights, presented itself to Capt. Charles McGurn and Lieut. Frank Malone of the Warren avenue police when they started unraveling the mystery of the double murder.

On the walls of the saloon were political posters of two candidates. One was Omer N. Custer, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor. The other was Francis M. Tuite, candidate for the state senate. Tuite has a garage a block away from the Applequist saloon and the brothers were reported to be interested in his candidacy.

Tells of Mangano Warning.

The police learned that Benjamin Applequist only a few days ago told a friend that Dago Lawrence Mangano, public enemy, Capone henchman, and politician, had warned him to quit selling beer and get out. To this friend Applequist related that he had quit selling beer, but that he hoped when Tuite was elected he would be able to operate again. Meanwhile he was merely keeping open, he said.

Another theory was that labor troubles might have had a bearing on the matter. Ernest Applequist, who was a close friend of Dean O'Banion and of O'Banion's successor, George (Bugs) Moran, was until recently head of the City Chauffeurs' union. The police were seeking to determine whether some angle of labor politics or some tieup with Moran's north side gang caused the double killing. The north siders for years were at war with the Capone forces.

Police Records on Both Victims.

The younger Applequist, according to police records, was suspected as an automobile thief as far back as 1915. The older one, as a political worker in the 18th ward, was questioned at a coroner's inquest in 1917 about the killing of William Basket, a rival polls worker. He pleaded self-defense and was released. Benjamin Applequist was then a partisan of Barney Grogan.

Another story concerning the Applequists long current in gang circles is that they were marked to be among the victims of the Valentine's day massacre three years ago and narrowly missed being present when the shooting occurred.

David Jacobson, a bartender for the brothers, is missing, and the police are seeking him as well as Mangano for questioning.

90 Pct. of Independent Movies to Close on June 1

A poll of independent theater owners at a meeting of the Allied Theater Owners in the Congress hotel yesterday revealed that nearly 90 per cent of the 150 movie houses represented would close on June 1, instead of the usual 5 to 10 per cent. The decision has been reached, it was explained, because of the decreased receipts during the summer and because of the overhead expenses.

MASSIE MURDER JURY CHOSEN; 8 WHITES IN BOX

Court Is Adjourned Until Monday.

BULLETIN.

HONOLULU, April 7.—(AP)—Two alienists who figured in notorious murder trials of southern California and Arizona arrived here tonight to confer with Clarence Darrow, noted Chicago criminal lawyer who heads defense counsel for Mrs. Granville Fortescue and three naval men on trial for second degree murder. Defense counsel declined to comment upon the arrival of the alienists—Dr. Edward Huntington Williams and Dr. James Orbison.

Both figured in the trial of William Edward Hickman, who was hanged for kidnaping and slaying Marion Parker, Los Angeles schoolgirl. Dr. Williams also appeared in the trial of Mrs. Winnie Ruth Judd, Phoenix, Ariz., convicted trunk slayer.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

HONOLULU, April 7.—The jury to try Mrs. Granville Fortescue, her son-in-law, Lieut. Thomas Massie, U. S. N.; E. J. Lord, and Albert O. Jones, naval enlisted men, for the murder of Joseph Kahahawai, a young native, on Jan. 8, was completed shortly before noon today. Circuit Judge Charles S. Davis then adjourned court until Monday morning, when the prosecution will begin to submit its evidence.

The jury is a good cross section of the Hawaiian racial melting pot, almost evenly balanced between white and other racial mixtures. Clarence Darrow of Chicago, chief counsel for the defense, said he was satisfied that it was a good jury "under the circumstances." He stopped trying to change it while he still had ten unused peremptory challenges.

This was agreed to by Prosecutor John C. Kelley. Kelley had been fair in the jury's selection, and permitted it to stand when he had nine challenges left with which to remove the eight white jurymen if he wished to do so.

The Completed Jury.

The completed jury is composed of five men of American descent, three Chinese, one Portuguese, one German, one Dane, and one Hawaiian. It follows:

Charles Akana, 32, Chinese, contractor's clerk.

Charles H. Strohlin, 51, American, pump engineer.

Shadford Waterhouse, 26, American, bank clerk.

Edward Goeas, 25, Portuguese, clerk.

George Duncan McIntyre, 41, American, clerk.

Theodore B. Bush, American, 40, civil engineer.

Olaf Lauritz Sorenson, 61, American, assistant manager of a railroad company.

Willy B. Beyer, 42, German, food buyer.

Theodore C. H. Char, 31, Chinese, certified public accountant.

Henry S. Y. Chang, 25, Chinese, clerk.

John F. Stone, 43, American, a secretary.

In the course of reaching this jury less than 100 veniremen went through the box. The high proportion of whites is unusual, it was said in court circles. It is out of proportion to their place in the population.

Chinese Puzzle to Darrow.

This is considered fortunate for the defense, assuming that the white reaction to a situation of this kind is likely to favor Mrs. Fortescue and her codefendants.

The Chinese are a puzzle for Darrow. He is unable to fathom their attitude, but they are considered as good, solid citizens.

During the examination of the panel in four days the prosecution dismissed from the box by peremptory challenges ten whites, three Chinese, a Portuguese, and a Japanese. The defense dismissed five Hawaiians and part Hawaiians, three Chinese, one Japanese, one Portuguese, and one white old timer of the islands.

Through the lottery of the jury box the Japanese are not represented strongly in the panel. It is thought generally that the jury is above the average. Fixed opinions were not as prevalent as expected, probably because the case was talked of so much that the people had passed beyond the opinion stage to uncertainty and confusion. They are willing now to hear the evidence of facts instead of gossip, anxious to let the court decide and end as quickly as possible this painful period of Hawaiian history.

Salesman Admits Opinion.

With 28 men still available in the venire, the prosecutor said at the opening of the session that he thought the jury would be obtained without an additional call.

The first to be examined today was Fred W. Carter Jr., salesman. He said he formed an opinion of the case after reading a Chicago newspaper. McIntyre, who is dock assistant of the Mathon Navigation company, said he had no fixed opinion. He admitted business dealings with the supply department of the navy, but the prosecution accepted him. Darrow asked him if he was particularly interested in the rape case. He said he belonged to a Masonic organization. Darrow accepted him.

Kam Tai Lee, young Chinese editor, was excused on a peremptory challenge by Darrow, after Kelley waived the right to exercise his ninth challenge. Bush, white, a former employé of the Bishop estate, was called. He has been in the islands 20 years. Douglas Alexander Cooke, white, was excused.

Prosecution Asks Recess.

Joseph J. Kelley, foreman of a pineapple company, said he had only "a slight opinion." He was passed.

Darrow waived his tenth challenge, but retained a right to the six remaining. The prosecution asked a recess to consider the next challenge, and the feeling in the courtroom at this stage was that about as good a jury as the defense could expect was in sight.

Mrs. Fortescue displayed little interest in the proceedings and did not look at the jurors. Her view beyond the thick shoulders of the prosecutor bald despite his youth and white coated, is toward the royal palms swaying in the court yard and the gold draped figure of the early black king of the island whose memory is venerated by all Hawaiians.

A story is going the rounds that she is feigning a wooden appearance as part of the defense plan.

The jury at the recess stood seven white men and another white with a touch of Hawaiian blood. The prosecutor broke this by excusing Juror Kelley. K. O. Kam, young Chinese, said he has a strong opinion and was excused. Peter K. McLean, who works for a Hawaiian trust company, said he was a friend of a member of the grand jury which returned the indictment against the murder defendants. He was passed by both sides.

Darrow Excuses Hawaiian.

Darrow excused Francis Rosehill, part Hawaiian. Earl G. Hedemark had views on the principle involved in the case and Kelley used his twelfth challenge against him. Antone S. Fraga, Portuguese plumber, was out by a Darrow challenge. Robert Ku Heu, Chinese youth, exhibited a tendency toward an opinion. He was born in Maui and taught citizenship as a duty for jurors. The prosecution excused McLean and Chang, a youth with a high black pompadour, took the Scotsman's seat. He has the same name as one of the Ala Moana rape case defendants, but said he did not know them. He said he had an opinion, but lost it.

Bernard Ahlo, Hawaiian laborer, was excused by Darrow, thus sweeping the last Hawaiian out of the box at that time. Char, a Chinese accountant, was substituted. He attended the University of Chicago, Knox college, and the University of Illinois. He had no opinion.

Kelley excused Barton Eveleth, civil engineer. There was a gasp of astonishment on the part of the audience. Stone, who is secretary to Frank Atherton, millionaire president of a steamship agency, was passed.

Lawyers Hold Conference.

The prosecuting attorneys then went into conference for several minutes. Napoleon, the Hawaiian manager of a meat store, said he had no opinion.

"I have met many on both sides and was afraid to express an opinion for fear of losing some business," he said. "I am married and have seven children."

"Girls or boys?" asked Darrow.

"Half and half," was the reply.

After this things moved rapidly, and with the acceptance of Stone by Darrow without a single question the court called for the defense's fifteenth challenge. Darrow, Attorney Montgomery Winn, and Lieut. L. H. C. Johnson, the navy's legal aid, held a whispered conference and Winn announced that the jury was acceptable providing the prosecutor would agree to let it stand.

The twelve men then stood and were sworn in a hushed courtroom.

Fire destroyed the altar of St. William's Catholic church, Sayre and Wrightwood avenues, late last night and spread to the upper floor. Sacred vessels and other holy objects were saved from the flames by clergymen who dashed from the parish house nearby. The fire started in the basement and ate through the altar and then to the second floor.

George R. Meyercord, president of the Meyercord Manufacturing company, yesterday demonstrated a mechanical cotton harvester he has perfected. The harvester, said to be the first successful device to pick cotton, passes over the stalks and revolving cogs pick the bolls of cotton. Mr. Meyercord, who is a past president of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, said that one of the machines would do the work of 60 men, but that it would not displace labor, as the decreased cost in raising cotton would multiply its consumption. Cotton, if produced mechanically, he said, can be raised profitably at a price of 6 or 7 cents a pound. Mr. Meyercord, in demonstrating the machine before members of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, said that he had experimented on it for the last six years and spent half a million dollars in perfecting it.

JUDD HITS BACK IN DEFENSE OF HAWAII MORALS

Says Findings Show Honolulu Is Clean.

Washington, D. C., April 7.—[Special.]—Gov. Lawrence M. Judd of Hawaii today struck back at the department of justice for its criticism of crime conditions in the islands and its recommendations that the territory's law enforcement activities be curtailed and turned over to the federal government.

In a telegram to Secretary of the Interior Wilbur, Gov. Judd asserted that the report of Assistant Attorney General Seth W. Richardson recommended confiscation of some of "the most treasured rights of self-government" enjoyed by the Hawaiian people.

Assails Transfer Proposal.

The Richardson recommendations that the power of appointing the Hawaiian attorney general and the high sheriff be transferred to the President came in for vigorous criticism at the hands of Gov. Judd, who now appoints those officers.

"To transfer to Washington appointment of a territorial attorney general and police head," Gov. Judd said, "would result in divided authority between governor and these officers, with resultant loss, not gain, in efficiency and no centralized responsibility.

Gov. Judd said Hawaii had voluntarily ceded its sovereignty to the federal government "with the assurance of a considerable degree of autonomy and for more than thirty years has jealously exercised that privilege."

"Mr. Richardson," he said, "finds we have no organized crime, no important criminal class, no crime rackets, no substantial evidence of a crime wave in comparison with the crime record of cities similar in size on the mainland and no present serious racial prejudices. He finds that relations with army and navy are satisfactory. In the face of these findings, which reveal Honolulu and the islands to be as clean and normal as any mainland community, Mr. Richardson recommends a confiscation by congress of some of our most treasured rights of self-government."

Resents Recent Charges.

In conclusion, Gov. Judd asserted that Hawaii resented any imputation that she would not coöperate to the utmost in event of great national emergency.

"That Hawaii is small and isolated, that it is a military outpost and that congress has power to act which it lacks with respect to other states do not present sufficient reasons for the action proposed in view of the general findings. Self-government should be fostered in Hawaii, not hindered, and the findings do not justify the conclusion that our citizens of many racial ancestries have failed to perform their duties at least as well as citizens on the mainland. I respectfully urge that Hawaii be accorded the confidence to which she is entitled and that we be permitted to solve our own problems in the usual American way."

Repeal or Modify Dry Law, New York Chamber Demands

New York, April 7.—[Special.]—With less than half a dozen dissenting voices opposing a chorus of "ayes" among 311 members present today, the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York formally pronounced prohibition a "failure."

It adopted a resolution advocating "the immediate revision of the Volstead act and the immediate modification or repeal of the eighteenth amendment to the end that the individual states shall control the use of alcoholic beverages within their boundaries, and adopt as they see fit methods of distribution and sale."

In the expressed hope of widespread concurrence, the Chamber prepared to send a report of the proceedings to other chambers of commerce throughout the United States. To facilitate distribution, the unanimous report of the executive committee of the chamber, headed by James S. McCulloch, president of the New York Telephone company, was printed as a pamphlet.

Oldest Chamber in World.

The prohibition report was prefaced with an explanation that it represented the judgment of "the oldest chamber of commerce in the world—men of high reputation for honor, integrity, and business ability—limited to a membership of 2,000 out of a population of ten million in the metropolitan area of New York."

"It is these men, many of them teetotalers, who have been addressing themselves to the prohibition question," the report read, "for this question has become of such magnitude, with so many evil consequences to business, commerce, and government, that commercial organizations should give it consideration."

It concluded that "the promises of prohibition have not been fulfilled; it has produced more evil than good; legislation establishing prohibition at once resulted in the disbandment of temperance campaigns; educational propaganda ceased and the entire discussion of intoxicating beverages was devoted to jails, fines, and enforcement affairs. It is economically and socially unsound and is promoting degeneration of moral standards everywhere."

Personally Dry; For Repeal.

Alfred E. Marling, former president of the chamber and a member of the executive committee which has spent the last five months formulating the report, rose to explain that he was for it although he was personally a dry and expected to remain so. He said he had been for prohibition as an experiment "noble in motive," when the chamber considered it in 1923, but that he had slowly come to the conclusion that it was "an idealism impossible of realization."

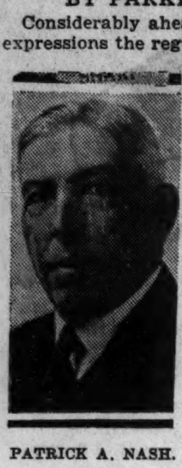
CLAIM VICTORY FOR HORNER AND ENTIRE TICKET

Regular Party Chiefs Issue Statements.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Considerably ahead of time for such expressions the regular Democratic organization began yesterday to issue forecasts of the certain victory of the Horner-Dieterich-Courtney ticket in the primary next Tuesday.



PATRICK A. NASH.

Patrick A. Nash, chairman of the Cook county committee, and Ernest Hoover, secretary of the state committee and downstate manager for the state ticket, issued their predictions separately. The head of the ticket, Judge Henry Horner, topped them off at a luncheon of leaders at the Hotel Sherman by saying he will carry a majority of the downstate counties and will win Cook county so overwhelmingly that there can be no doubt of victory.

Place Igoe a "Poor Third."

The downstate forecast by Hoover was approximately the same so far as his territory was concerned. He said that Judge Horner will come up to Cook county neck and neck with his downstate opponent, Bruce A. Campbell, with Michael L. Igoe running "a poor third."

"In other words, his downstate opponent, while possibly breaking even with the judge in the downstate vote, will prove a mere cipher in the Chicago balloting," he said, "while his Chicago opponent, after polling a negligible vote downstate can only hope to come in a poor second in his home county.

"These figures are accurate and unbiased and irrefutable."

Hoover said that the change in the downstate picture during the month in which Judge Horner and his associates were campaigning was "amazing."

"In county after county," he said, "where a few weeks ago Judge Horner had no organization or other means of getting out a vote in his favor, the county organizations originally claimed by one or the other of his opponents have voluntarily marched into the Horner camp."

Welcomes Republicans.

In his statement predicting success for the entire county ticket as well as for the state candidates, County Chairman Nash welcomed the support of Republicans, which, he said, has been extended on a wholesale scale.

"Our canvass of the city," he said, "reveals that there are tens of thousands of Republicans who intend to vote the Democratic ticket next fall and are anxious to participate in the selection of the Democratic candidates they wish to support.

"We believe that it is only fair that the men and women who are going to vote for the Democratic nominees in the fall should have something to say about who these candidates shall be. I, therefore, invite them to join with us now.

Promises Economy.

"There are thousands of Republicans who did not vote in last year's mayoralty primary who can vote with us this year and they should do so."

In addition to voicing his confidence of the outcome, Judge Horner said at his meetings during the day that, as governor, he would trim bureaucracy in the state government to a minimum.

"In the last fifteen years," he said, "governments, local, state and national, have engaged in experiment after costly experiment. They have become reckless not only with the nation's wealth but with the liberties of our people.

"The federal government built up bureaus, commissions and departments that have been so extended that they have reached not only into the business affairs but into the private lives and habits of every citizen.

State Governments Follow.

"Unhappily, the state governments, including our own, have followed suit. If we are to start right upon the road to economic recovery, we must reorganize our government at Springfield as well as at Washington on simpler and more Democratic lines.

"Private enterprise must be liberated from governmental interference; bureaus and commissions must be reduced to the essential minimum; public business must be conducted upon a sensible basis and no taxes must be collected except for the maintenance of the necessary and proper public services.

"With such a program honestly carried out, industry will get a breathing spell. It will find it possible to attempt its own rehabilitation and work will be found for a large bulk of our unemployed."

Mayor Assails Igoe.

At the Hotel Sherman luncheon, Mayor Cermak condemned Igoe as a "tax booster" because he supported in the legislature the tax increase bills sponsored by the last Republican city administration.

There were only two noon meetings for governorship candidates in the loop theaters. Omer N. Custer, "white ribbon" candidate, spoke at the Apollo, where he said that if elected he would reduce materially the cost of state government.

William H. Malone spoke at the Cort theater and challenged his opponents for the Republican nomination to meet him in debate on "the use of politicians as receivers and attorneys for receivers of closed banks." He advocates that the state act as receiver in such cases without fees.

Custer Guest of Realtors.

Custer was a guest last night at a dinner given by members of the Illinois Association of Real Estate Boards and the Chicago Real Estate board. About 200 were present. The speakers in addition to Mr. Custer included George F. Nixon, president of the state association, and Ralph V. Field, a former president.

Speaking at the Waukegan Masonic temple and the Bartlett theater in Highwood last night, Edward J. Brundage criticized all of his Republican opponents. He charged that Attorney General Carlstrom settled the treasurer's interest suit against Len Small for "50 cents on the dollar," that Custer has profited from brick roads built by the state, that Small abused the pardon and parole system and that Malone failed, as state chairman, to meet the tax problem.

Tim Crowe's Plan to Help Out the Boys Is O. K., But—

The precinct captains in the 37th ward were gay for a few fleeting hours yesterday. Tim Crowe, recently sentenced to five years' imprisonment in the sanitary district graft conspiracy case, had sent each captain a letter offering from 50 cents to a dollar for each vote gathered for him in his desperate fight to be reëlected Democratic ward committeeman.

The captains sang joyously as they scurried about the ward. Their campaign carol was "Every Vote Has a Silver Lining," and they dreamed of bluebirds and sunshine and prosperity just around the corner. Every citizen was a walking dollar mark. There were 5,177 Democratic votes in the ward in the 1930 ward committeeman election.

Then one captain, a skeptic, took Crowe's letter to the election commissioners' office and showed it to the attorney for the board, Cornelius J. Harrington.

The letter was headed, "37th Ward Regular Democratic Organization, T. J. Crowe, Committeeman," and signed by Crowe. It read:

"To All Captains:

"You captains should not overlook the prizes offered by one of the members of our organization, namely, $100 for 100 votes for T. J. Crowe, $50 for 75 votes, and $25 for 50 votes. This is an opportunity to be well rewarded, and therefore it will pay you to keep going from now until the ballots are counted on Tuesday evening, April 12."

Attorney Harrington turned the pages of the book containing the Illinois statutes and read the following:

"Any person who shall solicit, request, demand, or receive any money, intoxicating liquor, or any other thing of value, either to influence his vote or to be used to procure the vote of any other person. . . . shall be deemed guilty of bribery and shall be sentenced to the county jail for not less than three months nor more than one year."

LONDON, April 7.—Many of the belongings of Princess Mary, the daughter of King George, went begging today when they were offered for auction at Chesterfield house, the former London home of the princess and her husband, the earl of Harewood.

A first edition of John Stuart Mills' essay on "Liberty" had to be combined with a two volume set of Dickens' "American Notes" to bring 10 shillings [about $1.90].

The eleven foot mahogany dining table from the princess' sitting room brought only £3 10s [$13.30], while one small bedroom table went for 8 shillings.

With the exception of four fine Chippendale chairs, which brought £2,500, the most valuable furniture had been moved from Chesterfield house to the palatial new home of the princess and the earl.

Kidnapers Snatch Cuban Baby; Take Cradle, Too

FINDS HUSBAND A SUICIDE; WIFE ALSO KILLS SELF

Lynn, Mass., April 7.—[Special.]—Through 35 years of constant sickness Washington Melzard, 79, of Tilton terrace, this city, was nursed and cheered by his wife, Sarah, 84. Today despondency overwhelmed him while his wife slept. He crept downstairs and committed suicide by gas.

Mrs. Melzard awakened to find his body on the kitchen floor. She wrote three brief notes, one saying she had found her husband dead, lay down beside his body, embraced him and died with a gas tube in her mouth.

Dr. William Hopkins, who had attended the Melzards daily for years, found the couple dead. Dr. Nathaniel P. Breed, medical examiner, returned a verdict of double suicide.

BEWARE CUSTER'S SAMPLE BALLOTS, CRUSADERS WARN

Charge Dry Forces Invoke Trickery to Win.

"Be on your guard against every one who hands you a sample ballot marked for Omer N. Custer for governor," Col. Ira L. Reeves, director of the Crusaders, wrote his battalion commanders in the Chicago area yesterday. "It is but a crafty scheme of the Clarence True Wilsons, the George Saffords, the Scott McBrides, and other professional dry reformers to put across by political trickery a notoriously dry candidate in a notoriously wet state."

The Reeves communication urged the commanders that in the few remaining days before the Tuesday primary they exert every effort toward "exposing the cleverly conceived scheme of the drys to foist the Custer candidacy upon the people of this overwhelmingly anti-prohibition city." Chicago, said Col. Reeves, has been recently polled on the prohibition issue and found to be 10 to 1 against the dry law.

Lists 32 Custer Backers.

Col. Reeves appended to his letter a list of 32 Republican ward committeemen who he has been informed are supporting Custer.

"Here are the facts as to the political conspiracy," Col. Reeves wrote. "Spread them broadcast in your ward. See that every Crusader is informed as to them.

"Gov. Emmerson, recognizing his own political weakness due to unpopularity because of his vetoing the repeal of the state search and seizure act, against the expressed will of the people, was induced by the Anti-Saloon league to perpetuate his dry régime by getting behind the Custer candidacy.

Hits Wet-Dry Committeemen.

"It appears further that Gov. Emmerson has, through the unrestrained distribution of patronage, induced the ward committeemen of Chicago listed below to openly espouse Custer's candidacy.

"Please bear in mind that every one of these ward committeemen, with possibly one exception, expressed himself as being an ardent wet, yet each of them is using all the influence and pressure of his office to sponsor the driest of the drys, who, if nominated, will undoubtedly oppose every measure brought up within this state for the modification, repeal, or the revision of state or national prohibition laws, and will attempt to take with him to the Republican national convention eleven dry delegates at large who will oppose any attempt to secure a wet plank in the Republican platform."

Col. Reeves added that should Custer be nominated by the Republicans, at least 300,000 militant wets of that party would immediately begin work to elect the Democratic nominee. "It is our prediction," he said, "that should Custer be nominated he will be the worst defeated man who ever ran for the governorship in Illinois."

Following are the ward committeemen named by Reeves as Custer supporters: 1st, Dan Serritella; 4th, Charles Krutchkoff; 5th, John Leonard East; 7th, Charles L. Gerds; 8th, Andrew C. Metzger; 9th, Albert V. Becker; 10th, Elmer A. Brown; 12th, George D. King; 13th, Robert Docherty; 15th, A. F. Golk; 16th, William H. Reid; 18th, James L. Brogan; 19th, Charles A. Nowak; 20th, William Pacelli; 21st, George Barrett; 22d, Harry A. Steinmeyer; 23d, William Lass; 24th, Paul W. Rothenberg; 26th, James Vignola; 27th, William Garrison; 28th, Alex N. Todd; 30th, Edward F. Moore; 32d, Daniel D. Coffey; 33d, John T. Dempsey; 36th, E. T. Brekke; 38th, Frank Kalteux; 39th, Charles McGowen; 40th, John J. McKeone; 41st, James C. Moreland; 47th, John J. Hoellen; 49th, William A. Burmeister; 50th, Louis Nettelhorst.

"Now is the time," Col. Reeves' letter concluded, "to expose dry hypocrisy."

Prospective 'Tenant' Loots Apartment; Ties 2 Women

A bandit, who posed as a prospective tenant in an apartment building at 7 East 79th street, gained admittance to the flat of Mrs. Clara Smith, 28 years old, the renting agent of the building, last evening and fled with three fur coats valued at $2,000. Mrs. Smith and her sister, Miss Blanche White, 25 years old, were forced to sit in chairs while the bandit bound their hands and feet. Shortly after he had left Mrs. Smith freed herself and called Burnside police.

END HYPROCRISY OF PROHIBITION, CRIES CARLSTROM

Predicts 4 Pct. Beer Will Return Prosperity.

"Get rid of national prohibition, dismiss an army of snoopers and we will save human lives, employ a million men in legitimate enterprise, raise a billion a year for the government and restore markets for agricultural products."

In these words Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, last night summed up his views on the eighteenth amendment, the adoption of which, he declared, had been followed by sordid crime and corruption.

Second Bitter Attack.

It was the candidate's second arraignment of the sham and hypocrisy of the prohibition era since he formally launched his campaign in Cook county on March 26. In this second attack Mr. Carlstrom drew a picture of the benefits in employment and trade that might be expected through a new deal on prohibition.

He spoke to an audience of 48th ward voters in the Sheridan Plaza hotel. Point by point, his hearers followed his arraignment of repressive dry laws and interrupted him frequently with outbursts of applause.

Gangsters, the attorney declared, had flourished along with crooked politicians during the prohibition era.

Favors a Referendum.

"Throw out of office those public servants who have yielded to the temptation of bootlegger gold," he urged. "Let's stop the mounting cost of enforcement and lighten the ills of depression. I favor the right of the people to a resubmission of the whole question of national prohibition to the states through state conventions.

"I want each state to have the opportunity for the direct legal expression of its citizens. I favor the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. Let each state adopt its own liquor control laws, adequately safeguarded by restrictions to prevent the return of the open saloon.

"When I became a candidate for governor I was determined to give an honest expression of my views and to carry forward my campaign without pussyfooting or evading the issue.

Trying to Preserve Party.

"It has been said that in my stand I am deserting the principles of my party to advocate state's rights. I say now I am not deserting my party principles. I am trying to preserve the principles and traditions of the Grand Old Party.

Mr. Carlstrom urged that the wholesome brew of beer, "a harmless, healthful beverage of reasonable alcoholic content, be made available to our people under controlled federal or state supervision, allowing the government to realize revenue from its manufacture and sale."

Wine for Bootleg Gin.

"I advocate the return of the light and harmless wines to which we were accustomed before the gin era," he continued. "Instead of these harmless beverages, what have we today? We have bootleg booze, redistilled alcohol, bathtub gin, needle beer, Halsted street Scotch and raw wines. Let us be rid of these poisonous concoctions.

"With the intent of doing away with the saloon, many of our well meaning citizens advocated federal prohibition under the stress of the emergency of war. Is the saloon gone? Today we have the speakeasy, the gilded night clubs, the dives and worse.

"And what fine neighbors we have after twelve years of prohibition! Bootlegger, hijacker, gangster, racketeer, muscle man, these are the breed that have thrived on the illegal traffic. As a direct outgrowth of the power yielded by these hoodlums, today we are beset by kidnaping for ransom.

Return to Sanity.

"Must this continue? Are we to fall completely under the sway of the hoodlums and gangsters who have become arrogant from the rich spoils of their bootlegging? Is there no remedy? I urge you, elect men to office who, besides being otherwise qualified, are pledged to restore sanity to our government, national, state, and local."

Mr. Carlstrom then mentioned the report of the senate subcommittee assigned to study the Bingham beer bill.

"The senate subcommittee declared that the legalizing of 4 per cent beer would bring a sixfold relief to the United States. That relief would be: Promotion of temperance with a corresponding decrease in crime; legalization of a nonintoxicating beverage; decrease in unemployment; assistance to agriculture; benefit to national finances, and presentation of a practical modification plan.

Conditions Grow Worse.

"The subcommittee said further, 'The evidence was overwhelming to the effect that undesirable conditions resulting from the Volstead act are steadily growing worse. The wholesale crime and drunkenness which has grown out of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act has wrought terrible havoc in the dignity of the law, and the subcommittee believes the wisdom of congress may best be evidenced by meeting it with this bill. It will promote temperance, strengthen the law, decrease crime, and generally contribute to the public welfare.'"

Provide Employment.

Mr. Carlstrom stated that he believed the legalizing of beer would be a great impetus to the economic life of the country. He quoted figures supplied by August A. Busch showing how legalized beer might aid the country. According to Mr. Busch, the speaker said, legalized beer will do the following:

"Provide employment for 1,250,000 in nearly 100 different industries.

"Reëstablish a profitable market for 80,000,000 bushels of grain annually, thereby absorbing the surplus that demoralized grain prices and ruined 30,000,000 farmers.

"Return an annual revenue of $400,000,000 to the federal government and wipe out the treasury deficit.

Waiting for Prosperity Sign.

"The public has been waiting for some definite sign of the approach of prosperity," Mr. Carlstrom continued. "By reaping the benefits of the return of beer, namely, jobs for the unemployed; lowering of taxes; reëstablishment of a market for grain with an increase in grain prices; reduction in the present costs of prohibition enforcement, and creation of a demand for millions of tons of coal, the impulse surely will be felt and prosperity will again be on the way.

"The prohibition bureau is quoted as having issued statistics showing that in 1917 the 1,217 brewing plants consumed nearly four billion pounds of grain and other farm products. In 1929 the 303 surviving cereal beverage plants consumed only 162,690,562 pounds of farm products, or a loss to the farmers estimated at 3,761,895,269 pounds of grain and other produce.

Market for Grain.

"Further, the average annual wheat crop of the United States is 800,000,000 bushels. According to the statistics supplied by Mr. Busch, the amount of grain used by the brewing industry was 10 per cent of the crop. It is interesting to note that while the cereal farmer is deprived of a profitable market the California grape growers obtained $35,000,000 from the government to promote the manufacture of legalized wine concentrates susceptible of being converted into the staggering quantity of almost 2,000,000,000 gallons of wine!

"Reliable estimates indicate that a billion dollars a year could be realized by the government by levying an excise tax on beer at the rate of $10 or $12 a barrel," Mr. Carlstrom said.

Mr. Carlstrom said that the annual appropriations for prohibition enforcement jumped from $3,000,000 in 1920 to $15,000,000 in 1931, without taking into consideration the use of the coast guard and the customs service.

"The lawyers, the doctors, and the workers of the country have registered their disapproval of prohibition through the American Bar association, the American Medical association and the American Federation of Labor," Mr. Carlstrom said. "The world war veterans, who are represented in every walk of civilian life, have shouted their condemnation of prohibition at conventions of the American Legion.

Banish Hypocrisy.

"Through all the sordid background of mistaken prohibition, there emerges just one course to follow—let us go back to honesty in government and do away with this sham and hypocrisy. Let us save ourselves, our families, our homes. Let us not try to reform our neighbors with a shotgun or with a national proclamation of 'Thou shalt not.'

"Dismiss the army of snoopers. Reëstablish the sanctity of the home and keep it inviolate against unreasonable search and seizure. Fire your crooked public servants. Unshackle the fetters a great crime oligarchy has put upon us.

"Give once more liberty to a people that deserves freedom. Do all this by banishing prohibition and recalling temperance."

Women's Campaign Quarters Hum as Workers Stir Up Votes

Their Efforts Are Studies in Efficiency and May Cause Surprise Tuesday

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

While their campaign headquarters hummed with activity, women workers for the Republican and Democratic candidates for governor predicted yesterday that the women's vote in Tuesday's primary will play a more important part than usual in determining the winners. The forecast of these workers is that the women's vote may even set a record for primary elections.

The unusual interest women are showing in this campaign is aroused largely through the efforts of the women's headquarters of the various candidates. All are organized almost identically. They are directed by a state chairman who in turn issues directions and suggestions to chairmen in counties, townships, wards and precincts. Their efforts in this primary are studies in efficiency.

Three in Same Hotel.

Brundage, Carlstrom, and Igoe headquarters are located in the Hotel La Salle. The Custer forces are in the Morrison, and the Horner backers occupy the mezzanine of the Hotel Sherman.

Mrs. Miriam Wile Sherman, as state chairman of women for Edward J. Brundage, has directed her organization with the capable assistance of Mrs. Harriet M. Robertson as Cook county and city chairman. Mrs. Brundage has made a few speeches on behalf of her husband and is a frequent visitor at headquarters, and Mrs. Leonard J. Brundage, a sister-in-law, never misses a day there, working in many capacities. Mrs. Fred Upham and Mrs. Samuel T. Chase also have been prominent in the ranks, the former speaking for the candidate.

Holds Series of Teas.

Mrs. Michael L. Igoe has been holding a series of teas for her husband's ward chairmen and speakers. She visits his headquarters now and then, and has made a brief speech or two. Mrs. Mabel Hanly, chairman of the Cook county women's division, is in active charge. Two of her stanchest assistants are Mrs. George Brennan and Mrs. William A. Sauer, both of whom have taken the stump. At the first meeting in the La Salle, it is claimed, 3,000 women supporters were present.

The same number is reported to have attended a tea given at the Morrison last week by the Custer adherents, which are headed by Dr. Hada M. Carlson of Moline. Mrs. Rose Holt is chairman in Cook county. Mrs. John Mason of Aurora and Mrs. William Edwin Lewis have been especially active at these headquarters. Mrs. Lewis has directed an extensive mailing campaign, especially among women's organizations.

Mrs. Custer has not taken an active part in the primary, though she came from Galesburg for the tea. A rally tea for Custer is slated today and tomorrow in every county in the state.

Judge Henry Horner's campaign has had the assistance of Mrs. Elizabeth A. Conkey, public welfare commission, as chief of the women's group. Mrs. Helen Hefferan, Miss Mary McInerney, Mrs. Glenn E. Plum, and Mrs. George V. McIntyre have made radio addresses, and Mrs. George Bass aided in organizing an independent women's organization for the regular Democratic ticket.

Permanent Organization.

Mrs. Lillian Schaefer Wright heads the newly organized women's auxiliary of the Illinois Young People's Democratic league, with Mrs. Helen Cermak Kenlay and Miss Anne McCarthy as co-chairmen. Their efforts are directed in the interests of the new voters and will be permanent.

Co-chairmen of the Oscar Carlstrom women's division are Mrs. Hallie Barton Smoot and Annie J. Hodge, who have delegated much of their work to the subdivisional leaders. The headquarters in the La Salle thus constitute a clearing house for the state, with the major part of the work done locally. Among their assistants are Mrs. Helen Hartaugh, Mrs. George A. Schwebel, Mrs. Ninian Welch, Mrs. George M. Kellogg Jr., and Mrs. Alfred O. Erickson. Mrs. Carlstrom, like Mrs. Custer, has not participated actively.

BAVARIA FORBIDS MOBILIZATION OF HITLER'S "ARMY"

Police Are Instructed to Enforce Decree.

MUNICH, Germany, April 7.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler's National Socialists (Fascists) and the authority of the Bavarian state came into direct conflict today when Ernst Roehm, commander of the Nazi storm troops, announced he would mobilize his Hitlerite battalions for the election next Sunday and the Bavarian government decreed that no such mobilization might be held.

Commander Roehm took full responsibility for issuing the mobilization order that went out to the "storm troops" on the occasion of the indecisive presidential election March 13. He said the order was issued with the knowledge of the ministry of the interior and that it would be repeated Sunday because Nazi troopers were needed to distribute campaign pamphlets.

Concentration is Forbidden.

When news of this decision reached the Bavarian ministry of interior an order was issued forbidding any concentration of political organizations from Saturday to Monday. Police were instructed to enforce the regulation vigilantly.

Charges that the Nazis had perfected a comprehensive system of espionage were denied by Commander Roehm, who asserted that some of the documents seized from Nazi headquarters by Prussian authorities in a series of raids shortly after the March election had been forged. The charges were based on documents confiscated in the raids.

"So far as these monstrous charges of treasonable activity are concerned, developments have shown they are absolutely groundless," said Commander Roehm. "I view the coming Supreme court proceedings against us with the utmost serenity."

The fact that 174,328 out of 37,658,036 German voters, or less than one-half of one per cent, failed on March 13 to coat their ballots for President Paul von Hindenburg made next Sunday's run-off election necessary.

Two of the candidates who ran in March have withdrawn from the race. These are Lieut. Col. Theodore Deusterberg, Nationalist, and Adolf Gustav Winter, revaluationist, who is doing a term in a Saxon jail. Their withdrawals left the field to Von Hindenburg, nonpartisan: Hitler, National Socialist, and Ernst Thaelman, communist. Von Hindenburg polled 18,654,690 on the first ballot against a total opposition of 19,003,346.

On the second ballot no absolute majority is necessary—a simple plurality decides the issue. Von Hindenburg's reëlection seems assured to many political observers.

Crown Prince's Candidacy Vetoed.

BERLIN, April 7.—(AP)—A story that the former kaiser had vetoed a plan whereby former Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm would have been the joint candidate for president of the Nationalists and Adolf Hitler's Nazis appeared in the Monarchist weekly Friedericus today.

Hitler's headquarters promptly denied the report, calling it a "palpable campaign lie," and a spokesman for the Hohenzollerns said the story was "doubtless untrue."

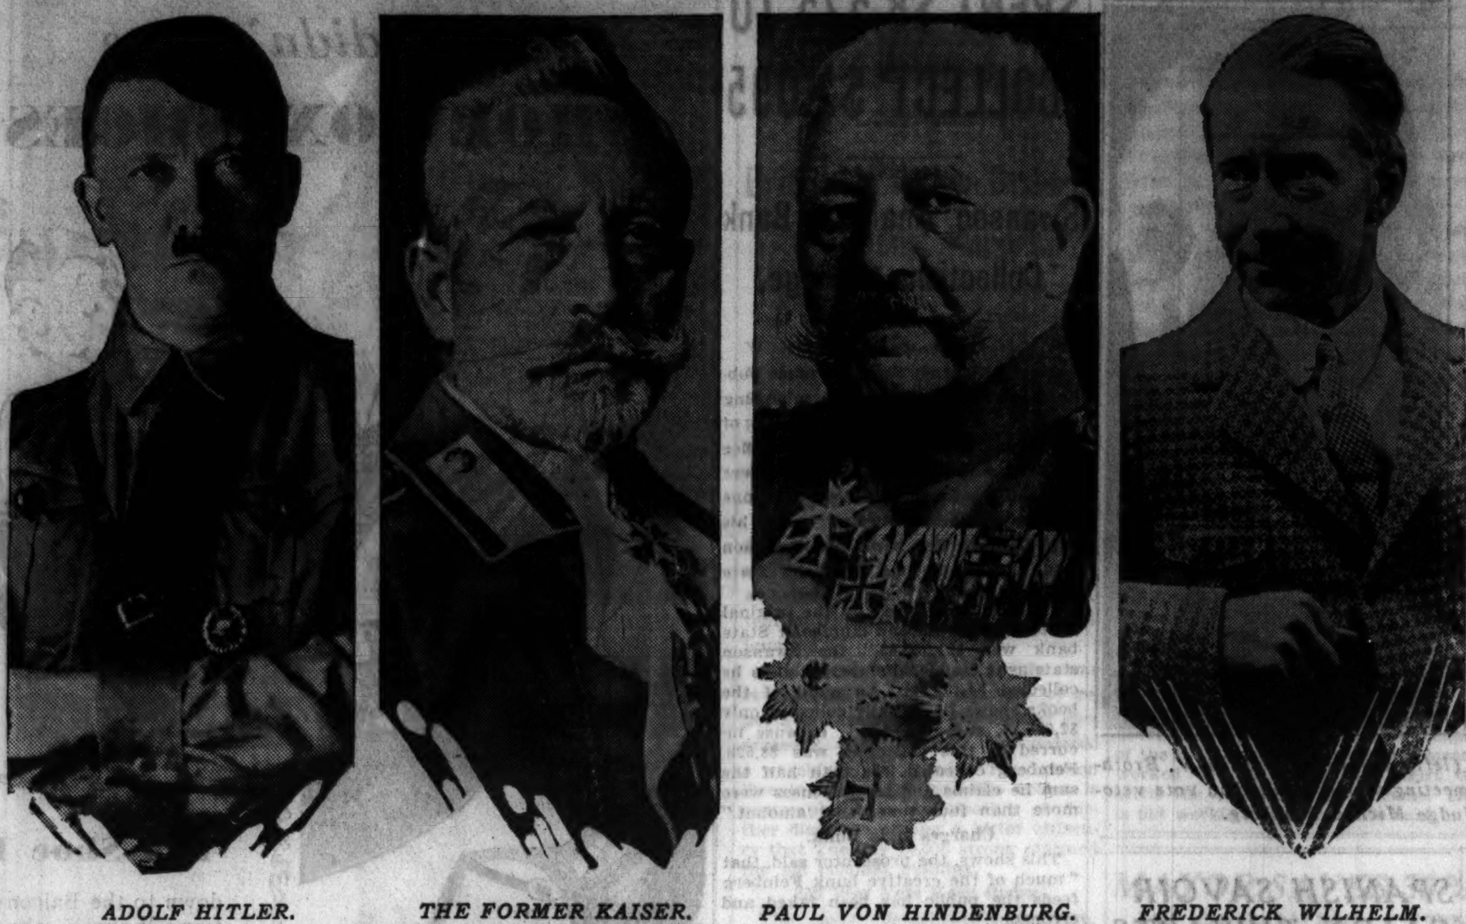
Friedericus said the two parties had tentatively agreed to launch the former crown prince as a candidate in the first election on March 13 at a conference at Oels. The royal politician had consented to run "if the nation called him" on condition that his father did not veto the idea under the laws of the house of Hohenzollern, the weekly said.

Hitler agreed to stand aside under those conditions, but an emissary was sent to Doorn, according to the weekly, to sound out the elder Hohenzollern. The envoy brought back word that the former kaiser refused to consent, whereupon the son dropped the idea.

AMUSEMENT PARK BURNS.

PORT STANLEY, Ont., April 7.—(AP)—Fire today swept Port Stanley's amusement park, causing damage estimated at $75,000.

Former Crown Prince Figures in German Election Dispute



ADOLF HITLER. THE FORMER KAISER. PAUL VON HINDENBURG. FREDERICK WILHELM.

Four principals in dispute hinging on German presidential election. It has been asserted and denied that the former kaiser halted plan to have former Crown Prince Wilhelm run for office as ally of Hitlerites. Hitler and President von Hindenburg will oppose each other again in coming final election.

EXPOSE KU KLUX CAMPAIGN WORK FOR LEN SMALL

His Deals with Klan Told in Diary.

That the main hope of Len Small for nomination for governor rests in the support of the Ku Klux Klan was revealed yesterday by a man who joined the organization to study its political activities. Small was indorsed by the klan at a meeting last Sunday in the Capitol building. Grand Dragon Gail S. Carter, who began rebuilding of the klan to support Small's candidacy, presided at the meeting.

A diary was kept by the volunteer klansman, who was sent by Dragon Carter to the headquarters of other candidates for governor to gather information. He told of the dismissal of one of Small's county leaders, a Catholic, who was replaced by one of the wearers of the robe and hood.

Tells of Washington Conference.

A conversation in Carter's office in the Tower building was related in the diary. In this conversation Carter told of a conference in Washington with a high official of the klan who decided to aid Small.

"I told him (Carter) I was going to devote my time until the primary in the interests of Len Small for governor," read an entry in the diary. "Carter offered to call Small over the telephone and talk to him for me, but he wouldn't give me a letter, saying he and Small never wrote each other letters but always used the telephone."

The volunteer klansman's activities in behalf of Small apparently were satisfactory, the diary indicated. He accompanied one of the chief organizers to various cities in the state and concerning this organizer he wrote in the diary:

"He told me that the klan had submitted a list for appointments to Small when he was elected before. In case of Small's election again they expect to submit a smaller and more select list for the important positions. He told me there would be a meeting Sunday, April 3, to indorse Small and he invited me to go with him."

Progress of Campaign Told.

The progress of the campaign is related in the diary. Under date of March 31 there is the following notation:

"Col. English [A. E. Inglesh, Small's son-in-law] called Carter and told him every county in the state was in good shape for Small excepting De Kalb, the home of the manager of one of the other candidates' campaign."

The story of the meeting of last Sunday is then told in the diary which said that 300 delegates from 100 cities were present and voted by cards on the indorsement of Small, which had been decided upon long in advance of the meeting, so that no announcement was made of the way the delegates voted.

The main reason for the meeting, it was explained, was to give notice to the members by word of mouth rather than in writing and all were told to spread the notice of the indorsement to the other members of the klan.

U. S. Envoy to Cuba Leaves for Paris; May Quit, Report

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, April 7.—United States Ambassador Harry F. Guggenheim left today for Paris via New York. He said he will also stop at Washington to confer with President Hoover. Reliable sources here assert that Guggenheim will resign his post.

NOTES OF THE CAMPAIGN

The number of men and women who are eligible to vote at the primary next Tuesday was counted yesterday by the board of election commissioners as 1,430,339. Clerks in the office spent the last three days erasing the names of 6,011 men and 3,544 women from the election registers as the result of a hearings on suspect notices filed with the board.

OPEN FIGHT OVER CASH PAYMENT OF VETS' BONUS

Washington, D. C., April 7.—[Special.]—Presaging a bitter fight in congress when the proposal is brought to the floor of the house early next week, advocates of full and immediate payment of veterans' adjusted service certificates today launched an extensive campaign for favorable action on the legislation.

At the same time President Hoover and Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, director of the veterans' administration conferred at the White House in an effort to discover a means of effectively combating the proposal to vote two billion dollars for the payment of the bonus certificates.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars announced today that they will present a petition signed by 2,500,000 veterans and citizens urging the payment of the certificates to the ways and means committee on the steps of the capitol tomorrow. A parade of veterans is to be staged preceding the presentation of the petition.

18 JUDGES TAKE PRIMARY INQUIRY FROM FEINBERG

He Defies Order to Give Up Special Jury.

of six judges—David Matchett, Hugo Friend, both sitting in the Appellate court; Daniel P. Trude, Philip J. Finnegan, David M. Brothers, and Thomas J. Lynch—four Republicans and two Democrats. The court has nine Democratic and eleven Republican judges.

The six judges petitioned Chief Justice William V. Brothers to call the meeting to consider transferring the activities of the special grand jury to the jurisdiction of Chief Justice Fisher, a Democrat.

Two Stormy Sessions Held.

The judges assembled during the noon hour. Heated words were heard from the chambers where they were giving consideration to the petition. Finally the meeting was recessed until evening. At that session roars and epithets were heard by listeners in the corridor.

Judge Feinberg read a paper addressed to "Fellow Judges of the Circuit Court." It began:

"The extraordinary spectacle presented by the assembling of you judges of the Circuit court to deal with a matter existing in the Criminal court, when the Criminal court and the chief justice of the Criminal court have failed to take any action in this matter, presents an unusual situation. If politics or other reasons did not influence your conduct you would not have raised this issue on the eve of the primary election."

Boos Greet His Speech.

This prelude was greeted with Bronx cheers and boos from the other judges. It was related that Judge Feinberg showed his resentment at this reception. A bit later, however, he resumed the presentation of his side of the controversy.

He said that Mr. Swanson had written to Attorney Hart, as the chairman of the bar association committee, making complaints about him and Klarkowski which, he said, Swanson, as state's attorney, could have investigated before a grand jury. He said Swanson not only imputed wrongdoing to him but to other judges of "our court."

Then Feinberg came to the petition for a special grand jury, signed by Richard Prendergast, the Crowe leader in the 42d ward. Prendergast accused an opponent of conspiracy with Capone gangsters and others who, Prendergast said, intended to commit fraud and violence in the coming primary. In recognizing the petition, Judge Feinberg said, he entered an order calling for a special grand jury and for his own prosecutor, and he directed that the jury start in on the investigation of himself and Judge Klarkowski. He went on:

"Having answered that appeal, I would be guilty of cowardice and recreant to every trust imposed upon me if I should desert the decent law-abiding citizens of this community at this time, and turn this investigation over to Chief Justice Harry M. Fisher whose record in the recent investigation of charges against judges failed so dismally."

Feinberg Bolts Meeting.

By that time the judges were ready for the vote. Soon Judge Feinberg bolted from the meeting room, refusing to talk to any one. He went to his own chambers, where he called Melzar P. Delano, chief clerk of the Criminal court, and directed that a clerk be assigned to him this morning. As a Circuit judge Feinberg is ex officio a judge of the Criminal court, but under court rules only acts in that capacity when assigned by the executive committee of the Circuit court.

During the day State's Attorney Swanson wrote the bar association asking the removal of Attorney Hart as chairman of the committee on receiverships and mortgage foreclosures in view of his acceptance of the appointment by Judge Feinberg. Charles P. Megan, president of the Bar association, issued a statement in reply to the effect that Hart had tendered his resignation as chairman of the committee and that the resignation was accepted at a meeting yesterday.

SPANISH SAVOIR FAIRE THWARTS A BLOND GUNGIRL

Mrs. Pearl Taylor French, 26 years old, 943 Irving Park boulevard, whose husband is a traveling salesman, decided early yesterday morning to go find her friend, Ramon Varges of 918 Buena avenue.

She donned a formal evening dress, a white hat, and satin slippers. Then she put a pistol in her handbag and started out to Varges' home. When she pulled out the pistol in front of the apartment of Ramon the neighbors were alarmed and called the police, fearing her aim might be bad.

Taken into custody, Mrs. French said last night that she really didn't remember very well, but it seemed to her that Ramon had come along and taken the pistol from her. Then, after taking out the cartridges, he gave her the unloaded weapon, made a deep Spanish bow, and jumped on a bus.

"I just wanted to scare Ramon a little," said the blond gungirl regretfully, "but he wouldn't scare."

Gloria Swanson and Mate Disappointed; Wanted Boy

LONDON, April 7.—(AP)—Gloria Swanson and her husband, Michael Farmer, wanted a boy instead of a girl, Farmer revealed today, and Gloria had planned to call the boy "Mike." They were "just a little bit disappointed," he said, when a girl was born the night before last.

SHOWS FEINBERG SPENT $8,525 TO COLLECT $2,095

Swanson Analyzes Bank Collections of Judge.

State's Attorney Swanson made public a statement yesterday charging that Judge Michael Feinberg, one of his Republican rivals for the office of state's attorney, had spent more than $8 for every $2 collected in one of the closed bank cases under his jurisdiction. The bank, Mr. Swanson said, was the Second Humboldt State bank.

"The amount owed by the original debtors of the Second Humboldt State bank was $21,905.63," the Swanson statement read. "Feinberg claims he collected $4,492.02. An audit of the books shows he actually collected only $2,095.77, and the total expense incurred in this collection was $8,525. Feinberg collected less than half the sum he claims and the expenses were more than four times that amount."

Charges It Is Bunk.

This shows, the prosecutor said, that "much of the creative bunk Feinberg feeds the public has been faked and erroneous."

Mr. Swanson's latest blast at his principal rival was released under the title, "How Judge Feinberg has misled the public into believing he has been one of their saviors in the bank case collection." Besides the Second Humboldt bank he gave figures of collections and expenses in other cases.

"In the First Humboldt State bank case," the statement continued, "debtors owed $153,325.91. Feinberg claims to have collected $67,061.54. The auditor's report shows the net amount to have been collected by Feinberg as $26,973.89 and the expenses of collection were $4,463.90. The receivers actually collected $40,087.65 without aid from Feinberg. In other words, Feinberg claimed for himself the amount of money the receivers collected without any aid on his part.

Collected Only $675.

"Consider the Central Oak Park State bank case. Debtors owed $44,385.13. Feinberg claims he collected $3,930.06, whereas the actual amount collected, according to the auditor's report, was $675. The receiver collected, without aid from Feinberg, $3,255.06, and we have another example of the judge taking credit for another's work.

"In the Second Northwestern State bank case debtors owed $362,601.68. The auditors' report shows Feinberg did not collect a cent.

"In the Sheridan Trust and Savings bank case the original debtors owed $1,483,461.09. Feinberg claims he collected $143,010.39. The actual amount collected by Feinberg was $58,994.57."

ANOTHER CAPONE GANGSTER BEGINS U. S. PRISON TERM

Jack Guzik Says Farewell to City for Five Years.

Jack Guzik, one time business manager of the Capone syndicate of booze and vice, bid Chicago a long farewell last night. The government had convicted him of income tax fraud and he boarded a train at 9:05 p. m. to go to Leavenworth prison, there to pass five years and a day for his crime.

In the Dearborn station, a minute and a half before he left, Guizk made his last statement.

"I ain't got nothing to say," he said. "You guys always misquote me, anyhow. But I got no axes to grind and I'm on my way."

Surrendered at 5 P. M.

He had surrendered to the government at 5 p. m. in United States Marshal Laubenheimer's office. Meeting him there were a special agent of the intelligence unit, who served him with a lien against all his property, and a deputy sheriff of Cook county, also with a legal notice. The government seeks to levy on his property for the alleged $832,000 he owes in the withheld taxes. The deputy sheriff's notice was to the effect that a cigar store owner was suing the departing Capone adherent for $600 worth of cigars not yet paid for.

Goes in Drawing Room.

Had he wished, Guzik might have waited until today and gone to Leavenworth with the usual Friday shipment of prisoners, at government expense. To insure privacy, he agreed to pay his own fare and that of two deputy marshals, William Thompson and Alex Gobel. They rode in a drawing room.

From 5 p. m. until train time Guzik, accompanied by the deputy marshals, conferred with his attorney, William Waugh, and visited his family in his south side home. There a farewell dinner was attended by the Guzik family, including a little grandchild, and the marshals. Also present was a brother, Sam Guzik, also a member of the Capone organization. Sam returned from Leavenworth only last Saturday, having finished his one year term for tax dodging.

Never Carried Pistol.

Jack Guzik was said by his acquaintances to be the least gangsterlike of the Capone mob. He never carried a pistol, spoke softly and managed business affairs. He alone of the syndicate ever paid any income tax, and he has steadily maintained that he paid on all he earned. However, the government proved in his trial that large sums were unaccounted for.

Gene G. Oliver, former county assessor, who was also convicted of tax dodging, will go to Leavenworth today with other prisoners. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $5,000 and serve eighteen months behind bars. Guzik has paid his $17,500 fine.

Nothing to Say

Former Congressman Albert G. Simms of New Mexico and his bride, the former Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, arrived in Chicago yesterday on the Rocky Mountain Limited of the Rock Island railway from Colorado Springs, Colo., where they were married on March 9, in her home there.

"We have nothing to say," Mrs. Simms declared as she stepped off the train in the La Salle street station, wearing a tweed sports coat trimmed with fur and a small plain brown felt hat. She refused to pose for photographs and walked rapidly down the platform.

Mr. Simms, who had difficulty in keeping pace with his wife, smiled amiably when he was asked where they were going. "I'm going to follow her, wherever she's going," he said.

NEWFOUNDLAND PREMIER DEFIES MOB; WON'T QUIT

British Warship Ordered to Scene, Report.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., April 7.—(AP)—With a defiant refusal to resign, Prime Minister Sir Richard Squires today appraised Newfoundland's embroiled populace, a part of which threatened to cast him into the harbor Tuesday night, but refrained from outlining his government's future policy.

The prime minister, back at his desk after a sudden return to the city from a 24 hour absence last night, asserted he has "absolutely no intention whatever of tendering my resignation."

The government meanwhile was represented as being unaware of reports in London that the mother government, Great Britain, has ordered a warship to St. John's. The London Evening Standard said the action is contemplated in anticipation of further disorders among a bitter citizenry that Tuesday 10,000 strong stormed the old colonial building.

850 War Vets Keep Order.

The mob demolished furniture, tossed government documents in the street, and threatened to throw Sir Richard into the harbor before he was able to flee to the protective arms of clergymen and police. He returned last night as a force of 850 special officers, recruited largely among war veterans, discouraged further disorders.

The augmented police force still controlled the situation today.

Sir Richard declined to offer his resignation, despite the advice of his ministers. Political circles forecast he will ask parliament to dissolve and order a dominion election.

Will Name Royal Inquiry Body.

Sir John Middleton, the king's governor, announced a royal commission would be appointed to inquire into "certain occurrences at the Colonial building." Among these is expected to be the charge of Peter Cashin, Sir Richard's resigned minister of finance and customs, that Sir Richard falsified minutes of the council to divert moneys to political purposes.

A massmeeting's deputation to lay similar charges before the house of assembly brought about the first and most serious riot, during which both Sir Richard and his wife, Lady Helena, were injured slightly.

JUDGE ORDERS ACTOR TO PAY TEMPORARY ALIMONY TO HIS WIFE

William [Billy] Glason, vaudeville comedian, was ordered yesterday by Superior Judge Harry B. Miller to pay $50 a week temporary alimony to Mrs. Helen M. Glason of the Monterey hotel, 4300 Clarendon avenue.

Glason is seeking a divorce on charges of adultery. He also has pending a suit for $100,000, charging alienation of affections, against Albert Bollak, a furrier, who is named as co-respondent in the divorce bill. Mrs. Glason has a bill for separate maintenance pending in the Circuit court.

She charged before Judge Miller yesterday that her husband receives $750 a week for his stage and radio work. Pressed by Glason's attorney for the source of her information, she retorted. "It doesn't make any difference where I got it."

Judge Miller leaned over the bench and pointed an admonitory finger at her.

"Madam," he said, "It doesn't make any difference how you behave outside my courtroom, but you must be a lady here. Answer that question."

It was agreed finally to continue the hearing until April 22, when the books of the theater chains for whom Glason worked will be taken into court to settle the question of his income. He is not working at present, he said.

MAYOR SAVES 30% IN RUNNING CITY DURING MARCH

Mayor Cermak saved 30 per cent of the cost of operating the city government in March as compared with the costs for March 1931, the last full month under the old city hall administration, he announced yesterday.

In March a year ago the city paid out $5,150,949 in salaries and bills. In the month just closed the city's expenses were $3,615,935, a reduction of $1,535,014 below the 1931 figure.

Payment of city employés for the last half of February was started yesterday as a result of the purchase by loop banks of $2,000,000 worth of 1930 corporate fund tax warrants. To add to this the city had $1,000,000 in its corporate fund, and the school board has just received $1,500,000 out of the state distributive school fund. School employés will be paid today.

U. S. TAXES ON ESTATE EXCEED PRESENT VALUE

Chicago Heirs Owe All and $1,300,000 More.

regulations the estate tax, while based on values existing at time of decedent's death, is not due for collection until a year hence and unusually not collected before eighteen months. The result has been that in numerous instances, estates are asked to pay in effect far more than the maximum 20 per cent fixed by law. The investigation conducted by the committee showed that 30,000 estates would be affected if congress passed a law bringing relief to estates which paid into the treasury sums greater than they would have if the tax had been based on the value of securities as of the day the tax was paid.

Perhaps as much as $30,000,000 or $40,000,000 would be refunded to heirs.

An amendment which has passed the house and is now before the senate allows executors of estates, where decedents died on or after Sept. 1, 1928, to have the gross value of the net estate computed upon values eighteen months after the decedent's death. It stipulates, however, that regardless of the injustice done the heirs, the reductions in federal estate taxes over the amount fixed by the government in the first place shall not be greater than 40 per cent.

Discussing this amendment in the house, Representative Charles R. Crisp, acting chairman of the ways and means committee, told how he had called upon the treasury to give him the number of estates which would be involved if the retroactive features of the amendment were approved.

30,000 Estates Affected.

"I was advised," he said, "that they found, to their astonishment, it would affect 30,000 cases, and involve refunds of $30,000,000 and a further loss of $10,000,000 in the estates that have not yet been settled."

Treasury officials thus far have no made public the circumstances surrounding any of the 30,000 cases mentioned above. The Winston group of attorneys did, however, call the attention of congress to a number of estates which had been destroyed or riddled by payment of federal estate taxes.

"Unforseen and crushing hardships under the federal estate tax statute confront the estates of decedents who the interval between death and date for payment of the taxes has been so rapid and so devastating as to wipe out a substantial part of their estates.

Greater Tax than Intended.

"In most cases estates were worth on the date on which the tax was payable but a small portion of their former value. In every instance, the effect is the imposition of a tax far in excess of that proportion of the estate which congress intended the government to take.

"The estate tax is founded on the theory of carving out in kind of a died within the last three years," the group of attorneys said. "The statute provides that the assets of a decedent's estate shall be valued at the time of death and the tax based on those values. But the tax is not due until on year after death and, owing to the delays ordinarily incident to the administration of estates, the tax usually is not paid until eighteen months after death. In the case of persons who have died during the past three years, the deflation occurring in certain portion of each estate to be delivered to the government as an excise upon the privilege of transfer from the dead to the living. If we could pay in kind we would merely deliver to the government the percentage specified by congress of the assets of the estate. If an estate owned a million bushels of wheat and the applicable rate was 20 per cent, we would pay, 200,000 bushels as our tax. But we are required to convert depreciated assets into cash in order to pay a tax based not on the depreciated values, but upon the inflated values existing for only a brief period.

"To collect from the estate of a man who died in 1929 a 20 per cent tax on his wheat at its then selling price of $1.50 a bushel, when the same wheat is still on hand and now selling for 50 cents a bushel, is to take three-fifths of this wheat as a tax, instead of one-fifth as originally intended by congress."

INCOME TAXES OF AUSTRALIA STATE ORDERED SEIZED

MELBOURNE, Australia, April 7.—(AP)—Seizure of the New South Wales income tax in the name of the commonwealth was authorized today by the commonwealth government as a result of the state's default on foreign debt payments. The action was taken under the financial agreement act which was affirmed by the high court yesterday. Under this act responsibility for foreign obligations of the states is accepted by the commonwealth.

STRIKERS WILL PICKET COUNTY HOSPITAL TODAY

The county hospital will be picketed today by striking attendants of the psychopathic hospital. An attempt will be made to induce all union employés to strike, which would cripple the service and endanger the lives of thousands of patients.

This decision was reached last night at a meeting of the strikers at 630 South Ashland avenue after they had been harangued by Emmett T. Flood, formerly an organizer of the American Federation of Labor. In fiery terms Flood urged the strikers not to return to their jobs.

Nurses from the county hospital were transferred to the psychopathic hospital yesterday after 42 attendants and orderlies had walked out. The strike was called as a protest against the dismissal of 27 fellow employés in accordance with the county board's economy budget. Seven regular attendants remained, and these, aided by the nurses, cared for the 120 mentally afflicted patients, 27 of whom are violent.

The strikers will parade in front of the county hospital today to urge other employés to strike in sympathy. Directors of the Cook county school of nursing refused to deal with the strikers. They declared that if the employés do not return to their jobs by Saturday they will not be taken back.

TAXPAYERS OF 20 STATES UNITE IN ECONOMY DRIVE

Representatives of taxpayers' associations in twenty states gathered at the Palmer house yesterday to form a national council, representing all the states, with the announced purpose of obtaining a large reduction in the expenditures of all taxing bodies.

"Our purpose can be summed up," A. C. Rees of Salt Lake City said, "as an intensive investigation of all public activities in regard to their necessity and efficiency. We hope to give the taxpayers a voice in the various legislatures, with the national council serving in an advisory capacity."

The following committee with Rees as chairman was appointed to formulate a program: Harry Miesse, Indiana Taxpayers' association; A. R. Everson, New Jersey association; H. J. Miller, Minnesota association, and I. H. Light, the Illinois association. After the committee acts another meeting of the general body will be called.

At present attention will be paid to boards of education, Rees said. The school program, sponsored by the Western States Taxpayers' association, originated by Rees, consists of three steps:

1. The provision for a full day of classes for students.

2. An adequate curriculum with all frills and nonessentials eliminated.

3. Keeping the school expenses within the ability of the community to pay.

"This program is directly opposite to that of most school boards," Rees said. "It has been the practice to fill the curriculum with all kinds of fancy classes and then make the taxpayer meet the bill."

Systems of taxation were not discussed yesterday, it being the consensus of the economists that lower tax rates will of necessity follow a reduction in expenditures. Attention was directed to city, county, and state finances, due to the lack of a comprehensive federal program.

"We must reduce all governmental expenditures, especially federal," Rees said.

JUDGE WRITES SENATE ABOUT AL CAPONE CASE

Wilkerson Says Gangster Opposed Hearing.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 7.—[Special.]—Judge James H. Wilkerson of Chicago today sent the senate judiciary subcommittee considering confirmation of his appointment to the Circuit court, a letter explaining that he had rejected the Al Capone prosecution-defense agreement of a two and a half year sentence on a plea of guilty to income tax evasion because Capone wanted such agreement to preclude the idea of a hearing.

In the letter received today by Senator Borah [Radical Rep., Idaho], subcommittee chairman, the Chicago judge, who later sentenced the gangster to eleven years, asserted that he had broken faith with no one in the conduct of trial.

Not Bound, He Tells Them.

He declared that, when told of the agreement, he had informed both sides that he would give the recommendations of the justice and treasury departments due consideration, but that he would not be bound in any way, or would he waive a hearing. Capone's attorneys objected; the gangster was permitted to change his plea, was found guilty and sentenced.

The letter is the last document among the many filed in the hearings which have now closed. The subcommittee, consisting of Chairman Borah and Senators Robinson [Rep., Ind.], Blaine [Radical Rep., Wis.], Walsh [Dem., Mont.], and Dill [Dem., Wash.], is expected to meet tomorrow and will shortly make its report to the full committee of which Senator Norris [Radical Rep., Neb.] is chairman.

Text of His Letter.

The Wilkerson letter is as follows:

"I have gone over the records in the cases in this district against Alphonso Capone and have asked the clerk to send to your committee those documents which relate to the matter about which you inquire. A list of those documents is enclosed herewith.

"The plans which you mention were entered. without reservation, on June 16, 1931. The cases were continued until June 29 and again to July 30. When the cases were called for hearing on July 30 there was a sharp disagreement between the attorneys for the government and those for the defense as to the conditions under which the pleas had been entered. The prosecution, before the entry of the pleas, had received permission from the court to offer a recommendation as to punishment. The recommendation was understood to be subject to such action as would be taken after a hearing of the facts in open court.

Continued to Hear Facts.

"Defendant's attorneys were not present when the permission was given to the government to make the recommendation, but on June 29 the court stated that the case was continued in order that the court might hear the facts for the purpose of arriving at a conclusion as to the penalty to be imposed.

"The attorneys for the government were ready on July 30 to proceed with a presentation of the facts, as is usual when the court is imposing sentence, either with or without a recommendation from the prosecutor. The attorneys for the defendant claimed to have an agreement with the government to the effect that their pleas were not to stand unless the recommendation was unqualifiedly followed by the court, that evidence was not to be heard by the court and that the defendant was not to be questioned by the court.

"The attorneys for the government denied that they had made such an agreement. After some discussion, the court, exercising its discretion in defendant's favor, allowed the pleas to be withdrawn.

Action to Depend on Record.

"The pleas of guilty were not rejected by the court nor was the government's recommendation disregarded. The court stated that it would give to the recommendations of the department of justice and the treasury the weight to which they were undoubtedly entitled. There was no criticism of the acts of the officers of the government in offering a recommendation in a criminal case. It was pointed out to the defendant's counsel that they must understand that, after the recommendations and the evidence had been heard, the court would dispose of the case upon the record then before it. The government was ready to proceed with the hearing. The defendant insisted upon an agreement under which the hearings would have been without purpose.

"The hearing did not reach the point where the court was required to decide whether or not it would adopt the government's suggestion. Defendant was allowed to plead not guilty and afterwards to withdraw that plea and be heard upon a demurrer to the indictment.

No Agreement, He Avers.

"The defendant never had an agreement with the court as to the sentence to be imposed. He objected to proceeding with the hearing to determine what action would be taken on the government's recommendation and never claimed that there was anything connected with the plea of guilty or their withdrawal which precluded the court from imposing the sentence which was imposed after the trial.

"Very respectfully,

"JAMES H. WILKERSON."

FOUND SLAIN; SUSPECTED SUICIDE.

Charles Brown, 60 years old, was found shot to death in his room at 802 West Madison street yesterday. Police believe he committed suicide.

GUNMEN SPRAY ACID ON CLOTHES IN FACTORY RAID

Two gunmen yesterday invaded the workshop of the Modern Clothing Manufacturing company, Inc., 2611 Indiana avenue, and, after forcing thirty employés to lie on the floor, destroyed clothing valued at $4,000 by spraying it with acid. Miss Barbara Kablet 3016 South Homan avenue, and Bertha Young, colored, 3624 Giles avenue, were slightly burned by the acid when some of it fell on them as they lay on the floor.

Abraham Rickover, 1455 South Hamlin avenue, the manager, told the police he knew of no motive for the attack. He has operated an open shop for the last ten years, he said, but has not had trouble or threats of any kind.

HOOVER TO HELP DEMOCRATS IN ECONOMY DRIVE

Calls White House Parley for Tomorrow.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 7.—[Special.]—President Hoover and the Democratic leaders of the house agreed today to meet and endeavor to work out a nonpartisan program of drastic curtailment of federal activities and expenditures.

JOHN McDUFFIE.

As a result of an exchange of letters, the President will receive the special economy committee of the house at the White House Saturday afternoon.

In response to an invitation by Chairman John McDuffie [Dem., Ala.] of the economy committee to submit specific recommendations of great economies possible through reorganization, the President asked the committee to meet him. He said it is his understanding that representatives of the executive henceforth "will sit in and coöperate with your committee."

Urge Senate Coöperation, Too.

Mr. Hoover added that he would continue to urge the creation of a similar committee by the senate.

Chairman McDuffie accepted the invitation on behalf of the committee in a letter in which he said that body "is very glad to have constructive and specific suggestions from any source and especially do we welcome your willingness to coöperate with us."

According to the White House, the President is prepared to lay before the committee far reaching proposals for the abolition of federal activities and the consolidation of remaining bureaus, boards and commissions the net result of which would be a saving of several hundred million dollars.

Calls in Cabinet Members.

The President, it was stated, had called on every member of the cabinet to submit suggestions of extraordinary economies that might be effected in his department by curtailment of activities and by various reorganizations

Whatever the ultimate results the developments culminating in the arrangements for the White House conference signalize an awakening by both the administration and congress to the popular demand for a scale of retrenchment.

When congress met in December the President was not sufficiently impressed with the necessity of drastic economies to incorporate in his annual message the proposals he has since made. Nor did the Democratic house awake to the situation until February when the economy committee was created. Then Mr. Hoover forged to the fore to claim a share of the limelight as an economy champion. It transpires that Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson has suggested to the senate appropriations committee the temporary closing of a number of embassies, legations, and consulates in the interest of economy. This was in response to a request by the committee that he suggest a feasible 10 per cent cut in the state department appropriation in accord with the mandate of the senate.

Wilbur Suggests Cuts.

Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur submitted specific recommendations of cuts aggregating $5,000,000 in the interior department bill, mostly in the Indian affairs bureau. Two millions of the cuts were in construction of national park roads. He suggested abolition of the public land offices, which now are chiefly political sinecures, but withheld the ax from the $8,000,000 voted by the house for Boulder Dam. The committee rejected 95 per cent of his proposals.

In response to the request of the committee to suggest a $5,000,000 cut in the department of justice appropriation Attorney General Mitchell protested that it would entail "something in the nature of a moratorium in law enforcement," particularly of the 18th amendment.

Secretary of Commerce Robert P Lamont, called on for a 10 per cent cut, complied but protested that it would greatly hamper the service. Secretary of Labor Doak cried out against any further cut in his department which would involve reducing services and discharging employés.

Would Force 40,000 Out of Jobs.

Secretary of the Treasury Mills being called on for a cut of $25,000,000 suggested that it be taken out of the $48,000,000 available for new public buildings next year.

Postmaster General Brown wrote the senate committee that if its demand for an $80,000,000 reduction of postoffice department expenditures were complied with it would be necessary to reduce salaries and to discharge in addition between 30,000 and 40,000 employés.

The net result of the consideration of the dependent offices appropriation bill in the house today was the elimination of an item of $840,000 for additional work on the recently completed Arlington Memorial bridge and $39,370 for civil service examinations.

Chicago Business Men Indorse Secretary Mills' Tax Warning

Tell Congress Taxpayers Must Be Given Relief

Representative Chicagoans yesterday were unanimous in their praise of the talk made at Washington by Ogden L. Mills, secretary of the treasury, before the senate finance committee with respect to the new revenue bill by which it is hoped to raise more than a billion dollars of additional revenue.

These Chicagoans joined with Secretary Mills in warning of the serious consequences facing the country unless the taxpayers get some relief from the burden they are carrying. Statements follow:

Noble B. Judah, prominent attorney and former ambassador to Cuba: "Secretary Mills voices what every man actively engaged in business in the country thinks. To place these new and additional levies on top of our already overwhelming tax burden will penalize business operations to such an extent that our economic recovery will be a matter of many years. Unfortunately, under the present development of our system of government, a large majority of our national lawmakers depend on politics for a living and they have had no experience or connection with industrial affairs.

Business Men Must Act.

"There is nothing miraculous about our form of government that is going to make it endure forever if we let it remain in the hands of incapable lawmakers. It is time for business men to take a hand in politics and make their influence felt in local and national politics. If not and if we continue to tax business out of existence our republic may easily vanish."

George W. Rossetter, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce: "Unless congress acts favorably and definitely to the sane and timely warning of Secretary Mills, the United States and the so-called American standard of living, which members of congress delight in referring to, must go down in a crash that will retard all further American economic progress for generations.

Reward for Energy.

"Prosperity as we have known it in this country has been predicated on our respect for personal property and our willingness to reward reasonably personal initiative and energy. Destroy capital, as some of our radical tax spenders at Washington and elsewhere now propose, and we must descend either into a state of communism or a state of ruin from which no wage earner's pay envelope will be exempt."

J. M. Nichols, president of the First National Bank of Englewood: "I am heartily in accord with Secretary Mills' ideas. They are a straightforward expression of common sense. Today we are facing the gravest situation since the civil war. Again we are a nation divided against itself, this time with capital, labor and politics at one another's throats.

"If politics would mind its own business capital and labor would straighten out their affairs and better times would be close at hand. Common sense demands that government expenditures be reduced to a point within our ability to pay taxes and at the same time prosper."

George M. Reynolds, chairman of the executive committee of Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company: "The straightforward statement by Secretary Mills was of particular interest to me in that he emphasized the indirect, as well as the direct, effects of unwise taxes on business and the necessity of considering the total tax burden instead of dealing with local, state and federal taxes as if they were unrelated."

Albert H. Wetten, one of Chicago's most prominent real estate men: "I am wholly in accord with the sentiments expressed by Mr. Mills. I believe that prosperity would be delayed five years by the proposed house revenue bill or any measure approximating it. The bill, as I see it, is confiscatory and would certainly tend to discourage investment by capital.

"When capital becomes inactive, labor suffers. When the incentive for investment is removed, enterprises stop and labor is thrown out of work. They don't seem to be able to understand the situation down in Washington."

Frederick H. Scott, vice president of Carson Pirie Scott & Co.: "I am in accord with Mr. Mills' remarks. They seem to be very much to the point and theoretically and practically sound on both tax measures and governmental expenses."

MILWAUKEE'S TRADE LEADERS BACK MILLS' WARNING ON TAXES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., April 7.—[Special.]—Fred Pabst, president of the Pabst corporation, in discussing Secretary of the Treasury Mills' warning to the senate finance committee that "it is better to go the whole road than acquire socialism by indirection," declared the pendulum probably will swing to the extreme—socialism—if industry is to be taxed so that there is little incentive to continue in business.

"The tendency to socialism in these times is great. It probably would not take a great deal to bring about socialism. However, the weakness of socialism will be realized when business becomes discouraged and refrains from expanding under the system."

Mr. Pabst remarked that the government budget could be readily balanced by the repeal of the Volstead act.

Max W. Babb, vice president of the Allis Chalmers Manufacturing company, said: "Secretary Mills' argument before the senate finance committee conveys a message and warning which deserves serious consideration on the part of those interested in the country's welfare."

Grover C. Wayland, president of the American Bank and Trust company, Racine, Wis., and former president of the Massey Harris company, manufacturers, said:

"So long as a small percentage of our population pays the initial cost of government the average politician will cater to the mass vote, which pays little or no tax. This, in the long run, means decaying industry and further unemployment, nor will the expected taxes be raised, because the incomes will not have been realized."

HOPE OF SALES TAX REVIVAL IN SENATE FADES

Democrats Sure House Won't Reverse Stand.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 7.—[Special.]—In the belief that the house of representatives cannot be made to change its mind, senate Democrats today virtually abandoned any idea of including the restoration of the sales tax as part of their program with respect to the pending billion dollar revenue bill.

Announcement of the Democrats' decision was made by Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, minority leader, following a party caucus in which minority opinions of the tax bill were aired and consolidated.

"There was no proposal in the conference to revert to the subject of a general sales tax, the action of the house on the subject apparently being regarded as conclusive," was the way Senator Robinson phrased it.

Give Easy Senate Victory.

Since the radical Republicans are diametrically opposed to the sales tax and since their union with the Democrats would establish an easy senate majority, today's action—or lack of action—by the Democratic conference means the erection of a definite barrier against any effort to put the sales tax back into the bill

Two other major topics came up for discussion at the conference. The Democratic senators did not approve the inclusion of the import taxes on oil, gasoline, and coal in the revenue bill and decided that proposals affecting the tariff ought to be dealt with separately.

And they heard Senator Tom Connally [Dem., Tex.] announce that he intended to propose amendments to the tax bill which would create new surtax brackets, to apply to net income above $100,000 and to surpass in rate the 40 per cent now proposed to be levied on all net incomes above that amount.

Senator Robinson's announcement following the caucus and statements issued by Senator Reed Smoot [Rep., Utah] and Senator Pat Harrison [Dem., Miss.], respectively chairman and ranking minority member of the senate finance committee, contained a common theme, which was that the tax bill will be pushed through as speedily as possible.

Senator Smoot spoke of delay meaning business uncertainty; Senator Harrison had no doubt that differences of opinion would be reconciled and a bill passed which would balance the budget and preserve confidence in government credit.

Urges Federal Salary Cuts.

The senate finance committee continued its hearings on the bill by listening to M. L. Seidman of the New York board of trade support in general the treasury program advocated by Secretary Mills and Benjamin C. Marsh of the radical people's lobby argue for a program and an economic theory quite the opposite of those proclaimed by the secretary of the treasury at yesterday's hearing.

The committee heard Mr. Seidman urge a curtailment of government expenditure which would include a 20 per cent reduction in federal salaries. Mr. Seidman heard Senator Couzens [Rep., Mich.] reply to this that salary cuts were "not going to happen."

The witness hoped the senate would revoke the house's repeal of the net loss provisions, would restore the exemption of dividends from the normal tax, and would reduce the state tax maximum to 25 per cent.

Mr. Marsh, who termed the sales tax "a coward's method to soak the helpless," who foresaw a capital levy as the only way out of eventual catastrophe, who challenged congress to show enough courage "through this revenue to redistribute the national income to prevent a collapse," was by way of being a contrast both to the preceding witness and to Secretary Mills.

Incomes must be taxed higher than ever before in history, he declared.

FOREST DISTRICT BUYING LAND IN FACE OF DEFAULT

But Its Purchases Are Slowing, Inquiry Shows.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The county commissioners, who have defaulted on about $1,000,000 of forest preserve bonds and have not paid the forest employés since Dec. 15, are still continuing to purchase real estate for the preserves. The buying has slowed down and will stop altogether within a short time.

Since Jan. 1 ten or twelve parcels have been purchased at a cost in excess of $300,000. These properties have been paid for in bonds of the forest preserve district at par. Condemnation proceedings have been heard and judgments given on ten other properties for a total of $98,270. On a few the owners are willing to take bonds and on the remainder the county is not compelled to pay for some time, according to the decrees entered by the courts.

County Default Is Recalled.

The county commissioners are ex officio commissioners of the forest preserve district which is co-extensive with the county. The overwhelming majority are Democrats.

The commissioners defaulted on more than $1,500,000 of county bonds last June. Subsequently they squared the account by paying part of the bonds in cash and refunding the remainder, but as a result of the default the county bonds are on the federal government's blacklist for 10 years as an investment for postal savings. Also the commissioners have passed a county budget so large that they have found no way to finance it.

Some of the commissioners assert that it is good public policy to continue to buy real estate for forest preserves. During 1931 they bought and paid for in cash 410.45 acres of land. This cost $814,599. Some of these transactions had been pending for a long time, but they were completed last year when the forest preserve district began defaulting on its bonds.

Prepare for More Buying.

In addition the commissioners had 182 ordinances prepared for the purchase of other property. Of the 182 prospective purchases, the commissioners decided to condemn 136 and had ordinances authorizing the condemnations prepared. These cases are not to be pushed at present.

The forest preserve district is one of the few local governments which has no tax anticipation warrants outstanding. Two reasons are advanced for this. One is that the district has been well managed and the other is that the commissioners have power to levy more taxes than they need. It is estimated that the district has about $6,000,000 coming in back taxes.

There is no specific requirement in the statutes that the county commissioners, as trustees of the forest preserves, shall pass a budget by a definite date. The commissioners have not passed a forest preserve budget for 1932, and therefore have made no formal statement of what the district intends to spend this year.

Summer Plan Outlined.

But apparently it is going to do some spending. A news bulletin from the forest preserve headquarters yesterday said the district's engineers "this summer will maintain a scientific vigil on the Sauk Trail lake to ascertain the cause of what is believed to be excessive receding of the water." This is an artificial lake of 38 acres created about three years ago when 26th street in Chicago Heights was paved.

The bulletin says the lake lost 887,200 gallons of water daily during seven hot days of last summer. It goes on: "To maintain the lake at its normal level, present indications would suggest the use of deep wells and pumps. Such wells and pumps will cost approximately $10,000. When the summer's experimental period is completed, subsequent development will be contingent upon the tax situation."

Later in the bulletin it is said that "solution of the problem will be of necessity the cause for the expenditure of money."

Husband, 73, Files Bill to Annul His Marriage

Thomas F. McLaughlin, 73 years old, filed a bill in the Superior court yesterday to annul his marriage to Mrs. Margaret Cantwell McLaughlin, 56 years old, and at the same time obtain an injunction from Judge Harry B. Miller barring his wife from his home at 6643 South Hermitage avenue. McLaughlin's first wife died a year ago. In December Mrs. Cantwell was employed as a housekeeper for him and two of his sons. The bill charges that after a month she persuaded him to marry her, telling him that she was seven years younger than she really was, and that she owned $40,000 worth of real estate. McLaughlin is a pensioner of Swift & Co.

CAPTAIN TELLS WHALE OF STORY; IT RAINS WHALES

Boston, Mass., April 7.—[Special.]—The wind blew a hundred miles an hour! It rained a hundred whales! More than a hundred icebergs were sighted! So say the officers and crew of the Hamburg-American line freighter, Hagen, which arrived here today after the stormiest Atlantic crossing in memory. Two baby elephants and 13 monkeys were part of its cargo.

The trouble started, according to Capt. Karl Windhorst, on Good Friday when the storm broke and reached a peak three days later when one of the 14 Javanese monkeys died, leaving a remainder of 13 and a bad taste in the superstitious minds of the crew.

That afternoon the wind rose to hurricane force and things happened in earnest. Two life boats were stove in, cabin doors were splintered and part of the top rail carried away. Then just before dusk two giant combers rose out of the murk, and the rain of whales began.

Presumably the school was caught up by the two huge waves, which met in a thunder of foam on the forecastle head, for the officers declared that at least a hundred whales plopped into the sea on both sides of the ship, some even bumped down the steamer's steel sides.

That's their story and they stick to it.

WEST PARK HUNT FOR PRE-PRIMARY WAGE CASH FAILS

Banks Refuse Tax Paper; Other Governments Pay.

Officials of the west park board have made frantic but futile efforts in the last few days to sell tax warrants to banks, so that they might sweeten the dispositions of their unpaid payrollers before the primary, it was learned yesterday.

The park patronage is controlled by Gov. Emmerson, and is being used to back Omer N. Custer for governor. But the payrollers have had no cash since last July and their ward leaders fear they will do little more than go through the motions of electioneering for Custer unless they get some money. The situation has been aggravated in recent weeks by the fact that all of the other local governments have met back pay rolls through warrant sales to banks.

According to one report, President W. R. James and other park officials even got Gov. Emmerson to plead with the banks for them, but in vain. The committee of loop bank officials which passes on tax warrant purchases met the west parks' plea with a request for certain information about the board's finances. Whether the information was furnished was not learned, but if it was, it apparently did not disclose a credit standing high enough to warrant any advance of funds.

Defaults on Bond Payments.

The west park board defaulted on a bond and interest payment last Nov. 1, and has had several defaults since. The state administration was successful in pushing a bill through the special legislative session authorizing the board to issue $4,000,000 worth of bonds without a referendum and to use the proceeds for current expenses, but no buyers have appeared for the bonds to date.

The board's 1931 tax warrants, the issue which was offered to the banks, are currently quoted at 63 bid and 68 asked, the lowest prices offered for any local government's warrants. Former Attorney General Brundage, a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor against Custer, has charged the board with a gross pay roll padding in the interest of the Custer candidacy.

Scores of payrollers have been put on at $175 a month under the titles of "lagoon watchers," he charged. He also charged that in twenty-six months President James has withdrawn at least $40,000 from the president's contingency fund, and that no information is available on the use of this money.

Other Governments Pay.

While the west parks were getting a cold shoulder from the banks, other local governments began to pay their employés yesterday with funds obtained by tax warrant sales. The city started paying yesterday. Checks were mailed last night by the school board, and will be distributed at the schools today. The sanitary district and county will pay today or tomorrow.

At the school board meeting yesterday President Lewis E. Myers said he was hopeful of resuming construction on part at least of the $12,000,000 worth of buildings on which construction was halted because the board was unable to pay contractors. Some contractors and steel companies are willing to resume work and furnish the materials if the board can assure them that they will be paid in 1931 tax warrants, he said.

Armour & Co. paid its 1930 tax bill yesterday. Officials of the company gave Treasurer McDonough a check for $745,562, of which $457,249 was real estate and $268,313 in personalty taxes.

PLAN COURT TEST ON LOANS BY U. S. TO CLOSED BANKS

Nelson Acts to Get Final Decision.

State Auditor Oscar Nelson last night ordered his legal staff to prepare a test suit to determine whether receivers of closed state banks have the legal right to borrow money from the Reconstruction Finance corporation against the banks' assets in order to make payments to depositors.

This action was taken after the auditor had been informed by the corporation that it could not lend any funds to state bank receivers until the Illinois Supreme court would rule that such loans were legal. The only alternative would be a change in the state banking laws.

It was pointed out by the auditor that a change in the laws could be made only after a special session of the legislature had been called and a referendum held. Even then the state Supreme court would have to pass on the validity of new legislation.

The Carlstrom Opinion.

Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom recently gave the opinion that, while the existing laws do not specifically authorize bank receivers to borrow money, such borrowing might be done under the proper authority of a court. The receivers would then have power to pledge the bank assets to the Reconstruction Finance corporation, under this opinion.

Commenting on Mr. Carlstrom's statement, E. W. Chubb, general counsel for the government's lending corporation, said in his letter to Mr. Nelson:

"We are much impressed with the able opinion of the attorney general, but apparently he does not address himself specifically to the power of a receiver of an Illinois state bank to borrow money and pledge assets of the receivership for the exclusive purpose of making payments to depositors. This is the principal question at issue."

Await High Court Ruling.

Mr. Chubb added that a number of opinions had been received from attorneys general in other states and that neither they nor Mr. Carlstrom had unequivocally approved borrowing by receivers for any purpose other than to conserve assets of the institutions. Under the circumstances, he said, the corporation decided to refuse to lend unless the court of last resort in the state had decided the loans were legal.

While the test case winds its way through the courts, Mr. Nelson said, receivers have been instructed to make every effort to hasten payments to depositors by speedy liquidation.

U. S. LEADS WORLD IN KILLINGS WITH 12,000 EACH YEAR

New York, April 7.—[Special.]—The United States continued to hold the highest homicide record among the civilized nations of the world in 1931, according to a survey by Dr. Frederick Hoffman, statistician, appearing in an article in the "Spectator."

Dr. Hoffman's survey shows that the homicide death rate in 1931, as determined by the experience of 164 American cities, was precisely the same as for the preceding year, or 10.9 per 100,000 of population.

"Lose 12,000 Lives a Year."

Making allowances for non-recorded deaths from homicide, classified as suicidal or accidents, Dr. Hoffman estimates that "we lose 12,000 lives a year at the average of 31 years as the result of willful actions representing various degrees of responsibility from involuntary manslaughter to deliberate murder."

"The consecutive record for thirty-one American cities, with a 25 million population in 1931, shows a progressive rise in the homicide death rate from 5.1 per 100,000 in 1900 to 8.5 in 1920 and 10.8 in 1931," Dr. Hoffman says.

Comparative figures presented by Dr. Hoffman show a homicide rate of 1.6 per 100,000 in fourteen leading Canadian cities with a population in 1931 of nearly 2 million, or 16 deaths per million of population in Canada as against 109 in the United States.

Foreign Rate One-Third of U. S.

Comparing the situation from the larger international point of view, Dr. Hoffman's survey reveals a death rate in foreign countries, covering 53 of the leading cities of the world, of 3.5 per 100,000. Particularly low are the rates for English cities, that of London being only .8 and that of Liverpool .5.

Public apathy and police incompetence were blamed by Dr. Hoffman for the high homicide rate in this country.

Joe Montana Sr. Held on Prohibition Charge

Joe Montana Sr., whose son was charged with slaying Detective Laurence E. Harnett during a liquor raid in 1923, but was acquitted, was held in bonds of $500 by United States Commissioner Walker yesterday on charges of violation of the prohibition law. Prosecutors told the commissioner that eight gallons of wine and a bottle of whisky were seized Wednesday night in a restaurant at 935 West Harrison street, where Montana was arrested. It was one of 40 raids by prohibition agents.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE SOCIALIST REPUBLIC OF AMERICA.

Ogden L. Mills, secretary of the treasury, arguing with great logic and power against sabotage taxation before the senate finance committee, said he would prefer to see the socialistic state created by direct legislation rather than have it come from the destruction of the capitalist system by confiscatory taxes such as are proposed in the bill sent over from the house of representatives.

If congress tried to create the socialist state by direct legislation it would be obliged first to obtain authority for its acts. The government then would be obliged to take responsibility for them. Now it permits individuals to invest their money in large or small amounts in enterprises and proposes to expropriate the profits if it does not prevent them from being made. Private ownership of railroad stocks, for instance, is not forbidden. The government places restrictions upon the conduct of the railroad business. It compels obedience to regulations governing earnings and costs. It fosters and subsidizes competition against the railroads and does so with taxation to which the roads are forced to contribute. As socialism, this is silly; as capitalism, it is insane.

In the last six years the aggregate of railroad taxes has about equaled the amount the roads could earn for their stockholders. Last year the federal government distributed $174,000,000 to the states for hard roads which now offer a competing transportation service. The government, without taking the roads out of the field of private investment, takes the profit out of the investment and assumes no responsibility for the solvency of the roads, although it now is forced to lend money to some which, having passed their dividends, cannot meet their interest charges.

Whether or not socialism could work in the United States, and regardless of how it would work, this cheating system which tries to make individuals carry the load and give the state the profits has no chance of working. It is a system composed in about equal parts of malignancy, stupidity and greed. It shirks responsibility, asserts control and tries to empty the till at the close of each day's business.

An expropriation of capital is provided in the house tax bill against which Mr. Mills makes his protest. The representatives who organized a majority by running away from both party organizations intended this to be the effect of the levy and showed their purpose by the classes of property selected and the rates imposed. It was, as Mr. Mills said, an attempt to destroy the capitalistic order of society by indirection without substituting the responsible socialistic state for it.

It involves the ultimate ruin of private investment. The government has been prepared to absorb the resources of the country, but not to assume responsibility for productive enterprise. It has created a framework for socialism or sovietism in its bureaus, departments, boards and commissions, but they are not accountable for the success of any enterprise over which they exercise control or in which they interfere. Their costs prevent the making of profit and prohibit the earning of a return.

The secretary of the treasury was unusually direct and emphatic in his diagnosis and his advice. If congress is determined to have socialism in place of private capital it is now urgent that the intent be declared in theory and that the country face the legislative purpose. Private investors, hitherto encouraged by the laws to expect protection from confiscation, will then be able to recognize the limitations of private enterprise and they will make their adjustments to another type of government, to a different social order and get along as best they can.

If it is not the purpose of congress to promote a revolution while pretending there is none, the legislators will revise their tax bill, eliminate its confiscatory features and reduce the government establishment to terms and conditions which do not require the destruction of private capital for their sustenance.

If private enterprise has had its day in the United States let us have the socialistic state under honest, even if it can't be intelligent, direction, responsible to the people for their living even if they don't get it.

GOOD WORK IN CICERO.

Voters in Cicero who have made a change in the town government have done something for themselves and for the larger community which has not escaped the effects of conditions which have made Cicero notorious. Chicago has shared the discredit and the danger arising from the hoodlums and gangsters who had made retreat and headquarters in Cicero, and we hope State Senator Graham is a true prophet when he predicts that "from now on Cicero will be clean and respectable and free of the taint of Caponism." The town president elect, Joseph Cerny, speaks to the same effect in the name of the better citizenship of Cicero which has ended its submission to scandalous conditions.

Cicero's example should encourage other communities hereabouts, where similar if less notorious conditions exist, to clean house. In probably all of these communities reputable citizens are in the majority and can elect officials who will represent their interests and not the underworld. If they will make the effort they can choose responsible officials who with their support can break or expel organized crime in their jurisdiction.

JUDGE HORNER FOR THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINATION.

The Democratic candidates for the nomination for governor are Bruce Campbell, Michael Igoe, and Judge Horner. Mr. Campbell is a downstater. Mr. Igoe is an influential leader in the party in Chicago. Judge Horner is judge of the Probate court of Cook county. He is the candidate indorsed by the city and state organizations. His opponents have made as much as they could politically of this fact, although the procedure is familiar and customary and such indorsement is sought by all candidates who think they have any chance to get it.

In Judge Horner's case the Democratic organization made a choice so good as to prove an intent to offer the party the best available candidate for the head of the state ticket. The Democrats believe this to be a favorable year for the minority party in the state, but the management decided to strengthen the opportunity by backing an exceptional man rather than try to take advantage of it with a mediocre or questionable candidate.

Recognition of Judge Horner's ability and character has not been at all partisan in Chicago. He has visited most of the downstate counties in his campaign and has spread there the same favorable opinion of his qualities as has prevailed in his own county. His sincerity and good sense appear in his statements. He is a man of superior qualifications, of unquestioned record and of good purposes. The Democratic party in Illinois has been free from a number of the discreditable or illiberal entanglements in which major factions of the Republican party have been involved and all three Democratic candidates are clear of them. Judge Horner is preferred because he is exceptional and if his party nominates him it can feel that it has brought out its best available man.

THE NEWFOUNDLAND RIOTS.

Mob violence in the capital of Newfoundland is occasion for some serious thinking elsewhere. There is no excuse for any other community on this continent to indulge itself in a holier-than-thou attitude. Like causes produce like results. The people of St. John's are not in normal times disposed to violence and lawlessness. They are composed of much the same racial material as this nation, or, rather, of the older and more settled communities of this country. That a mob of ten thousand citizens of this stock should rise and run riot proves that exceptional elements of public feeling are at work and, however foolish and futile such outbreaks are, and they are both foolish and futile, they are events which our governments and our responsible citizenship must face as possibilities if not probabilities of this time unless drastic and well judged means are adopted without further procrastination to relieve the pressure which is generating such explosions.

The rioting in St. John's was a product of conditions brought about by a proposed reduction in relief necessitated, it is alleged, by the condition of Newfoundland's public finances. As in most other governments, public debt and public expenditure had outstripped legitimate revenue and, when overtaken by the radical depletion of revenue returns in the depression, was without adequate resources. A government on the brink of bankruptcy is in no condition to meet such emergencies. Rioting must be sternly suppressed, of course, and will be, as in St. John's. But force is an unsatisfactory answer to real suffering and does not reach the source of trouble at all.

What we have a right to demand of our governments, our politicians and political leaders is first of all the essential measure of prevention, the drastic and immediate reduction of government expenditures. The trouble in St. John's lies directly in our own path. We can avoid it only if we have the force and foresight to compel essential action. A few of our political leaders see that the course followed up to this time in national government has brought no substantial relief and unless reversed will bring disaster. The house of representatives has shown an extraordinary indifference to its primary duty, the relief of the nation from unnecessary expenditure which demobilizes the resources of recovery, deprives private enterprise of its means to reduce and end unemployment, and loads the people with increasing exactions. The executive has compromised with urgent needs and postponed essential leadership. Organized labor is blind to its own interest and wastes its influence on behalf of nostrums and expedients that will only add to the fundamental evil. Organized business is waking up, but it must be supported by the main force of the nation.

There is no reliable preventive of the accumulating ills of our destructive public conduct but to strike at their main source, the perversion and waste of the nation's capital resources through exorbitant public expenditures.

Editorial of the Day

ECONOMY IN KENOSHA.

[N. Y. Evening Post.]

The story of municipal finances which comes from Kenosha, Wis., is nothing more than the story of sound business sense applied in a place where it is all too often lacking—local government. This city of 50,000 last year faced the same problems of every city in the country. There was so much money available for government. There was a sudden upswing of calls for help. Nineteen hundred families and 450 single men needed assistance. Kenosha faced the obligations squarely. It has come through the year not only within its budget but with a surplus of more than $77,000. And nobody in Kenosha has gone hungry or unsheltered. Kenosha's city manager told the whole story when he said:

It was a case of salaries and sidewalks making way for food and shelter for the needy.

In other words, every city department pruned expenses everywhere possible and turned its back on the temptation to spend money for luxuries. Approximately $300,000 was saved on normal running expenses. Any city in the country could have done as well if its officials had realized that "salaries and sidewalks" must make way for food and shelter. With patronage and political maneuvering given an indefinite holiday, the expenses of government can be cut, in Kenosha or Albany or Washington.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

A CASE IN POINT.

Some civil service commissioner has warned motor cops about speaking in words profane to erring motorists. Which is all very well, extremely well, of course, for motor cops, but if you are a good conscientious driver that knows your onions and tries always to do what is right and seemly when driving a car, what are you going to do in certain cases if you are only permitted to say "Oh, fudge!" or "Gracious, how horrid!" or other things like that? Ferinstance, we were driving gracefully down Broadway a day or two ago and going thirty miles an hour. We have to go under thirty miles an hour for five hundred miles and then under thirty-five for the next five hundred, for the old bus has had its face lifted and its tonsils cut out, its appendix removed, and generally rehabilitated. Red lights glowed on the corner, and so we came to a graceful stop and reached for a cigaret.

BAM! It was us that was bammed. We looked around and found that an old tin lizzie had barged into us. We got out and observed that our tail light had been snapped off and the right fender crushed as flat as Speaker Garner's boom for the presidential nomination. We spoke harshly to the driver of the lizzie. We asked him if he had ever heard of a useful invention known as brakes. He said he had, but he wasn't very sure. We asked him what was the big idea. He said: "You didn't put your hand out you were a goin' to stop." We pointed with a graceful gesture to the red lights still gleaming on the corner. We asked him if he knew that red lights glowing from posts on the corners of a street intersection mean for automobiles to come to a stop. Yes, he had heard of something to that effect.

However, he again mentioned that we had not put our hand out before we stopped. We said a few more things and then when we stopped for breath the navigating officer of the lizzie looked up as if struck by a wonderful idea. He plainly had something he wished to say bearing on the case. So we asked him what it was. Said he: "You didn't put your hand out you were a goin' to stop." Now, there was the place where we think such a retort as "Oh, chocolate sundae," or "Dear me, Suze," would have been most inappropriate and more or less ineffectual. There really are places where a strong word, a word with a little sulphur and brimstone on it, should be employed. Which is why we would refuse to be a motor cop if they are not permitted a little cuss word now and then. In some case—what else can you do?

DEVOTION.

I never said the hill was steep for climbing;
When stones have bruised I put aside the pain.
I sought no roof when autumn winds came drifting,
I only laughed when darkness brought the rain.

But now that we have reached the distant mountain,
And you have found the stars you quested for,
I feel the need of lamps for early lighting,
The warm caress of fire-shine on the floor.

But if you roam, no hearth can give me comfort;
Your trails are mine . . . small matter where they wind . . .
But when we pass small houses in the evening
You'll understand if I should fall behind.

HELEN WELSHIMER.

THE BIG FOUR POWERS are said to be shaping plans to help the ailing Danubian states. But before the big four powers come in to help them the ailing Danubian states would be wise to bury the crown jewels and the treasury gold out behind the barn. If we were an ailing Danubian state and the big four—England, France, Germany, and Italy—threatened to come and help us we'd load up all the old rusty cannon we had left and get ready to die in the last ditch. And we'd have the last ditch all dug and ready.

‡

AND NOW WISCONSIN declares for Roosevelt. What became of that "Stop Roosevelt" thing that some of the other candidates rigged up a few weeks ago? The lad keeps steaming right along. Some day somebody is going to call him Roosenveldt and then it will be all over but the shouting.

‡

YES, THERE IS such a word as "donsey." We found it in an exchange the other day; somebody in the town was looking donsey. And we liked the word and, although we had never seen it before, and couldn't find it in the dictionary, and were afraid it might be a typographical error, it described so perfectly the way we felt that we hoped it was a real honest to goodness word. Martha Shoemaker writes in to say she used to live in Pennsylvania and whenever she was off her feed, as we would say on the Gold Coast, her neighbors, all Pennsylvania Dutch, would tell her she was looking donsey. There, we knew it, and now we hope people will stop telling us we look like the last run of shad or that we're so thin we're all caved in like an old soldier's grave and things like that and simply say we're looking donsey.

APRIL PLUS.

Sunshine and kindly weather,
April and Spring and you,
All of these blend together,
Bringing a dream come true.

Gone is the gloom of winter,
Vanished the harassed years,
Love like a golden minter
Smiles through a rain of tears.

Moons of imagined glory,
Lilacs instead of rue,
Once more the age-old story,
April and stars and you.

BREATHING TOO DEEPLY.

THERE are a small number of persons who need to pay some attention to their breathing, at least at times. The balance of the world performs best when it keeps its mind on other matters and leaves its breathing to take care of itself.

One of these groups is the singers. With them, the air in the lungs performs a double purpose. It ventilates the lungs, vibrates the vocal cords, and then strikes the mouth and nose for the purpose of resonance. They must breathe so as to have a reservoir of air on which they can draw for the purposes of making musical sounds.

Musicians who blow on wind instruments use their lungs as double purpose machines. Since they must interfere with nature's plans for breathing, they are quite likely to develop a lung disorder which goes by the name emphysema. This rarely happens among singers, but I know of no evidence that trained, professional singers are any freer than the general run of people from consumption, pneumonia, and other lung diseases.

Stammerers and stutterers are so constituted mentally that they fall into a panic when speaking, and they feel that they have exhausted the supply of reservoir air in the lungs. In such panics word sounds fail them and in their efforts to escape they make unusual sounds and motions. Learning to breathe so as to keep a stock of air in hand is one way of avoiding panic.

Swimmers learn two breathing techniques. Long distance divers take several very deep breaths, expand their lungs to the utmost, and then plunge. The theory is that by blowing out all the carbonic acid possible they can go the maximum length of time without breathing, since the impulse to breathe is carbonic acid in the blood. There is a good physiological reason for the several deep breaths, though there is much question to the gain from the final deep inspiration. Crawl swimmers develop a rhythm between breathing and the arm stroke. Old style glass blowers fill the lungs with air preliminary to blowing a flask.

These are about the only illustrations that occur to me of tasks in which deep or controlled breathing serves a useful purpose and, as we have seen in some of these instances, the ability has its offsets. On the other hand, deep breathing, fixing the diaphragm, and increasing the air pressure may do much harm.

Dr. F. A. Schmidt thinks that weight lifters, bar benders, tuggers, and jumpers—all athletes who hold their breath as they make one brief, stupendous effort—are in danger of heart disease. The brief period of increase of tension inside the chest may overstrain the heart or break down compensation.

Wrestlers who strain every muscle in some supreme effort run other risks besides broken cartilages and cauliflower ears. Any muscular effort which causes one to turn red in the face until the "blood seems about ready to pop out" increases the tension within the chest and thus loads the heart. If the process of increasing the air tension is repeated a great many times the lungs feel the effort in that they develop emphysema.

TEACHING EATING.

Mrs. S. F. writes:

1. My daughter is 2 years 4 months old and I have never given her sweet or sour cream. Is it too early to start at this age?

2. I would also like to know whether she can have young, fresh cooked beets and canned asparagus.

3. She will not drink any water, although I offer it to her regularly. Can you make any suggestions?

4. I would like to know how much water a baby of this age should drink daily.

REPLY.

1. It is not.
2. She can.
3. Let your daughter eat with other young children. You will find that within a short time she will be drinking water and eating foods she should have had some months ago. Children are fine teachers—better than parents. As a rule they know what to eat.
4. About three glasses a day, though if she gets plenty of soup, fruit juice, and milk she does not need much water. Sometimes it is advisable to flavor the water with a little fruit juice or sugar. As a rule, this is inadvisable.

◆

VARICOSE VEINS.

J. D. B. writes: I am a man of 24 years and am a victim of varicose veins in the legs. Can this condition be cured?

REPLY.

Yes.

The best cure seems to be operation by the injection method. Operation for removal has many advocates. Some cases do very well when they wear elastic stockings.

◆

CALLUS ON FOOT.

L. M. E. writes: What can I do for a hard callus on the ball of my foot?

REPLY.

It can be trimmed off or polished out. It will return unless you wear broader, roomier shoes. Wearing cork insoles will relieve the soreness, but will not stop the callus from piling up.

WEATHER PREVENTED PAVING.

Chicago, April 3.—[Friend of the People.]—What can be done to Talcott road between Higgins road and New Castle avenue? I have asked the improvement club of which I am a member, but they cannot tell me why the paving was stopped. As there are around seventy children cross Talcott road at New Castle in order to get to the Norwood Park school, and as the weather has been such that they sink down in the mud ankle deep in crossing, it seems something should be done to make this spot passable.

O. P. C.

The county awarded a contract last year for paving Talcott road with a twenty foot pavement between Higgins road and Canfield road. The contractor commenced his grading operations, but unfortunately, because of the heavy rains in the fall of last year, he was not able to construct the pavement. We expect within a few months to have this contractor back on the job to complete the road early in 1932. We have issued the necessary instructions to our maintenance division to construct a temporary crossing of crushed stone at Talcott road and New Castle avenue. We will also construct a temporary pavement on Talcott avenue, between New Castle avenue and Higgins road, that will probably last until our contractor is ready to pave.

WAIT FOR INVENTORY.

Chicago, April 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I am one of the heirs named in my cousin's will. He died in December. How long would it take for me to get a written estimate of how much he is worth, both real and personal? The estate is in probate in Wisconsin. Who shall I write to for this information?

T. S.

No one is under any legal obligation to give you such an estimate. The executor will file an inventory and by paying for it you can secure a copy of the inventory from the clerk of the court. You can similarly secure a copy of the will.

1930 TAXES.

Chicago, April 3.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Are the tax bills for 1930 valid or invalid? 2. How soon will this be definitely known? 3. Providing one-half of the taxes are paid, can the property be sold for the balance of the taxes?

J. L.

1. They are subject to the same objections as the taxes on which Judge Jarecki decided. The decision is still in the hands of the Supreme court. Many lawyers believe the court will reverse the decision.
2. We are not in a position to say.
3. Not unless legal objections are filed.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

CHINA-JAPAN WAR, 1894

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 8.—Information has reached here that the Chinese government will appoint an ambassador to proceed to Japan to treat for peace. As China is anxious for peace the ambassador will start for Tokio or Hiroshima, where the Japanese emperor and his counsel now are. It is expected Count Ito and, in all probability, Mr. Mutsu, the Japanese minister of foreign affairs, will represent the Japanese government in the negotiations.

LONDON, Dec. 9.—A Shanghai correspondent says that a serious outbreak is reported at Wu-Hu on the Yangtze river and that an American warship and Admiral Fremantle of the British fleet have gone to the scene of the disturbance.

YOKOHAMA, Dec. 10.—Victories won by the Japanese army were celebrated with great enthusiasm in Tokio. It is expected an attack will be made on Fuchow shortly. The second army will make an early advance towards Peking. The government is contracting for a force of 8,000 coolies to accompany the troops on the march to Peking. A report that Field Marshal Yamagata, commander of the first Japanese army, was dead is officially declared to be untrue.

YOKOHAMA [By Creelman.]—Dec. 12.—The Japanese troops entered Port Arthur on Nov. 21 and massacred practically the entire population in cold blood. The defenseless and unarmed inhabitants were butchered in their houses and their bodies were unspeakably mutilated. There was an unrestrained reign of murder which continued for three days. The whole town was plundered with appalling atrocities. It was the first strain upon Japanese civilization. The Japanese in these instances relapsed into barbarism. All pretense that circumstances justified the atrocities is false. The civilized world will be appalled by the details. The foreign correspondents, horrified by the spectacle, left the army in a body.

28 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 8, 1904.

LONDON.—Dispatches from Shanghai and Chefoo say it is rumored in those places that the Japanese have made another attack on Port Arthur, but the reports are apparently only based on statements made by Chinese fishermen. Nevertheless, Admiral Togo's ships are reliably reported to be again hovering about the coast of the Liaotung peninsula either seeking an engagement with Russian ships or preparing to renew the bombardment of Port Arthur. A dispatch from Wei-Hai-Wei reports mysterious movements by vessels of both fleets in the straits between that place and Port Arthur.

TOKIO.—Information has reached here that Japanese transports with stores have entered the estuary of the Yalu river and that troops are landing. It is believed the information is true. It is further believed that the transports which have entered the river are guarded by gunboats and that under the guns of warships strong reconnoitering parties have been landed on the Manchurian side of the river.

ST. PETERSBURG. — While the first line of defense against the Japanese advance from Corea is a strong position selected by Gen. Kouropatkin near Fenghuangcheng, it is believed the Russians intend to hold out as long as possible at Antung, which commands the Peking road. The place has natural advantages for defense.

SAN FRANCISCO. — Mrs. Cordelia Botkin was convicted by a jury for the second time of murder in the first degree by sending poisoned candy to Mrs. John P. Dunning and Mrs. Dean, both of Dover, Del., in 1898. The cause alleged was her love for Mr. Dunning. The penalty was fixed at imprisonment for life.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 8, 1916.

EL PASO.—Francisco Villa was definitely located at La Boquilla tonight, according to a code message from Torreon, Mexico. La Boquilla is 55 miles southeast of Satevo and about an equal distance north of Parral. This news gives fresh support to the belief that Villa's immediate objective is Parral.

WASHINGTON. — Refusal of the United States to put a time limit on the chase for Villa has halted negotiations with Carranza for a protocol governing the campaign. Carranza fears he will lose his grip on his people. The Mexican foreign minister denied that the United States has been granted the use of railroads, according to a dispatch from Queretaro, Mexico.

LONDON.—The French have retaken portions of the trenches captured by the Germans between Bethincourt and Hill 265, northwest of Verdun. A German attack over a front of about a mile and a quarter around Haucourt was repulsed. Berlin announces the capture of positions held by the Canadians south of St. Eloi. The French claim that the Germans have lost 200,000 men before Verdun. Four more ships, three of them neutrals, are the day's German submarine victims.

FROM B. E. SUNNY.

Chicago, April 4.—Substantially the same announcement which has been made many times in the last several months appears again today to the effect that a unique World's Fair school is being planned by the school board, to be located at Lake Park avenue and 41st street.

Opposition has been expressed to this location by a considerable number of people, but the persons behind the project seem to be resolved to go ahead.

For the convenience of the children, it is necessary to locate a schoolhouse in the center of the district to be served, while this location is on the Illinois Central tracks on the extreme east side of that particular school district. Furthermore, the location is on a heavily traveled thoroughfare, Lake Park avenue, which two-thirds of the children have now to cross, to and from the temporary school buildings now in use. A more undesirable location for a schoolhouse, in any way it may be considered, is beyond imagination.

Nor can there be any possible connection with the 1933 fair that will make the project of the slightest importance to that enterprise. In any event, it will be no farther to go from the fair to a central location in the district for the schoolhouse than to the point now being discussed.

The present plan should be abandoned and a better site for the new schoolhouse secured.

B. E. SUNNY.

MUCH AMUSED.

Beardstown, Ill., March 30. — I was much amused at your editorial in today's paper about license plates. The idea that the coming primary election was the cause of the delinquency is at the least silly. The automobile has taken the place of the horse and is taxed at least three times: A property tax, a license fee and a gasoline tax. And now the United States proposes to add 1 cent a gallon to the gasoline tax. They will soon find a way to tax you for the air your carburetor uses. I have the money to pay for my license tag. There is no law that says I must have a Ford, but I need it, and have already paid enough taxes on it. I know of one tax eater who already has had six expensive cars of one make. He draws a very neat salary, which is paid by taxes. I will buy a license plate when I have to. I have bought many. I only hope no state policeman will tell me to before the primary. Then after the primary the state officers are not absolutely sure of their job until after election. Note I said "absolutely." Maybe I can get by until November. Yes, I was always a Republican.

GEORGE F. TABLER.

RABID AND INCOHERENT.

Lawrenceville, Ill., March 31.—As we get it from the rabid and incoherent ravings in your pages, the government should add to the unemployment problem by discharging thousands of employés, so that federal taxes may be reduced and the financial bandits who have wrecked the country may hold their loot. You are appalled at the idea of soaking the rich. Why not soak them? Their looting of industry constitutes a greater tax on the country than all the federal, state, county, and municipal levies combined.

The unconscious humor of the average metropolitan newspaper editor has no equal anywhere. At his serious and pompous best, he is the funniest thing alive.

LOWBROW LEN.

AN IMPORTANT ISSUE.

Chicago, March 19.—Surely Mr. Custer must be naive indeed when he thinks he can sidestep the prohibition issue and get away with it. No intelligent voter, I think, is going to give support to a candidate who is so undecisive on this important issue.

FAIR PLAY.

DECLINED WITHOUT THANKS; A REPLY.

Washington, D. C., April 4.—When offering a special interpretative market news review for publication in THE TRIBUNE in my letter of March 26 I took it for granted that you were familiar with the fact that the department of agriculture has for years sent its market reports to all newspapers that indicate that they wish to receive them. That is a regular service and some of the information appears in your market columns.

Many farmers and editors tell us that these reports reach their greatest usefulness to farmers only when they are interpreted in the light of regional conditions. The complete reports are usually more extensive and detailed than the space available in the newspapers, therefore, brief summaries especially suited to a region have been prepared.

Regional articles such as we offered to you are being offered to groups of papers in various parts of the country. Any newspaper may secure one of these regional articles which are prepared in several series, consequently there is no discrimination between papers. In this way we place summaries of the market news before a much larger number of farmers than would otherwise be possible.

There never has been and is not now any suggestion from the department that a newspaper is under any obligation to use the information we send to them. We are charged by law to distribute timely information on markets as well as to collect it. Editors use it only as they find it useful to their readers. We offered the report for approval or disapproval according to your opinion of its usefulness, believing that farmers and others among your readers interested in agricultural markets would find the articles useful.

I trust you will give this letter a place in the "Voice of the People."

LOTS OF BEER.

Moline, Ill., March 31.—Five hundred million dollars will be turned into the federal treasury annually if 2.75 per cent beer is legalized and taxed!" Exactly so. That is what the wets tell us.

But how much beer would have to be sold to get the $500,000,000? Only $5,000,000,000 worth!

Five billion dollars is a tidy sum to put over the counters of the beer trade. It is rather a tidy sum to take out of the pockets of the poor, out of the savings banks, out of the channels of trade.

Moreover, at three cents tax on each pint of beer nearly 1,700,000,000 pints would have to be drunk to make the grade. And there are only seven states where beer could be thus taxed and sold, as 41 states have state prohibition laws.

Yes, and who would wallow and guzzle the billion seven hundred million drinks? The rich? No. They would still get something stronger than 2.75 per cent from the smugglers and bootleggers. This beer propaganda is not for them, except that the poor actual drinkers and their families would pay the taxes of the rich who are beneficiaries of corporations.

LESTER E. FROST.

A PROTEST.

Chicago, April 2.—As one of scores of victims of Charles B. Goodman, who was sentenced to Joliet penitentiary for swindling working people out of all their lifelong savings, I protest against the spectacle of State Representative Sol P. Roderick appearing before the board of pardons and paroles. Isn't it time that we divorced politics from the administration of justice?

M'NUTT ASSAILS NATION'S LACK OF LEADERSHIP

Opens Campaign in Lake County, Ind.

Col. Paul V. McNutt, former national commander of the American Legion, who is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor of Indiana, opened his Lake county campaign last night with an address at Whiting in which he scored Republican extravagance and pledged the substitution of economic policies.

An overflow gathering of more than 1,000 men and women from the industrial belt of northern Indiana crowded the Whiting community auditorium to hear him. Democratic leaders pointed to the turnout as a confirmation of their prediction that Lake county's delegation, the second largest in the state, would vote solidly for him at the state Democratic convention at Indianapolis June 20-21.

Assails Lack of Leadership.

The former Legion chief particularly assailed "the lack of national leadership."

"In 1928 Hoover, as secretary of commerce, must have known that our prosperity was spotty," said Col. McNutt. "Why didn't he warn us of the brewing storm? Instead of that, he flew the fair weather flag."

In the same voice he charged the Republican administration with extravagance, and cited the tariff as a cause of ruination of small industries with the consequence of unemployment. He cited the prologue and epilogue of a book which, he said, was written by former President Coolidge. He quoted the ex-President's prologue as being "optimistic about the future," while he quoted the epilogue as saying: "The country is not in good condition." Col. McNutt declared that the country is facing a crisis similar to that which marked the decline of the Roman empire.

Campaigns on Economy Platform.

Col. McNutt is campaigning on a platform of strict economy in the operation of the state government, to reduce the tax burden on Indiana industries and farmers. In his Lake county speeches, he stressed "a fair deal for northern Indiana." This section's tribulations at the hands of the bone dry downstate squirearchy have been much akin to those of Chicago at the hands of Illinois downstaters.

Col. McNutt has two opponents for the nomination, Mayor Wood Posey of Terre Haute and John Fredrick, Kokomo manufacturer.

WIFE TO PEDDLE PAPERS TO PROVE HUSBAND FIBS

Noah Seefor, 4033 Grenshaw street, appeared before Judge Sabath yesterday in the Superior court with a request for reduction of the alimony of $15 a week which he is paying Mrs. Rose Seefor, 1708 Albion avenue, pending trial of her bill for divorce.

"I've got a news stand at Western and Archer avenues, but I'm only making $12 a week," he asserted.

"That's a lie, judge," interrupted his wife. "He's getting at least $75 a week from that news stand."

"I'd like to see you make $75 a week from it," said Seefor, turning on her.

"I'll take you up on that," said Judge Sabath. "You give the stand to your wife. And Mrs. Seefor, you give your husband $15 a week and keep the rest of the money you make running it."

ROOSEVELT ASKS SQUARE DEAL FOR "LITTLE FELLOW"

Lashes Tariff; Urges Help for Farmers.

Albany, N. Y., April 7.—[Special.]—"The little fellow" is entirely beyond the range of vision of the Hoover administration at Washington in its effort to rebuild the nation economically and lift the country out of its present period of depression, according to Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt. He made this charge in an address tonight from the executive mansion.

While more directly addressed to the Democrats of the country, Gov. Roosevelt said that he did not speak as a partisan.

Urges Help for Farmer.

"The present condition of our national affairs," he said, "is too serious to be viewed through partisan eyes for partisan purposes."

The governor went on to say that the nation at the present juncture is facing a crisis more grave than that which confronted it in 1917 when the United States entered the world war. As at that time the entire nation, the governor said, must be mobilized to combat the foe we are dealing with today.

Gov. Roosevelt pronounced as futile and the result of shallow thinking any effort to solve the unemployment problem by raising billions of dollars for public works, no matter how useful. He urged that a dependable cure could be effected only by restoring the farmers' buying power which has been shattered, revision of the 1929 tariff which he characterized as "foolish," so as to enable foreign countries to become our customers by exchange of such of their own goods as will not seriously throw our industries out of balance; and relief to the small banks and home owners.

"But these seem to be beyond the concern of a national administration which can think in terms only of the top of the social and economic structure," the governor said.

Denounces Tariff Policy.

The governor said it should be an objective of government to provide for the "little fellow" as well as it is providing for large banks and corporations.

"But the two billion fund which President Hoover and congress have put at the disposal of the big banks, the railroads and corporations of the nation is not for him," he said.

In discussing the tariff, Mr. Roosevelt recalled that the factories of the country, if worked to only 80 per cent of capacity, would produce more goods than could find customers at home and render it necessary for the United States to sell goods abroad in order not to create a glut in the domestic market. He called for a tariff policy based "upon economic common sense rather than upon politics, hot air and pull."

Warns of Peril.

Stressing the necessity for giving consideration to the farmer in connection with the present policy of reconstruction, the governor pointed out that 50 or 60 million persons, virtually half of the entire population of the country, were earning their living by farming or occupations and business enterprises in small towns entirely dependent upon the purchasing power of the farmer for success. With his purchasing power gone, the farmer cannot buy industrial products, and as a result the millions engaged in industry must suffer.

"This," the governor said, "brings home to every city worker that his own employment is directly tied up with the farmer's dollar. No nation can long endure half bankrupt. Main street, Broadway, the mills, the mines will close if half the nation's buyers are broke.

HAWKS SMASHES SHIP IN TAKEOFF; JAW FRACTURED

Crashes Into Stone Wall at High Speed.

Worcester, Mass., April 7.—[Special.]—Capt. Frank N. Hawks, holder of a long list of aviation speed records, was severely hurt when his famous Travelair "mystery" ship cracked up in an attempted takeoff from the Worcester airport here today. The machine was powered with a Wright 420 h. p. J-69 motor.

The machine crashed into a low stone wall at the far end of the field and the flyer was extricated from the wreckage unconscious. He was taken to the Worcester hospital, where physicians said he had suffered a fracture of the jaw in addition to numerous lacerations. His injuries were not regarded as critical.

Mud Bars Takeoff.

The airman had arranged to fly to Boston today, following a lecture he gave here last night under the auspices of the Boy Scout organization. The airport grounds were heavily soaked from recent rains and Capt. Hawks at first attempted to take off from a dirt road cutting across the field. The ground proved too soft here, however, and he headed down the field.

His machine weighs a ton and a half and he was unable to get up enough speed in the run across the soggy grounds to get it into the air. Capt. Hawks evidently realized the futility of his attempt too late. The plane was traveling fully 50 miles an hour, airport observers said, when it struck a rock ledge, crashed into the stone wall, and overturned.

At first it was feared the flyer's skull had been fractured but an X-ray examination at the hospital showed that the jaw fracture was the most serious of the injuries. Attending physicians scoffed at a suggestion that facial paralysis might result from this fracture.

Set Several Records.

Capt. Hawks set several transcontenental speed records and any number of new marks for speed between cities. With a mechanic he flew from Los Angeles to New York in 18 hours 21 minutes and 59 seconds in 1929, and in June of that year made a solo nonstop flight from New York to Los Angeles in 19 hours 10 minutes and 32 seconds. The next day he flew back to New York in 17 hours 38 minutes and 56 seconds, thus establishing a round trip record.

He was the first to fly across the continent in a glider skimming the airways from San Diego to New York "in tow" in 1930. In 1930 he was named by the League Internationale des Aviateurs as America's outstanding flyer.

Convicts Make Bogus Coins and Warden Peddles Them

GENOA, April 7.—(AP)—The police were aghast today when, coming to the end of the trail in a search for counterfeiters, they discovered that excellently made suprious five and ten lire coins were being turned out by convicts at Marassi prison and circulated by the warden. The chief government prosecutor has taken charge of the case and all the counterfeiters have been placed in solitary confinement.

NEW YORK BOOZE MAP WILL SHOW LOSS IN TAXES

Speakeasy Survey Is Mainly Financial.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 7.—[Special.]—The federal survey of the New York speakeasy, cordial shop, and cider stube situation which got under way Monday apparently has an economic rather than moral purpose behind it—the government wants to know its tax losses under prohibition.

The dry law operatives have not changed their original announcement that the rum map was being made with the idea of punitive raids to follow, but it became known today in informed circles that the questions being asked were mainly financial and that speakeasy owners were expressing confidence that there would be no wholesale pinches after the final enrollment.

Check Speakeasy Sales.

Sixty prohibition agents, acting under the instructions of Amos W. W. Woodcock, head of the national prohibition enforcement organization, are making the census here.

Each of the agents has been given a sectional map of approximately twenty blocks in the first mapping expedition, which will proceed as far north as 23d street.

How many wet spots the census will show—if a serious count is made—even the larger bootleggers refused to guess. The police consensus is that there are still more than 30,000 speakeasies in the city.

approximate daily "take" of these liquor and beer shops were obtained. Men in the business insist trade is dull. About $100 a day, they admit, would be a fair average if the incomes of all joints were totaled and divided. New York, it seems, spends about $3,000,000 a day for liquid refreshments. The government is losing the tax on production and license tax at places of sale.

Those who should know estimate that approximately 10,000 barrels of beer are consumed daily in the metropolitan district. In summer it will run higher. Under a recent proposal in congress to tax beer $5 a barrel, New York alone would turn in almost $20,000,000 a year in beer taxes even under present conditions and brewers believe a great deal more if the beer were legalized and sold cheaper.

The word has been passed that the latch is hanging out for the dry census takers and that a compiled list of oases might not be bad for trade—if properly circulated.

19 CONNECTICUT DELEGATES WILL VOTE FOR HOOVER

Hartford, Conn., April 7.—(AP)—Nineteen Connecticut delegates unfettered by pledges will vote for the renomination of President Hoover at the Republican national convention.

The state convention which chose the delegates today followed tradition in giving them no instructions either as to candidates or platform, but party leaders agreed that Mr. Hoover would be supported unanimously.

BAR CONVENTION BOOZE BAR BRINGS LAW ON LAWYERS

Cincinnati, O., April 7.—[Special.]—The federal grand jury started an investigation today as to the operation of a bar in a private room of the Netherland Plaza hotel during the convention of the Ohio State Bar association here Jan. 30.

It was revealed today that a federal prohibition agent had seized 1,000 bottles of choice whisky and brandy, together with 30 cases of beer. Subpoenas were issued for Harry Dolan assistant manager of the Netherland Plaza, and for other employés of the hotel.

Two attorneys, whose names were not disclosed, also have been subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury These lawyers, it was stated, have admitted to the federal agents that they bought liquor during the bar association meeting. An official of a local bottling company has also been subpoenaed.

The place was raided on a tip received by the federal prohibition agents here.

Snitz Edwards, Comedian, Reported Critically Ill

Army Planes Collide in Air; Both Land Safely

Scott Field, Ill., April 7.—(AP)—Two army airplanes collided in the air above Scott field yesterday, but were landed safely by their pilots from an altitude of 3,000 feet. Lieut. George H. Stokes had just come out of a sharp dive when the rudder of his plane was struck by the propeller of the other plane, piloted by Lieut. Evan W. Chatfield.

THE NEWEST
Motor Car Style
Slip-Stream Design
Come to our showroom and see a really different motor car style—the Slip-Stream body. It's new. It's modern. It's unusually beautiful.
Along with its new distinction in appearance it has the great value of actually making Nash performance even finer because of its aerodynamic design.
Frontal air resistance is reduced by the V-radiator and sloping windshield for their aerodynamic contours go "with" the wind instead of "against" it as do the old-style snub-nose radiator and upright windshield.
At the same time the body taper and Beavertail back minimize rear end "hold-back," because Nash slip-streams the rear as well as the front.
Thus power-waste is avoided and miles are added to Nash top speed.
All new Nash models are longer in wheelbase, with greater power and greater speed, and so low even with no decrease in head room and road clearance that the width is considerably greater than its height—a contribution to greater safety.
Prices at the factory range from $777 to $2055. Wheelbases from 116 to 142 inches.
"Centrifuse" Brake Drums — Steel supports cast iron drums of special formula in all Eights. Assures trouble-free service and softer and more positive brake action.
Full-Range Ride Control — A lever enables you instantly to regulate your travel-comfort, regardless of road, or load, speed, or temperature. (All models.)
X-Dual Frame, Super-rigid — Strongest type of frame. The massive inside girders extend practically entire length of chassis, giving car, virtually, a double frame. (All models)
Underslung Worm Drive Axle — Lowers center of gravity without decreasing head room or road clearance. (Ambassador, Advanced, and Special Eights.)

JAPS SPURN PLAN TO LET LEAGUE HANDLE DISPUTE

Chinese Leave Peace Parley in a Huff.

SHANGHAI, April 8.—[Friday.]—A strenuous attempt was made last night to break the deadlock between the Chinese and Japanese delegates over the question of setting a definite time limit for the withdrawal of Japanese troops from Shanghai. A complete breakdown of the negotiations was prevented only by the intervention of Sir Miles W. Lampson, British minister to China.

SIR MILES LAMPSON.

At the opening of the conference, which was held in the British consulate, the Chinese delegation, led by Quo Tai-chi, vice foreign minister, proposed that both Chinese and Japanese delegations, as well as the American, British, French, and Italian ministers, submit separate reports on questions pertaining to the withdrawal of troops to the league of nations. The Chinese announced their willingness to abide by the league's interpretation of the decision.

Japs Reject Proposal.

The Japanese immediately rejected the Chinese proposal, claiming that the league assembly is not competent to make a decision since its members are not familiar with the peculiar conditions prevailing at Shanghai.

The Chinese then announced it useless to pursue the conversations further and started to leave. Sir Miles, however, stepped in and offered three alternative proposals, the contents of which were not made public, and the Chinese finally agreed to attend another meeting tomorrow morning.

The league of nations commission, including Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy of the United States, which is studying the Sino-Japanese dispute, returned to Nanking today following a trip to Hankow. As a British river steamer carrying the commission arrived at the port of Pukow, opposite Nanking, its members hurried to the ministry of foreign affairs, where Dr. Lo Wen-kan, foreign minister, exhibited copies of Sino-Japanese treaties, as well as minutes and annexed items bearing the date of 1905, to prove conclusively that no treaty contains a clause in which China agreed not to construct railways in Manchuria and paralleling the Japanese government owned South Manchuria line.

Reason for China's Anxiety.

The reason for China's anxiety to exhibit the original draft of the treaty was disclosed when it was learned that while the commission was at Hankow one of its members told Dr Wellington Koo, former foreign minister, that when the commission was at Tokio the Japanese foreign minister, Kenkichi Yoshizawa, exhibited an alleged draft of the treaty containing a clause in which China agreed not to construct parallel railways.

Russia Buys Wheat in Shanghai.

SHANGHAI, April 8 [Friday].—(AP)—More than half a million bags of flour have been ordered in Shanghai for immediate shipment to Vladivostock, it was learned today. The news increased speculation regarding the persistent reports of heavy soviet troop movements into western Siberia. The order was understood to have been placed by the soviet government and actually amounted to 585,500 bags. It was said soviet agents were here trying to buy 1,000,000 more bags but practically the entire local supply already has been absorbed.

Manchuria Rail Chief Quits.

TOKIO, April 7.—(AP)—Count Yasuya Uchida, president of the South Manchuria railway, which post carries with it the leadership of all Japanese enterprises in Manchuria, telegraphed his resignation to Tokio today, a dispatch to the Rengo News agency from Dairen, where Count Uchida is now, said. Official circles were unable to confirm the resignation.

Jotaro Yamamoto, president of the railway during the former cabinet of Premier Tanaka, and who is a wheelhorse of the Seiyukai party and author of many plans for Japanese expansion in Manchuria, has been mentioned as the most likely successor. The resignation of Count Uchida was believed to be due to the summary dismissal by the cabinet today of Teijo Eguchi, vice president of the railway and the count's close associate, who is a member of the opposition (Minseito) party.

STEAL SUITCASES IN BUS STATION.

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste, and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

PARLEY CALLED TO SAVE DANUBE STATES CRASHES

Berlin and Rome Oppose French 'Domination.'

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 7.—The four power conference, which was called to reconstitute economically the old Austrian empire, has broken down.

The "big four"—Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain, Finance Minister Pierre-Etienne Flandin of France, Foreign Minister Dino Grandi of Italy, and Foreign Minister Bernhard W. von Buelow of Germany—labored all day, thrashing out details, and at the end it was announced that new problems made it necessary to obtain further information and that it would be necessary to adjourn.

May Meet at Lausanne.

The "big four," who are sitting as a committee of the full conference, will make such a report tomorrow morning, and after plans are made to obtain the required information the conference will adjourn indefinitely. It is likely that it will reassemble either at Lausanne or Geneva.

The foregoing is the situation, despite the emphasis laid by all on the urgency of a conference to assist the five Danubian countries and the necessity for haste if they were to be saved from a crash.

Behind all these formal statements is the fact that Italy and Germany are unalterably opposed to the French plan for domination of the Danubian states through loans and preferences and to which MacDonald was half converted by Premier Tardieu of France. They have their own plan by which all the great powers of Europe would grant tariff preferences on agricultural products of Jugo-Slavia, Rumania, and Hungary and preference on industrial goods to Austria. Czechoslovakia, they contended, is in no need of help.

Oppose French Scheme.

The French plan was for preferences between the states themselves. This, the Germans and Italians argued would be useless, as they are all growing the same things.

"What they need is an extension of markets abroad," they told the other powers.

Germany and Italy also objected to waiving their rights under the "most favored nation" treaties to bolster the French hegemony in the Balkans.

Meanwhile, the Danubian states will have to struggle along as best they can. French loans may be forthcoming, but it was emphasized in London tonight that nothing in the nature of charity will do the slightest good It is realized that what is needed is to set the states on their own feet economically, enabling them to support themselves.

An outstanding factor of the four power conference methods was the speed in which they arrived at a deadlock. Under the league of nations' method of introducing all the states of the world from China to Peru into the discussion it would probably have taken two months to reach the same point this conference attained in two days.

Greece Asks Financial Aid.

ATHENS, April 7.—(AP)—Premier Eleutherios Venizelos has written Premier Tardieu of France and Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon of Great Britain urging the necessity of immediate financial assistance for Greece and the acceptance of the Greek proposals to the league of nations council in their entirety. The premier probably will leave tomorrow for Geneva.

FINLAND BARES RADIO DIRECTED SOVIET SPY PLOT

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, April 7.—Secret orders broadcast in a daily radio program from a Russian town to spies of the soviet secret police in Finland were revealed as part of a conspiracy that resulted in the sentencing today of eleven Finnish communists, including two women, to penal servitude for treasonable activities.

Involved in the case were the activities of a railway man named Puranen, who was a member of a bolshevik espionage body which obtained information concerning Finnish military measures. Puranen's duties included handling mail and for a long time he regularly opened official mail bags including those belonging to the army and political police. He made copies of documents which he subsequently sent to Russia.

The Finnish authorities discovered that the soviet had arranged to include in the daily broadcast, directions for spy movements and for meeting places where information could be handed over to soviet couriers near the frontiers, thus saving the spies dangerous crossings.

India's Woman Revolt Chief Reopens 117 Cloth Shops

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BOMBAY, April 7.—Mrs. Sarojini Naidu, newest dictator of India's civil disobedience campaign, today reopened the market comprising 117 cloth shops which have been closed in protest since Mahatma Gandhi's arrest in January. Her action follows criticism in pro-Gandhi newspapers of picketing tactics, rocing the closing of "pro-Gandhi" as well as "anti-Gandhi" shops. Cloth merchants recently agreed to shun the sale of foreign dry goods.

KILLS HIMSELF IN MICHIGAN AVENUE BLDG.

After swallowing a quantity of poison John C. Gallagher, 40 years old, a sales representative, shot and killed himself late yesterday in his office in room 1929, 30 North Michigan avenue. He was found lying alongside his desk last evening by a scrubwoman.

Gallagher listed himself as vice president and general manager of the Pharma-Craft corporation. He was also sales agent for a deodorant concern. He lived with his wife, Mrs. Vivian Gallagher, in the Edgewater Beach apartments, 5555 Sheridan road.

Medical examination showed that Gallagher had shot himself thrice. Liquid in two glasses on the desk contained a chemical solution. Alongside was a small vial, containing several drops of a yellow fluid.

Gallagher left two notes, one of them sealed, and both addressed to his wife. The open letter stated in part: "It is strange, but as I approach the end I feel no fear. I think I am doing right."

HEAR SNORING FROM CASKET; CALL POLICE

Hereafter John Killias, 46 years old, 8117 Escanaba avenue, must be more careful where he sleeps. Judge Francis Allegretti so ruled yesterday in the South Chicago court, where John appeared on a charge of disorderly conduct.

It seems that Mrs. Clara Nick, wife of Henry Nick, owner of the East Side Undertaking company at 10054 Ewing avenue, invited two friends, Mrs. Ellen Daly and Mrs. Lila Yuratovac, into the basement of the place to view a corpse, reposing in a new casket.

All three tiptoed curiously to the casket. Suddenly they stood transfixed. From the casket came noises not unlike snoring. The frightened women dashed wildly upstairs and summoned police. Several bluecoats investigated and found John sleeping peacefully beneath the casket.

Judge Allegretti released John with a warning.

STIMSON HOPES TO CURB U-BOATS, BOMBING PLANES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 7.—[Special.]—The American delegation to the Geneva conference, under the leadership of Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, plans to make a vigorous attempt to effect a compromise agreement under which both submarines and bombing aviation would be abolished or greatly curtailed.

That Secretary Stimson has been discussing the possibility of working out an agreement for joint abolition of bombing planes and submarines has been known for some time. It only became known today, however, that, following lengthy discussions with war and navy experts, the state department head is preparing to push the move to curtail underwater and aerial warfare as part of the campaign against the so-called aggressive weapons.

As American army and navy experts are opposed to any restrictions on bombing unless submarines are eliminated, there seems little likelihood anything will come of the new state department limitation move.

France Wants Submarines.

Norman Davis, one of the American delegates to the Geneva parley, brought the idea of coupling submarines and bombing planes limitation together when he arrived in Washington two weeks ago. In his opinion, as expressed to Washington officials, there is a good chance of eliminating these two weapons.

The idea back of the Davis plan is that an agreement could be reached whereby nations favoring submarines would give them up providing concessions were made by nations who favor the use of the big bombing plane. Thus the United States is willing to abolish the submarines but strong for the air as a weapon, while Japan favors the submarines and would like to see bombing aviation and aircraft carriers curbed.

The difficulty the state department faces, however, lies in the fact that France, the pivot of the conference, wants to keep the submarines and almost certainly will oppose elimination of the bombing plane unless an international boundary force is created. Great Britain wants both submarines and bombing planes abolished.

Inspired by Other Powers.

From all indications this latest move against aviation was inspired by other powers at Geneva. The United States today has the reputation of owning the strongest naval air force in the world, so far as planes are concerned. Under the Washington treaties no more facilities for planes can be installed in the far east. Thus this country must depend on aircraft carriers to drive home an aerial attack of any consequence in that area. For this country to give up its carriers or to curtail its aviation afloat would be to play directly into the hands of Japan.

In the event the Philippines were lost to the United States through granting them independence, the aircraft carrier would be doubly valuable to this country in the far east as the fleet would have to operate from Honolulu, more than 4,000 miles from the Asiatic front. American naval officials are on record as absolutely opposed to any curtailment of bombing aviation, either afloat or ashore unless submarines are abolished.

Stimson Sails Today.

While Secretary Stimson today flatly denied reports that this government plans to tell European powers it cannot reduce its armaments further unless Japan evacuates from Manchuria, it became known that the Japanese-Manchurian-China problem will be discussed by the secretary while abroad. The secretary may go to London to discuss this matter. It is also expected that Mr. Stimson will be called upon to answer several questions regarding American future policy in the far east with special reference to the Philippines.

Mr. Stimson leaves tomorrow night on the Ile de France.

RUTH LUEDER.

Postmaster and Mrs. Arthur C. Lueder announced yesterday that their daughter, Ruth, will be married to Frank Wardecker of Waukegan at their home, 636 Gary place, at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Dr. John Lueder, grandfather of the bride. The young couple were graduated from the University of Illinois last June.

ECUADOR'S NAVY REBELS AS EXILE RETURNS HOME

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, April 7.—Objecting to the homecoming of the exiled former president, Gen. Leonidas Plaza Gutierrez, Ecuador's entire navy, consisting of two gunboats, mutinied today. At the same time other insurrectionists captured the British owned oil tanker, Buaro, and a land party of 100 rebels seized the government garrison at Punta Piedra.

Police clashed with a mob of unemployed who attacked workers who were loading steamers in the river. At Quito, the capital, north of here, the government announced discovery of a political conspiracy which was framed by the same group that sponsored a revolt at Tulcan two months ago, it was said.

Gen. Plaza Gutierrez was Liberal president of Ecuador from 1901 to 1904, then served as minister to the United States, after which he became president again in 1912. He was exiled in 1925 and took up a residence in San Francisco. His announced reason for returning was to look after his properties.

BANDITS KIDNAP ATTORNEY AND GIRL; ROB THEM

Three robbers last night took possession of the automobile of Attorney Irving D. Levin, 15 North Mayfield avenue, while he was in it with Miss Edith Davis, 2736 West 15th street, in front of her home. They drove the couple around the city for forty-five minutes and then robbed Levin of $96 and a watch valued at $150. Miss Davis saved her $200 diamond ring by slipping it into her gloves. The robbers were youthful and natty in appearance, Levin said.

INVESTIGATE POISON DEATH.

The coroner's office began an investigation yesterday into the death of Leo Bolczak, 30 years old, of 2470 Clybourn avenue, who died in the county hospital Wednesday, supposedly of cyanide poisoning.

BANK RUN FORCES RESIGNATION OF CHILEAN CABINET

VICTOR A. ROBLES.
[Keystone Photo.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 7.—A financial crisis, which culminated in a heavy run for silver coins on the leading bank today, led to the resignation of the Chilean cabinet. President Juan Esteban Montero instructed Victor A. Robles, former radical minister, to form a new government and asked congress, meeting in a night session, to proclaim martial law.

Robles took the oath as premier tonight and immediately introduced in congress an emergency bill to enable the government to take drastic steps to control the situation. Under this act persons refusing to accept paper money would be arrested.

The grave economic and political situation was whipped into a frenzy this morning when thousands of persons started a run for silver coins on the Central bank. The run increased as the day advanced and armed carabineers were posted to prevent disturbances. The Central bank paid out more than 1,000,000 pesos (about $120,000) in silver twenty centavo pieces.

Riotous Scenes Enacted.

Riotous scenes were enacted in the central streets near the bank. Tramways, buses, taxis, small shops, and theaters exhibited posters warning their customers to pay in coins. Paper money, it is feared, will soon become worthless. Speculation has been carried on for three days on a big scale by a group of brokers who have even pursued their business in the streets.

Robles will build his new cabinet around himself as premier, Luis Izquierdo as minister of finance, and Carlos Balmaceda as minister of foreign affairs.

Constant Talk Weighs Upon Lunn's Novel

Uses Characters to Make His Speeches.

"Family Name," by Arnold Lunn. [Dial Press.] Published today.

ARNOLD LUNN, author of "The Harrovians" and "Life of John Wesley," has written in "Family Name" another controversial novel. The main controversies concern Judaism and Christianity, aristocracy, and democracy.

J. D. BERESFORD.

Claude Fairlight, a member of one of the oldest and most poverty stricken titled families in England, counts as his most intimate friend, Daniel Martinez, a brilliant Jew of Spanish origin and of great wealth. They have built up a deep friendship on the basis on their common interest in intellectual things and in winter sports. Most of their time is spent skiing and mountain climbing in the Alps. Claude's sister, Moira, a beautiful, athletic girl is attracted to Dicky Boyle, a professional ski jumper, a nice, healthy Anglo-Saxon youth. However, after the tragedy that occurs in her family she feels it incumbent upon her to save the estate of the Fairlights by marrying money. The plot of this novel is not very exciting, and it is certainly not new. However, in the technical and philosophic approach of the author the reader recognizes a new slant on these important social problems.

The scene shifts from Switzerland to London and back again. The skiing and mountain climbing scenes are by far the most interesting and exciting and dramatic passages in the book, though it is true that many times they seem to be dragged in unnecessarily and give the reader a sense of irrelevancy. The description of the snow, the sun, the mountains, the feeling for movement and grace of the sports themselves, the vivid transcription of storms and winds give the author a distinctive place in sports nature writing.

Characters Are Unreal.

The characters are for the most part unreal and incredible. Most of them do nothing but talk, when they are not skiing or climbing, incessantly about almost everything. The reader uncomfortably feels that each character is a type, created by the author to be used solely to say his speeches. The dialogue does not grow out of character, but is grafted on to it. The long speeches, interesting as they might be in a sociological treatise, impede the narrative and rarely illuminate the characterization. The reader learns a great deal about the history of Judaism and its present status in England, but that knowledge does not increase his interest in Daniel Martinez, who is the megaphone for the author. Though Daniel suffers deeply and gives voice to his persecution, the reader is never really sorry for him. When he gets the short end of the stick at the end of the book, the reader can only feel relieved that this thoroughly disagreeable, painfully loquacious and unreal young man is finally disposed of. The other characters in the book are not quite so talkative and unbeatable as Daniel, but they are never really compellingly interesting. Their thoughts and actions reveal them only as perfect types of which the author has need.

Drama of Situations.

There are several scenes, one in which Claude and Daniel are trapped in a fierce snowstorm and the tragic death of one of the characters, that are in themselves extremely dramatic, not because familiar characters are participants in the drama, but because the drama itself is brilliantly, tersely and suggestively handled. The writing is good and in some places quietly lyrical and even the monologues, pedantic and stiff as they are, bristle with epigrams and happy turns of phrase.

If "Family Name" had been more carefully constructed, with the theme less obviously thrust forward, it might have been a very successful novel.

Beresford Novel Published Today.

"The Old People," by J. D. Beresford [Dutton], published today, is the first of three volumes to be written under the title, "Three Generations." This trilogy follows in the tradition of Galsworthy and concerns the history of a representative English family of distinguished forbears that is forced to accept outsiders to perpetuate the clan. The triumphs and despairs, the happiness and the misery, all the emotional, intellectual and material successes and reverses of a fascinating family, are described with distinction and sensitiveness in the first volume of this saga. Good morning!

There may have been a time when Johnny Weismuller thought that nobody could make a monkey out of him. He knows better now.

You should just see that water baby take to the tall trees in the jungles—of Hollywood! But does he stay in 'em? No! Down he comes swinging to battle lions, wild beasties, tigers, alligators, and finally, a huge gorilla. In several of these conquering episodes he gives dazzling exhibitions of the sort of swimming that put the name of Johnny Weismuller in headlines and on medals as the speediest man in the water.

The story, of course, is one of Edgar Rice Burroughs'! The plot is concerned with the adventures of an expedition led by an English explorer, which sets out to discover elephant burial grounds in darkest Africa. Elephants, you know, are supposed to sense when death is imminent and make for a certain place where they may rest their bones with those of their ancestors.

Much to the surprise of James Parker, leader of the expedition, and his fellow explorer, Harry Holt, the daughter of the former, a charming and imperturbable English maid, appears unexpectedly from England and insists on joining the safari. (Now, you see, the stage is all set for romance.)

Jane, captured by the ape-man, Tarzan, is almost frightened out of her wits at first. But when she learns, well—WHAT she learns, you learn—what the picture shall show you. (No, SIR, I don't tell how things turn out any more!)

The picture teems with animals and is a-roar with noises. Here, again, Johnny scores. For the wild African yodel with which he summons his bodyguard of elephants beats the Swiss!

Last, but, you will agree, not least, the boy can act. And he is an intriguing figure as he goes about the inarticulate lovemaking demanded of him by the scenario. The players supporting Johnny do nobly, though when he's about nobody gives them much mind. Maureen O'Sullivan is alluring in the romantic scenes.

"Tarzan, the Ape Man," was directed by W. S. Van Dyke, who megaphoned for "Trader Horn." He has managed his material cleverly, larding the action with laughs and allowing plenty of footage for the display of tricks by the animals. There's the cutest little monkey—Chita—with the humanest ways and cries that you've ever seen or heard! And one big elephant performs with uncanny intelligence. Dialogue's not so hot, but scenery and photography are immense.

This movie packs the sort of thrills that captivate people of all ages. Children will adore it, and Wednesday afternoon the United Artists' theater was overflowing with adults who had forgotten, in their enjoyment of the picture, the fact that there IS such a thing as a depression.

Holds Difficulty in Reading Makes Behavior Problem

Children who have difficulty in reading often suffer behavior disorder. That was the assertion yesterday of Miss Marion Monroe, research psychologist, who directed a clinical study of more than 500 children recently at the Institute for Juvenile Research in Chicago.

Temper tantrums and daydreaming are the chief difficulties that arise from inability to read, according to Miss Monroe. The lack of this ability, the psychologist said, results in the retardation of school progress and is believed to be one of the causes of a child drifting into truancy or incorrigibility. When his inability is overcome the child gains self-confidence and his behavior improves.

"It is not true that a child unable to read is always lazy or stupid," said Miss Monroe, who is the author of the book, "Children Who Cannot Read," published recently by the University of Chicago Press. "Many a bright child cannot read although he can comprehend material read to him while there are defective children who read fluently, but are unable to deal intelligently with the material read."

Asserts N. Y. Women Are Using Pipes

New York, April 7.—(AP)—Pipe smoking, which some foolish men thought no woman would dare take up, is the fad of the moment among many of Park avenue's debutantes and society matrons.

Full credit for the vogue was claimed today by Archibald Charles Montague Brabazon Acheson, fifth earl of Gosford, grandson of the duke of Manchester, and a son of the lady of the bedchamber to her majesty the queen of England.

Lord Gosford sat in a plush carpeted suite overlooking Central park, puffing on a miniature pipe—a three inch, one ounce briar. It's his own idea, he designed it for himself. He never intended, he says, that any copies should be made. But—

"When I came to America I found most of all the ladies I met smoking cigarets.

"Then I thought of my little pipe. I had it made because I wanted to smoke between the acts at the theater and at dinner parties, yet an ordinary pipe ruins the profile of a dinner coat. "This one solved my problem.

"I decided it would be just the thing for your American women, so I had a few made for my friends. Now, everywhere I go I see beautiful ladies puffing on pipes."

Lord Gosford warns feminine pipe-smokers not to use ordinary masculine tobacco, which he calls "fine for the out-of-doors, but horrible in a parlor." For women and husbands whose wives won't let them smoke indoors he recommends very mild, very fragrant blends.

By careful, scientific experimenting the English lord has discovered his miniature pipe holds half the tobacco a cigarette does, yet lasts twice as long. "And," he says, "it has taught a lot of ladies what contentment there is in a good pipe."

The Northeast-Central section of the American Association of University Women, including members from Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, and Wisconsin, will hold a biennial conference today and tomorrow at South Bend, Ind. Miss Lucy Williams of Springfield is chairman for the Illinois state unit, which is composed of 17 colleges.

Fellows from the organization work in this country and in Europe on problems of public health, immigration, chemistry, and child study. There are now five international fellowships and eight in the United States. The Illinois fellowship is to be given the name of Marion Talbot, former dean of women at the University of Chicago, now president of the Constantinople Woman's college in Turkey.

Mrs. Caspar Platt of Danville is president of the state organization and Miss Florence S. Robnett, dean of women at Northwestern, is vice president.

Service Club Sets Revue Date and Launches Plans for Show

Start Work on Project That Raises $20,000 for Charity Every Year.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE SERVICE CLUB, undaunted by the growing dubiousness with which philanthropic workers are looking upon large benefits, has fixed the date for its annual revue and is already setting about the mechanics of putting over the big show which annually makes about $20,000 for charity.

At a board meeting held this week at the residence of the president, Mrs. Stanley Zaring, the girls decided that the performance shall be given on Oct. 22. It will be held at the Civic Opera house and if the ticket selling committees are as aggressive as their predecessors the huge auditorium will be packed to its topmost gallery.

A general meeting will be held next Monday morning at Mrs. Zaring's residence to discuss further plans. Chairmen will be appointed for the various groups of girls who will be assigned to handle the hundred and one preliminary details next fall. Such forehandedness is essential to the smooth management of the revue for which actual rehearsing will not begin until about a month before the date of its presentation.

Map Jobs Before Vacations.

Most of the girls who take part in or help to manage the show will be away until September on summer vacations, but with their jobs mapped out for them they will be at the Monday meeting; they will be ready to go to work immediately after their return to Chicago.

The backbone of the show will be, as usual, the dancing and singing chorus of next winter's debutantes. The entire crop of buds is invited to appear in the revue and to join the organization each year, and only those girls who go back to school after making their bows miss the opportunity to appear before the footlights.

The success of the show is due to strenuous rehearsals, the sale of programs and the disposal of tickets and boxes. Every girl in the show can count on selling tickets to her family and friends and the girls who work on the executive end sell dozens of tickets apiece and take parties of guests of their own in addition. Thus the opera house on the night of the Service club revue is as brilliant socially as any assemblage of the winter.

Mrs. Ellen Root to Leave Chicago.

Chicago society will be bidding farewell to one of its popular and talented members about May 1 when Mrs. Ellen Dudley Root leaves for New York, as she is giving up her apartment here and moving east at that time. She and her daughter, Denise, will go abroad for the summer, probably to the island of Majorca in the Balearic islands, but they will return to New York in the early autumn. Mrs. Root, who has been active in amateur theatricals and was with the Goodman Players, has several offers, I'm told, to go on the professional stage in New York next fall, but she will not make a decision about this important undertaking until after she returns from abroad.

Had you heard that the Double Six club in New York, that swanky and exclusive backgammon club which was decorated by the late Mrs. John Alden Carpenter, had been closed on account of the ———. It isn't necessary to write the overworked and hated word, is it?

Renaissance Society Tea.

The tea that the Renaissance society of the University of Chicago gave yesterday in Wieboldt hall for Isamu Noguchi and to open an exhibition of his sculpture and drawings was of especial interest because busts of John Alden Carpenter and Thornton Wilder, just finished, were included in the exhibition.

It is not my business to give an opinion on the artistic value of the portraits—that is Miss Jewett's department—but I can say that yesterday every one, especially those who know the subjects well, was most enthusiastic about them. Mrs. Martin D. Schutze, president of the society, received, and Mrs. Dallas B. Phemister was in charge of the tea table, with Mrs. Waller Borden and Mrs. John Storrs pouring. Some of those at the tea were Mrs. William A. Nitze, Mr. and Mrs. Frank R. Lillie, Mrs. Walter S. Brewster, Mrs. John U. Nef, Mrs. Howard Cunningham, Mrs. Quincy Wright, Mme. Galka Scheyer, and Miss Alice Roullier.

For the first time in their lives the Kohlsaat sisters, Susanne and Cynthia, are to be separated, for Susanne and her husband, Franklin Agnew Jr., are moving next Monday from Evanston to New York, leaving Cynthia and her husband, Edward M. Harkness, and their baby son in the apartment building on Kedzie avenue in Evanston, in which the two young couples have lived since their double marriage about a year and a half ago.

Edward C. Kohlsaat Jr., Mrs. Agnew's and Mrs. Harkness' brother, and his young wife, who also lived in the Kedzie avenue building, moved east last fall and they have gotten an apartment for the Agnews in the same building in which they live at 225 East 79th street. Now if only Mr. Harkness can maneuver it so that his business is moved east, the three families can be together again! Mrs. Kohlsaat Sr. of Winnetka is visiting her son and his wife in New York, and plans to remain there for several weeks after the Agnews arrive.

Notes from Palm Beach

Palm Beach notes: Mrs. Joseph B. Long has concluded her sojourn at the Everglades club and now is in New York, at the Ritz, contemplating a renewal of the lease she had last year on a charming house on Long Island. She is expected to return to Chicago about the 15th of the month—Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Klotz of Winnetka are remaining late this season enjoying the golf at the two Palm Beach clubs which remain open throughout the spring. The Klotz' eldest daughter, Mrs. Austin Pardue, did not pay her usual visit to Palm Beach this year—Mrs. Harry H. Shearson will remain in Palm Beach until April 26th. Mrs. Shearson has had a busy winter as second vice president of the Palm Beach Playhouse.

Mrs. Norman H. Pritchard and Mrs. Oliver Kline are visiting at the Junior league quarters in the Waldorf-Astoria in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Otis Jr. will return today from a short stay in New York. Dr. and Mrs. Robert H. Harvey, who are also in New York, will be back on Saturday.

The English-Speaking Union will hold its annual meeting and luncheon on Saturday, April 16, at 12:15 o'clock at the Palmer house. Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, President of Columbia university, will address the meeting on the subject of "The English-Speaking Peoples and the Next Step Forward."

Joint Recital at Goodman.

Milla Dominguez, soprano, and Clarita Martin [Mrs. Mellen C. Martin], exponent of Spanish dancing, will give their second joint recital on Sunday evening, April 22, at the Goodman theater. Milla Dominguez in private life is Mrs. Adolfo G. Dominguez, wife of the Mexican vice consul in Chicago. The Mexican ambassador, Dr. J. M. Puig Casauranc, is expected to come from Washington for the recital.

"Manabozo," the operatic piece for which Francis Nielson wrote the libretto and William Lester the music, will be presented this evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Nielson at 4800 Drexel boulevard. Proceeds will benefit the Lincoln Center camp and the Friday Morning forum.

The Country Club of Evanston will hold its final formal party of the season this evening.

TRIBUNE OPENS COMPETITION FOR GARDEN HONORS

Contest Entries Must Be in Mail by May 4.

BY PAUL POTTER.

The outstanding flower gardens and residence landscapings of Chicago and the suburbs within 40 miles of Tribune Tower will be given special recognition by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE this spring.

The competition will be open to all amateur gardeners, whether home owners or renters, and is to follow THE TRIBUNE'S annual practice of encouraging the beautifying of residences throughout the metropolitan area. No professional gardeners or those who accept pay for lawn or garden care will be recognized.

How to Enter Competition.

Any one in the family may enter this competition, in which will be selected THE TRIBUNE'S 1932 Honor Roll of Outstanding Gardens. Entry may be made by getting the signatures of two neighbors or friends to a statement that the entrant's work is entirely nonprofessional. Or any two neighbors may nominate for the honor some one whose garden they believe is worthy of public recognition.

With the increasing interest in home gardening and the fact that more leisure time is available to many this spring for improving yards and gardens, THE TRIBUNE'S garden competition is expected to stimulate the beautifying of thousands of Chicago and suburban homesites.

Vacant lots which have been landscaped and made into sightly spots also may be entered in the competition. This landscaping of vacant lots, it is pointed out, makes them more valuable as residence sites.

Judging on Same Basis for All.

The judging in the competition, which will be done by impartial judges selected by THE TRIBUNE, will be on the same basis for every entrant. A score card developed and used for five years by THE TRIBUNE includes five major points to be considered. These are:

1. Relation of house and grounds.
2. Service or utility features of the yard.
3. Interest and value of garden plants.
4. Plant arrangements and charm of garden.
5. Originality and upkeep displayed by the competitor.

Those selected for the Honor Roll not only will receive public recognition, but will be awarded a handsome gold certificate saying that they are named on the Honor Roll of Outstanding Flower Gardens for 1932. No garden previously placed on the Honor Roll will be eligible for the 1932 competition, but upon failure to maintain the necessary standards these gardens may be stricken from the roll.

Five Divisions of Competition.

For the purposes of the competition, the metropolitan area is being divided into five sections so that gardens on the south side will be competing only with those in that locality. Similarly, west side gardens will not be competing with those on the north shore. Credit will be given by judges for those who develop gardens in difficult locations, such as in congested areas of the city.

There are 117 widely scattered amateur gardens in Chicago and suburbs on THE TRIBUNE'S Honor Roll. They were selected by judges in 1930 and 1931. Those falling short of the standard of recognition are given honorable mention and in succeeding contests may be awarded the coveted certificate.

Fifty-five gardeners have won honorable mention. Three Chicagoans and one Joliet gardener already have attained the Honor Roll standard after being given honorable mention in previous contests.

Entries for the competition must be mailed on or before midnight of May 4, 1932. Judges wil visit those localities first where flowers develop early because of seasonal conditions.

ASKS LAW TO BAR "CHISELING" OF CHARITY TRUSTS

Cites Directors as Offenders.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

"Chiseling" directors of charity trusts, particularly on hospital boards, were discussed at yesterday's sessions of the midwest conference on wise public giving, which closed last night at the Windermere hotel. The two day conference, called at the instance of the Federal Council of Churches, considered ways of improving the administration of endowment funds of colleges, church boards, and public institutions.

Charges that hospital trustees sometimes used their connection with such institutions for personal profit were made by Dr. William H. Walsh, hospital consultant, 612 North Michigan avenue. He asked the conference to rule on the propriety of such practices.

Urges Regulatory Laws.

Dr. Walsh declared that such abuses have arisen because of lack of statutory inhibitions to the misuse of trust funds by trustees. He appealed to the conference to sponsor legislation preventing such trustees from receiving "compensation or emolument, or from acquiring any personal interest through contracts or other business relation with the institution."

Dr. Walsh cited examples of trustee "chiseling" by architects who are board members who secure commissions on new buildings when more competent architects could have been employed. Insurance agents, Dr. Walsh asserted, are sometimes offenders. These agents, he said, have handled the insurance business of hospitals for which they were trustees, and unnecessary forms of insurance have been sold. Dr. Walsh cited other members of hospital boards who "have placed themselves on hospital pay rolls to fill positions for which they were unqualified."

The speaker further charged that some contractors and dealers in commodities profit through their hospital board membership.

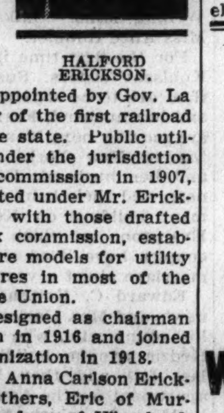
Cites Doctors as Offenders.

"Physicians," Dr. Walsh went on, "while acting as trustees, have taken advantage of their positions to influence and control the administration of hospitals so as to favor themselves in the use of hospital facilities at the expense of the trust."

The conference referred Dr. Walsh's charges to the committee on financial and fiduciary matters of the Federal Council of Churches. The committee will report its findings later.

ERICKSON, NOTED UTILITY EXPERT, TAKEN BY DEATH

Halford Erickson, vice president in charge of operations of the Byllesby Engineering and Management corporation, died yesterday in his home at 46 Washington boulevard, Oak Park. He was 67 years old.



HALFORD ERICKSON.

His earlier activities in the state of Wisconsin won Mr. Erickson the title of "father of state utility regulation." He served from 1895 to 1905 as commissioner of labor in the state, and in 1905 was appointed by Gov. La Follette a member of the first railroad commission in the state. Public utilities were put under the jurisdiction of the railroad commission in 1907, and the laws drafted under Mr. Erickson's supervision, with those drafted by the New York commission, established in 1907, were models for utility regulatory measures in most of the other states of the Union.

Mr. Erickson resigned as chairman of the commission in 1916 and joined the Byllesby organization in 1918.

His widow, Mrs. Anna Carlson Erickson, and two brothers, Eric of Murdock, Wis., and Andrew of Värmland, Sweden, survive. Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock tomorrow in the chapel at 720 Lake street, Oak Park.

5 MILLION LOAN VOTED TORNADO AREA BY SENATE

Democrats and G.O.P. Clash Over Bill.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 7.—[Special.]—With northern Republicans shouting, "In the name of economy, we can't spend $5,000,000," and southern Democrats yelling, "But what about that 500 million you gave the Reconstruction Finance corporation?" Senator Black [Dem., Ala.] today succeeded in getting the senate, by a 40 to 17 majority, to vote a $5,000,000 loan to the storm stricken areas in the southeast.

Logan Assails Measure.

The resolution authorizes the secretary of agriculture to make loans, through the treasury, of not more than $5,000 to any one individual storm victim in Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina and Kentucky. Mississippi, originally listed in the resolution, was withdrawn by Senator Black just before the vote.

In spite of the fact that he is from Kentucky, one of the beneficiary states, Senator Logan, Democrat, bitterly denounced the proposal as a departure from the fundamental principles of government. He chided Mr. Black for his promptness in getting to work on his resolution a few hours after news of the recent storm down south had reached the capital.

Fess Opposes Loan.

After Senator Fess [Rep., O.] had opposed the loan on the grounds of economy, Senator Black flung back at him, "O, yes, this fall you had plenty of money to rehabilitate J. P. Morgan, Kuhn Loeb & Co., and the railroads in the reconstruction program that we voted for, but today it's a different question. That's probably because the poor people injured by these storms are not stockholders in the big businesses represented in the political party of which the senator from Ohio is the national chairman."

'PRINCE' JOHN, SON OF EDWARD VII., IS DEAD IN THE WEST

Los Angeles, Cal., April 7.—John Guelph de Windsor, who claimed to be the son of the late King Edward of England and who was known as Prince John, died here today of a heart attack.

According to his widow, Mrs. Jennie Warde, the "prince" was the son of Edward and the crown princess of Wales of the Plantagenet line, who was to have been Edward's queen, but whose romance was halted when Queen Victoria led her son into marriage with Alexandra, Danish princess, mother of the present King George IV.

De Windsor was educated mainly at colleges in India after the marriage of King Edward, coming to America in 1900.

FUNERAL RITES TO BE HELD FOR GUY SEEM TODAY

Funeral services will be held this afternoon at 4717 Broadway for Guy W. Seem, public relations counsel and labor news reporter, who died on Tuesday night in Grant hospital after an emergency operation for appendicitis. Mr. Seem was 38 years old and lived at 3270 Sheridan road.

As head of Guy W. Seem & Co. he handled the publicity for many large business concerns throughout the country. At the time of his death he was handling publicity in the campaign of Judge Henry Horner, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Early in his career Mr. Seem became interested in the labor movement and after a number of years as publicity representative for the American Federation of Labor he became successively labor reporter for the Associated Press and the New York Times. Later he was public relations representative for S. W. Straus & Co., after which he came to Chicago and founded his own organization.

Mr. Seem is survived by his widow, Mrs. Laura Kraetzer Seem.

WOMAN'S DEATH ACCIDENTAL.

A coroner's jury decided yesterday that the death of Miss Hilda Kalish, 23 years old, 5230 Drexel avenue, who died Wednesday in the Woodlawn hospital of an overdose of sleeping medicine, was accidental.

Dutch Garden Is Symbol of Tulip History

Plot at the Flower Show Is Typical of Holland.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

Of course, you have visited, or have plans for visiting, the big flower and garden show that stretches a mile into Lake Michigan on Navy pier! It's a superb display of blooms, border plantings, garden retreats, table settings, and mantel decorations, and brings to light, incidentally, many of the hidden talents of Illinois garden club members.

There is so much to see, you will, unless accustomed to days and weeks in European art galleries, linger only with one or two favorite exhibits. To judge by the crowds that congregate here and there along the line, however, it isn't difficult to discover some of these favorites. One is the little Dutch garden recommended by the first unit of the Freeport Garden club as a skillful treatment for the often unsightly back door. It's really worth a trip all the way to the end of the pier, but for the relief of those troubled with foot weariness, guides announce that it is less than half way out.

A splash of yellow, then a splash of blue—here a tulip and there a hyacinth—the little garden is so typical of the plots we always associate with the "land of the wooden shoes." The doorstep forming the background is swept clean as any Dutch "stoop" should be, the family's wooden footgear in lined up row on row outside the screen door, and the window shutters carry out the colorings of the flowers nestling close to the garden wall.

A pretty picture! Mrs. William L. Karcher, president of the Garden Club of Illinois and also a member of the Freeport club, explains that the inspiration for the exhibit came from the old Dutch and German settlers who gathered during the last century in the valleys around about Freeport. Although, we understand, she was responsible, at least in part, for planning the garden, she gives all of the credit to Mrs. Arthur Rasmussen, Mrs. L. O. Hill, and Mrs. William Schroeder.

Appropriate it is, indeed, that Holland was taken as the inspiration for at least one of the miniature exhibits since the very word is synonymous with gardening, hyacinths, and tulips. For centuries The Netherlands has been known as the garden of Europe and its people without equals as the growers of plants.

In particular, the tulip, undoubtedly the country's national flower. This name, you know, was appropriated from the Persian language and means a turban. No wonder some of us think of a hat atop an oriental when we see the gay petaled cup! Its origin is lost beyond recovery. Although the derivation is frequently given as "tulipa Gasneriana," this merely means that in 1753 Linnæus grouped all the garden tulips under this name for convenience sake. At least two centuries previous the flowers had been known to some Europeans and the Turks in particular.

The story is told that Clusius carried the first specimens into Holland in 1591 and that the best of his plants were snatched from him by admirers of the flower who were unwilling to pay the high prices he demanded. After this introduction propagation proceeded rapidly, resulting within a century in the celebrated "tulipomania" of 1634. For four years the little bulbs brought a higher price in Holland than precious metals. A single bulb of the "Semper Augustus" sold for 13,000 guilders. The Horticultural Society of Haarlem offered a prize of 100,000 guilders, equal to $40,000, for a black tulip.

Practically the whole nation became infatuated and contracts were signed for immense sums of money paid for bulbs never seen by either buyer or seller. At last the government intervened, applying the law against gambling, the price of tulips fell to nothing, and a panic ensued. This story is told in detail by Alex Dumas in his book, "The Black Tulip."

In the 18th century propagation of the flower again settled down to a steady pace, bringing the great fields of tulips, spotted, striped, and speckled, fringed, waved, and festooned, that light up the Dutch landscape today.

Add to a hundred or more of these pretty flowers a few hyacinths, crocuses, and geraniums and you have the charming little retreat started with—pleasant, cheerful, a veritable living room out of doors. No wonder John D. Shedding has written, "The earth is riched and mankind happier for the Dutch garden."

Natural Line of the Eyebrows Is Preferred to Arty Curves

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

A little eyebrow tip that you might absorb for your next tweezing orgy is to employ the tweezer more actively along the underline of the brow. Most women do their own tweezing work along the upper rim of the eyebrow. I find you can often shape the line better from the under side. You can pull out more hair on the inner edges with improvement to the general contour.

Naturally, you do not want to try to change the natural line of the brow too much, although under certain circumstances this may be done with some effect of picturesqueness. But you have to be that kind of lady all way through. A bit exotic, interesting, unusual, if you are going in for unique eyebrow shaping.

You remember when we first started painting the lips the object was to try for a Cupid's bow. No one tries for that kind of mouth now. You follow the lines of your own mouth, large or small, thin lipped or thick. So it is with eyebrows. You do not try for a threadline, nor for any line that is markedly foreign to your own particular and natural line. You try to have the line slightly arched, which most eyebrows naturally are, with the thicker collection of hairs coming in the center of the line and fading away gradually to the outer corners.

For a long time we have had the tiny eyebrow brushes for daily shaping and brushing. Now, we have even tinier combs with which to tend these short hairs. I feel we women have overlooked an awfully good bet in not cultivating more generally the implements, especially since we have gone in for heavy powdering and all over face powdering. Powder does become imbedded in this eyebrow line. Too, the hairs are subject to the same response from stimulation as are the hairs on the head. And this daily use of small comb and brush along the line cannot help but have a stimulating effect.

It's a good habit to comb the eyebrow hairs up straight each day and work them down into line again with the small brush. Just that little action daily will tend to a better growth. The principle is the same as is advocated now in brushing the hair. Brushing the hair up instead of in downstrokes is found more stimulating to oil glands and to blood vessel feeding and nourishing hair roots.

Short, Smart Jackets Are Popular.

By RHEA SEEGER.

This battered old globe that goes around in circles day or night has witnessed a lot of spectacular debacles in the last two years . . . kingdoms have tottered and crashed into dust . . . kings and queens have joined the not so royal ranks of the unemployed . . . famous former buyers of luxuries are now engaged in the hectic pastime of bluffing the wolves that watch the front, as well as back door. But the world whirls groggily but gamely, and we whirl with it.

If there is any kind of a lining to these dingy clouds that depress our buying binges it isn't a silver one, it's pewter with lots of lead in it. Prices have sunk to a sea level so that prospective buyers can look without suffering the pangs of shell shock. Consequently we are surrounded with real bargains, and whether you know it or not, you are living and buying in the golden age of reason . . . an age that will go down in history for our descendants, telling of the breath taking low prices on necessities as well as luxuries that we are enjoying now.

Three years ago it took a pre-depression clothes allowance that was well nourished indeed to dabble with furs . . . but now after a regular California chamber of commerce winter, the best furriers practically present you with furs gratis . . . if you take your shopping seriously you will have found by this time the most extraordinary values ever featured in every fur shop in town.

Even the most cautious shopper must realize that this is the time to buy furs . . . buy now, and gloat this time next year. Shimmering silver fox scarfs are priced so low that you almost blush when you buy . . . it used to be the pet dream of thousands to crash the movies for the fabulous salaries that justified such regal splendor as silver foxes and ermine coats . . . but now you may buy them and wear them almost as casually as a silk or wool scarf.

And the prices on sables are no longer whispered . . . you may ask for sable delights in their dusky incomparable beauty, weaken, and then buy them, all without the assistance of an adding machine or any heavy withdrawals from your treasury. The same delightful financial state of prices is likewise available on fur coats . . . you can buy the finest and store for future smartness till winter howls in Chicago once again.

Having almost sun tanned during this last balmy winter season, we shall no doubt shiver and chill till well into May. A fur scarf is indispensable in this capricious climate. With prices around zero every fashion wise shopper will have furs.

Kolinsky scarfs and their prices are sensational . . . you can select two, three, four, five, or six skin scarfs that sell for a sum that will stun you for days. Fox skins in lovely summer shades . . . thick fluffy pelts with long luxurious brushes and yours for the singing song of the fewest dollars you have ever spent.

Short fur coats and capes and collars and tippets and pelerines in all sleek flat furs are ready for immediate wear . . . summer ermine, baronduki, lapin and galapin being the favored models. The coaching collar copied from the coachman coats pictured in Dickens' stories are smart and new in either lapin for daytime wear or white ermine for evening.

THE STAGE

Bernard Shaw's new play, "Too True to Be Good," reached New York last Monday night in a Theater Guild production after a month's performances in Boston and other cities of the eastern seaboard. The Broadway dramatic critics received it in a friendly mood, speaking of its long stretches of tedious garrulity without venom and of its occasional flashes of Shavian wit with geniality. No report of this play, however, can fail to convey the impression that it represents Shaw in the cackling old age of a fantastic blatherskite.

Here are a few excerpts from the New York press comment:

"What I found was a tired play by a tired man. . . . In the last speech of all, 'Too True to Be Good' flamed forth with the full glory of the old power. But what precedes it is a manuscript which is as melancholy in its general flatness as Shaw's valedictory is in its tone."—John Mason Brown in the Post.

"After seeing the new extravaganza at the Guild theater you will be bound to say that there is life in the old wizard yet, and that, though stale and sometimes flat, he seldom is unprofitable."—Percy Hammond in the Herald Tribune.

"'Too True to Be Good' is not a play at all. But it is a good grade B Shavian symposium, ardent, artless, adrip with questions and answers any disbelieving schoolboy ought to know. Mr. Shaw, you gather, is beginning to take the world seriously.

"The old cackle has not dried away into a dry rustling. The famous glitter is still there, and something of the old moral fervor. And the Shavian abundance of opinion on all questions under the sun is unabated. . . . The theme of the play is merely the sum total of Shaw's beliefs on various subjects."—Richard Lockridge in the Sun.

Charles Butterworth, last seen here in "Sweet Adeline," has been engaged for the revue that Max Gordon, producer of "The Band Wagon," will stage in New York late in the summer. . . . Jacqueline Logan, the motion picture actress, will appear in the play called "Coast to Coast," which is scheduled for a première in Boston April 18.

George White sends word that he will announce the date of the opening of his "Scandals" at the Civic Opera house within the next fortnight. He adds:

"I want to go on record now to the effect that I am highly honored in having been able to secure the Civic Opera house for the Chicago run of my revue. While its large seating capacity will permit me to inaugurate a popular scale of prices I am not unmindful of the fact that its perfectly equipped stage and the general atmosphere of this institution will enhance the value of my production." Devil Has Control of Talkies, Church Editor Declares

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 7.—"The truth about the talkies is that they are produced in an unmoral atmosphere which in the strictest sense of the word is diabolical. The devil is in full control of modern film production."

This statement was made today by the Rev. Dr. B. Gregory, editor of the Methodist Times, at the National Free church assembly at Blackpool. "Films have stripped women not only of clothing but of morals, decency, and fidelity and their other civilized qualities and virtues," Gregory said. He added that there is little hope in censorship for his experience in London, where plays were censored by the lord chamberlain, shows that plays distinctly subversive in tone were licensed while plays with a definite religious message were banned.

Child of Two Listens Only to the Agreeable

'Doesn't Hear' Other Sort of Requests.

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

"I have a two and a half year old child who 'doesn't hear' any requests unless they are very agreeable."

Now, that's what I call excellent mother training. There's a baby who has the right idea. Fine for mother's self-control [maybe!]. Good to fix the right home atmosphere. A masterly two and a half year old, I should say.

No, but really arent' they just too clever, these little soft, delectable looking treasures who, according to all the laws of matter, should be completely in our power?

"The irony of it," one mother writes, "that a little baby thing can make a nervous wreck of me by 6 o'clock."

"The irony of it" is right. The entirely unconscious way in which they can become master of the home situation wouldn't sound plausible to you if you hadn't seen it happen.

Unless you have the key to the whole business, unless you're rather clever, yourself, they're going to get the better of you. They can't help it. They're in the grip of forces stronger than they—stronger than we. Life is pulsing in them, urging them on to get what they want by hook or crook, inspiring them to be themselves, unfettered and untrammelled, spurring them on to learn everything they can by adventure and experiment.

These forces are powerful in them, but when they are blocked or misdirected, the child suffers and the family, too. These forces of growth, of natural development need to be given useful channels for their outlet if the child is to be happy and at peace.

It is not, after all, so very difficult. What we need is to know why they act as they do and to recognize the legitimacy of this great energy of children. We should be wise enough to be glad that they aren't like soft lumps of clay that will take every impress of the potter's thumb. How dreadful and how uninteresting that would be.

This must be our attitude. Then we can learn how to handle this wonderful human material that we call "our babies."

ZOMBIE with Pauline Starke

The Woman Hater

BY MAY EDGINTON

SYNOPSIS.

Faire Chapelle is the stepdaughter of Ma Chapelle, who owns Flaxen's Casino, a café of ill repute, near the waterfront of Port Bai. Faire and Aya, Ma's daughter by her first husband of dubious color, assist in Flaxen's. The Chapelles are looked upon as outcasts by respectable island residents. Faire feels their attitude keenly because her father was of unimpeachable antecedents. He had brought her as a little girl into these unsavory surroundings and left her there at his death. She has kept aloof from all that Flaxen's represents.

Sir Philip Persian is governor and commander in chief of the Tama islands, Bai and St. Rosario. His young secretary and ward, Robert Grand, is involved in an affair with Mira Worcester, a faded beauty. Her husband has become suspicious. Sir Philip is anxious to save the boy from a scandal. Malise Bookes, the governor's aid de camp, forces Faire, through threats, to accept Mira's guilt. Sir Philip is furious when he learns what Bookes has done, and sends for Faire to try to make amends. He arranges passage for her to London, where her sister, Sheba, now Lady Rosewood, a widow, owns a famous beauty salon. Sheba takes Faire into the business. Malise Bookes, who was a former suitor of Sheba's, is sent home to London. Mira, who has returned to London, spreads malicious gossip about Faire, which Faire will not deny because of her affection for Sir Philip and her promise to him of secrecy. An estrangement develops between the sisters. Among Sheba's many clients, seeking the fount of youth, is Mary Chevronne, recently widowed, with whom Sir Philip had had a youthful affair, and feels honor bound to marry after his term expires. She is attracted to Faire and calls her to her home to give her treatments. Sir Philip returns.

INSTALLMENT XXXV.

JEALOUSY.

"Good-by, my sweet Faire."

"Good-by."

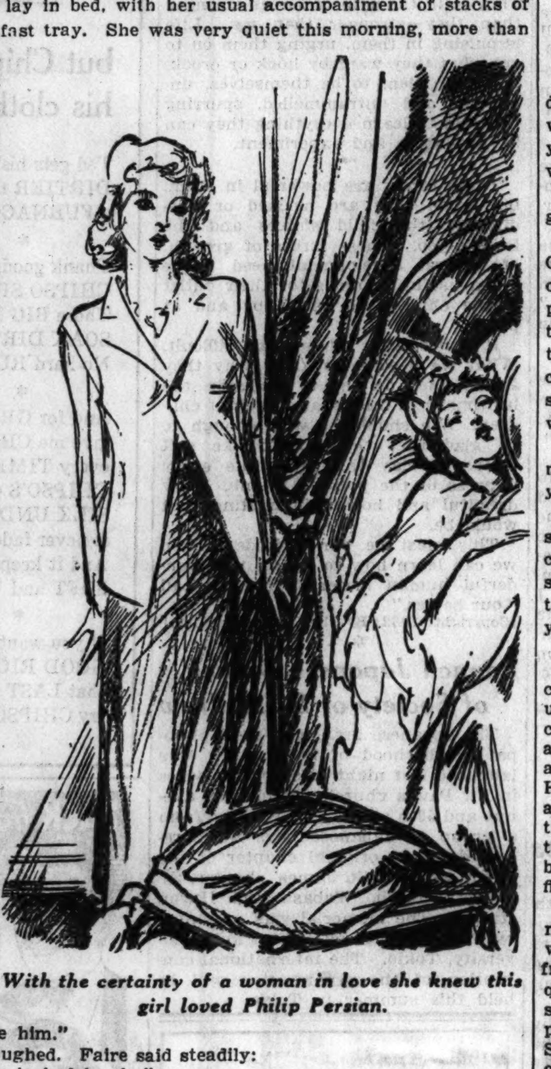
Philip went down the stairs, without a pause, not looking up and back as he reached landings or turns. And directly he had turned from her, she had her key in her lock, went in, shut her door. She knew what he knew—that one look back, one broken last word to call that look, and she would not be thus, alone. But she was alone, and she knew that tomorrow, all the tomorrows, were Mary Chevronne's.

. . . .

She was at Mary Chevronne's house the next morning, fortified. This marvelous fortification was strange, for if ever there was a day of renunciation, here was that day. But she had Persian's kiss still on her mouth; she could hear his voice at last surrendered to the passion of endearment:

"My darling." And "My sweet."

Mary Chevronne lay in bed, with her usual accompaniment of stacks of letters, papers, breakfast tray. She was very quiet this morning, more than ever pale, and still. Yet there was a thrill, an excitement to her indubitable suspense, like the thrill an actress may feel before playing a big scene on the first night of a new play. She smiled but did not speak, while Faire went over to the dressing table, spread her cream pots and lotions, made all ready for the fight for beauty.



With the certainty of a woman in love she knew this girl loved Philip Persian.

In the glass she glanced and saw Mary Chevronne watching her with an unfathomable expression, not the lost and anxious and hagridden look that she had worn yesterday, but a look of purpose and glory. O, strange woman lighted and warmed by so many fires! Faire thought this. And slowly and still like a woman rehearsing a wonderful part, Mrs. Chevronne got out of bed, had her chiffon wrapper hung upon her by maid, and came forward to sink on the dressing seat.

"Faire."

"Yes."

"I was a coward yesterday. I was afraid and did not see him."

Mrs. Chevronne laughed. Faire said steadily:

"I am sorry. You looked lovely."

"And this morning how do I look?"

The question need neither have been asked nor answered. It was a wrecked woman who looked out from the glass at them both.

"All your work yesterday was useless you see, child. Within five minutes of your leaving I had destroyed it. So easily destroyed, you see! And so foolishly."

"Can't you try to keep quiet, Mrs. Chevronne? To master your nerves? To feel confidence in yourself?"

"Confidence, my dear? Bend close to me, and look in the glass."

Their heads were near together; the head of 22 and the head of 55.

"That is why I cannot deceive myself," said Mary Chevronne in a very quiet and yet an almost satisfied voice. "It has gone. Gone! Nothing comes back."

"We will make it come back."

Mary Chevronne smiled. "Yes," she whispered. "I am going to look very beautiful today." She submitted herself. Never had she so submitted, so relaxed.

"That's good," Faire kept murmuring, "now you're quiet. Today it will be a wonderful success. It will all be different today."

"Yes, my dear. It will all be different today. And I must really be lovely. I must really be young. You must make me up as if I were going on the stage to play heroine. And that's what I am going to do—play heroine."

"Keep quite quiet, Mrs. Chevronne."

"Yes."

"I want to be quite, quite ready. Quite, quite perfect. This time I shall be brave and see him. And I want him always to remember what I looked like the first minute when he came back to me."

The work began as usual.

"There is something that never dies, girl, anyway. A woman's pride and her vanity."

Then silence while Faire worked on.

As usual, a very light luncheon of egg dishes and fruit was served to them in the boudoir. Mary Chevronne drank wine.

She talked a little, but only desultorily.

"Faire, you'd never tell any one how much you do for me? You'd never tell Philip in any circumstances whatever, how I can look when I look my age? Do I shock you even by asking for a promise? You dear girl, I know I have your promise. Only I had thought and agonized so much . . . all last night I didn't sleep . . . drugs were no good. . . . I came to this great conclusion—don't be afraid, I told myself. See him today. Be brave. . . ."

"You are brave."

She uttered it mechanically.

"Nothing will stop me seeing him today, Faire," said Mary in a soft voice. "And he shall see me looking wonderful. Just as I used to look. Do you know what he used to say? That I made him breathless simply with my beauty, Faire."

"Please, Mrs. Chevronne. . . .

These words were a cry, quietly as they were whispered. Mary Chevronne looked swiftly into her mirror and was very still. And now she felt whole worlds of knowledge and emotion, jealousy, and pain passing over her, through her like a strong current of fire in every vein. In the glass she saw the fair pale girl and, with the terrible certainty of a woman in love, she knew. This girl loved Philip Persian. But keeping motionless with an effort of will so great that at last it set her trembling, and the trembling had, in turn, to be mastered, she said to herself: "What is it to me?"

Yet jealousy almost robbed her of the glory she was rehearsing; jealousy almost drove her back into the piteous woman she had been all yesterday and all the wakeful night. It was so sharp, the pang of that new flame of knowledge that even the saviors she had quoted, vanity and pride, scarcely upheld her.

But at last she was speaking again, smoothly, continuing as if no revelation had been made:

"I had such beauty. Such beauty! I used to have . . . quite spectacular triumphs, Faire. And Philip was my only lover."

Faire thought to herself as Mary Chevronne dreamed remorselessly on: "It doesn't matter. Nothing matters. Because last night was good-by. Help her. Help her to win to a little bit of what she wants. It's her life. Help her."

Suddenly Mary wanted to confess and confessed:

"Not my only lover. I won't lie to you today—I won't lie to any one today. But he was my last, and the one I loved the best." She watched the white face above hers in the mirror.

"He has come back to you."

On a note of gratification from which she could not have kept the savage, the triumphant, ring:

"Yes; he has come back to me, my dear."

Levee, Chicago Boy, Will Head Screen Guild

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., April 7.—The most discussed person in the movies this week is Mike [Michael C.] Levee, 39 year old ex-newsboy of the Chicago west side.

Levee has ideas and he has the golden touch.

One of his ideas is the Screen Guild, told about in these columns recently, which he recently founded to put profit sharing coöperation into the production of motion pictures so that all concerned—actors, director, camera man, writer, and business staff—can be working for themselves when they make a film.

As to his golden touch, Levee has never yet picked a loser in his 15 years as a movie business man.

Levee used to be in the cloak and suit business when he decided to crash the movie industry. He crashed so successfully that he ran $10,000 up to a profit of a cool $1,000,000 in seven years.

Born in Baltimore, brought to Chicago at the age of 1 year, Mike grew up in the old 14th ward, his father conducting a tailor shop at Taylor and Loomis street, while young Mike attended John Goodrich school from a Halsted street flat, took a short fling at an unfinished high school education at Medill High, and passed into the business world as a loop newsboy and later as page boy for loop firms.

Going into the cloak and suit business with more hope than finances when 19, he came to Los Angeles from Chicago when 21 and made acquaintance of a good looking brunette, screen name Yerza Dayne, who appeared in some short comedies with Shorty Hamilton and others at the old Ince studio. Miss Dayne [real name Rose Hirshkowitz—now Mrs. Levee and known to a host of friends in the film colony simply as "Mimi"] owned an automobile, and Bessie Barriscale, Charlie Ray and Louise Glaum didn't own one in those days. So Miss Dayne drove them to and from their studio.

Through her and her star friends Levee met a man at the studio who tried to promote the young cloak and suit man into financing a film. Levee heard the glowing tales of money to be made in the movies, and decided if they were only partly true the movie business would merit his own attention, so he left the cloak and suit industry to a kinsman to run and got a $20 a week job at the Fox studio as prop boy. In less than a year Levee had soaked up enough impressions of the inner workings of a studio to decide "there was gold in them hills."

Robert Brunton, then operating a good sized plant which rented sets, office space, and dressing rooms to individual producers, was one morning dejectedly eying a sheriff who had come to serve an attachment when Levee came along. Brunton had a studio but lacked ready cash; Levee had cash and wanted to run a studio; that's where the stake of $10,000 got its start toward $1,000,000.

Levee became one of a syndicate—all of whom were to make marks as movie magnates and millionaires—who took over Brunton's interest in the studio after a time and renamed it the United Studio. In the syndicate were Joseph Schenck, Motley Flint, original financial backer of Warner Bros., who was murdered in a Los Angeles courtroom; Watterson Rothacker, Lewis Selznick and Joseph Allen. Levee and Schenck, who admired in each other those traits of commercial successs which were to launch them on one of Hollywood's most clinging business friendships, became partners in a construction firm which did building work for their studio, and these two made money in two or three ways on everything that was done about the United Studio. Finally, Levee's syndicate disposed of the entire studio to the Paramount corporation six years ago and the deal netted his syndicate one of the grandest profits that ever was split in Hollywood.

Levee next went to the First National and was instumental in constructing its immense studios at Burbank.

That done, Levee rejoined Schenck with United Artists, until two years ago he became executive manager of Paramount studio, from which he resigned last week to launch the Screen Guild.

Levee has two children, 11 and 7, and several brothers, one living in Chicago.

Official Contract

By Charles True Adams

(International bridge authority; author of "Official Contract at Sight")

In contract bridge a guarded king often stops an adverse suit, provided that your opponents do not shoot from the wrong side. And very often this is entirely in your own control. Witness yesterday's play-a-problem, which was:

NORTH

♠—10

EAST
♠—9,8,7,6
♥—J,10
♦—7,6,5,3

SOUTH (Dealer)
♠—A,K,3,2
♥—K,9,8,7
♦—A,8
♣—7,6,5

South dealt and bid a spade. West overcalled with two diamonds (I think three diamonds would have been better). North went two spades. East passed. South bid two no-trumps, warning North that his spade suit was but of four cards and also showing the stop in the diamond suit. West now passed. North bid four spades and all passed.

West opened the ♦ K, North played the 4, East the 5, and declarer took the trick with the A. Declarer now sees that in order to make his contract he must establish the club suit. If, in establishing it, however, he allows East to come in the lead and lead a heart, all chance of game is gone. He, therefore, leads the ♣ 7 from his own hand and when West plays the J, ducks it from the dummy so that the lead will come from his left and not from his right. West returned the ♦ Q, which North trumped with the ♠ 4. North then led the ♠ Q, followed by the ♠ J and, to the sixth trick, led the ♣ K to be sure that the clubs were set up before taking out the rest of the trumps. Since both East and West followed to trick six, dummy now led the ♠ 5, which South overtook with the ♠ K. Declarer now led the ♠ A, clearing that suit. He then led the ♣ 6 to dummy's ♣ A. Dummy then took the tenth and eleventh tricks with the ♣ 4-3, conceding the last two tricks to the opponents, North and South making four odd—their game and contract.

You can easily see that if South had allowed a club trick to be taken by East instead of West and thus given East the opportunity to lead a heart, the result would have been very different, indeed. Here is tomorrow's play-a-problem:

WEST

♠—10
♥—Q,4,2
♦—J,10,6,3,2

SOUTH (Dealer)
♠—J,8,7,4
♣—A,10

Bid and play this hand and then compare the result with that printed tomorrow.

Poacher Weds Flirt; Rewarded in Her Own Coin

Husband Soon Tires of Her, She Finds.

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Here's a valuable little document which we pass on to those hundreds of young women who view the married man as just as eligible prey as the single. It's a theme we've touched on here a number of times.

We have urged said young marriage wreckers to stop and consider the position of wives of the "stepping-out husband" type. We've pleaded for a little more sportsmanship from woman to woman. Experience being better than theory, we thank "Heavy Hearted" for her first hand contribution, and beg to assure you young women referred to that this is a bona fide admission:

"I am writing this with much humiliation, but with the hope that it might keep some other girls from falling as I did.

"Against my better judgment and what I had been taught, I started running around with married men. Thought it smart—and fun. They showed me a wonderful time. I loved the attention and presents I received. After a few years of this a married man and I fell in love.

"He divorced his wife and we were married. I thought at last I was perfectly happy. But now I'm getting a dose of my own medicine—and having to take it, too. He is going out with other women already. Now, he tells me that he never should have married a woman of my sort.

"Yes, I realize now what 'hell' the wives of stepping-out husbands go through.

"I am worse off than most of the wives, however. They can, at least, hold up their heads with a clear conscience, while I go on the rest of my life trying to live down my reputation.

"Girls, stick to your early principles and you will always be in a position to demand respect. Don't laugh about that old fashioned word, either. Respect is the one thing you prize more and more, the older you grow. HEAVY HEARTED."

And that may tell you, "Greta," what you should do about your married man intrigue. He sounds the perfect "stepper-out." He bears all, being misunderstood and all that. Those "orchids" of yours may be bought at the expense of the wife's need of shoes. Orchids, anyway, do not mean anything solid about a man's emotions.

Concert Goes Fugal; Writer Gives Praise

Symphony Introduces Two Specimens.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra suddenly went fugual last night, introducing two new specimens of this form of composition for the first time in these concerts. One, a Chorale and Fugue by Arnold Zemachson, turned out as to the chorale to be a dignified and impressive melody, and as to the fugue to be a well made if somewhat obvious bit of construction working up to a stirring climax. It was more lavishly applauded than any fugue has been in years.

For the second fugue Mr. Stock turned to Jaromir Weinberger's opera, "Schwanda, the Bagpipe Player," which during its five years of existence has had some 2,000 performances in Europe and a few in the season just closing at the Metropolitan Opera in New York. Here the fugue was coupled with a polka from the same work.

The two excerpts sounded as though they derived from Smetana's "The Bartered Bride," having meanwhile had a liberal education at the hands of some one like Richard Strauss. In other words, they are melodies of the most charming type dressed up in the modern modes of harmonization and orchestral coloring. If the rest of the opera is like them, it ought to be well worth hearing. The fugue started on a lively dance theme, developed itself, suddenly cut back to the tune of the polka and then become a fugue again.

Elsewhere on the program there was a performance of Glière's magnificent symphony, "Ilia Mourometz." It gets better every time it is heard, a matter not only of its great proportions but of the cheery good humor which pervades it. Any one who can enjoy the story of the superhuman, even preposterous Russian hero cannot help enjoying the symphony. The program closed with another bit of enjoyment, Johann Strauss' "Emperor" waltzes.

Shirring at Waist and Knees Is Sole Trimming of Red Silk Evening Frock

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

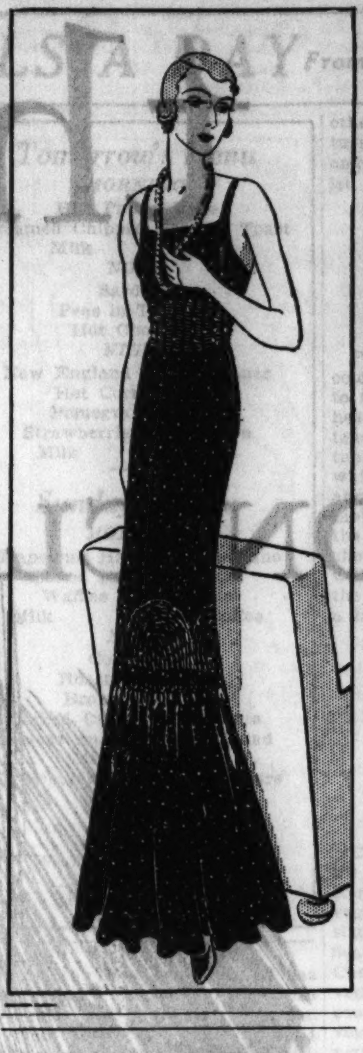
PARIS.—[Special.]—It is fashionable to be simple and practical in your dress this season. To appear to be so, at least. For instance, formal, luxurious looking evening dresses are largely abandoned for those that are plain and unpretentious. This effect is an ideal of the smart woman who is seen around Paris on warm spring evenings, and it has brought into vogue polka dotted silk organdies for such frocks. These silk organdies are not called by their real name but are variously dubbed organza and organdia.

Ducharne makes organdia, and makes it of real silk, but with the exact effect of cotton organdy, and it's simply ravishing.

The Yvonne Carette dress shown in our sketch today is made of organdia in a lively red with a white polka dotted pattern. The dress is a fitted sheath, just to the knees, with a wide band of shirred organdia at the waistline to give the smart high waistline effect and to avoid the difficulties presented by said high waistline, for the shirring makes it possible for a woman of genuine avoirdupois to wear this dress and not look silly therein.

At the knees, Yvonne Carette places a wide ruffle, which is headed by half-circle pieces of shirred organdia, and these shirrings become tucks where the ruffle actually begins. The skirt ends at the insteps. Very long skirts aren't much worn this season.

Observe the square décolleté of the bodice. Square necklines are in high fashion again.



De La Salle Prom.

The De La Salle senior prom, held under the auspices of De La Salle alumni, will be held this evening at the Congress hotel.

Museum of Science to Receive Portrait of Rosenwald Today

A portrait of its founder, the late Julius Rosenwald, is to be officially accepted today by the Museum of Science and Industry, it was announced last night. The portrait is by John Doctoroff, internationally known Chicago artist, who was given the commission after Mr. Rosenwald's death.

"We feel that the museum should contain a portrait of its founder," said W. Rufus Abbott, president of the board of trustees, "and we knew of no one better fitted to do such a portrait than Mr. Doctoroff, who had frequently drawn Mr. Rosenwald during his life. When the portrait was finished and Mr. Doctoroff had invited several persons who knew Mr. Rosenwald intimately to view it we realized that our hopes had been fulfilled.

"In accepting the portrait in the name of the museum, we feel that we are passing on to future generations who will benefit by the great technical museum a more enduring memorial to Julius Rosenwald than could be chiseled from cold marble or fashioned from unyielding bronze, because from the intimacy of the artist with his subject has sprung that subtlety of expression that only a full sized painting in oil can give."

The portrait is to be hung in the temporary offices of the museum until the building in Jackson park is ready to receive it.

Shorter Season, Pay Cuts Save Metropolitan Opera

New York, April 7.—(AP)—The Metropolitan Opera company, threatened with extinction because of heavy losses, apparently has straightened out its finances sufficiently to continue. Reports, apparently authentic, that the company would shorten its season and reduce prices next year were received by newspapers. The season will be 16 weeks instead of the present 24, it was understood, and the price of tickets will be slashed about 25 per cent. A voluntary pay cut by the singers and the rest of the personnel helped.

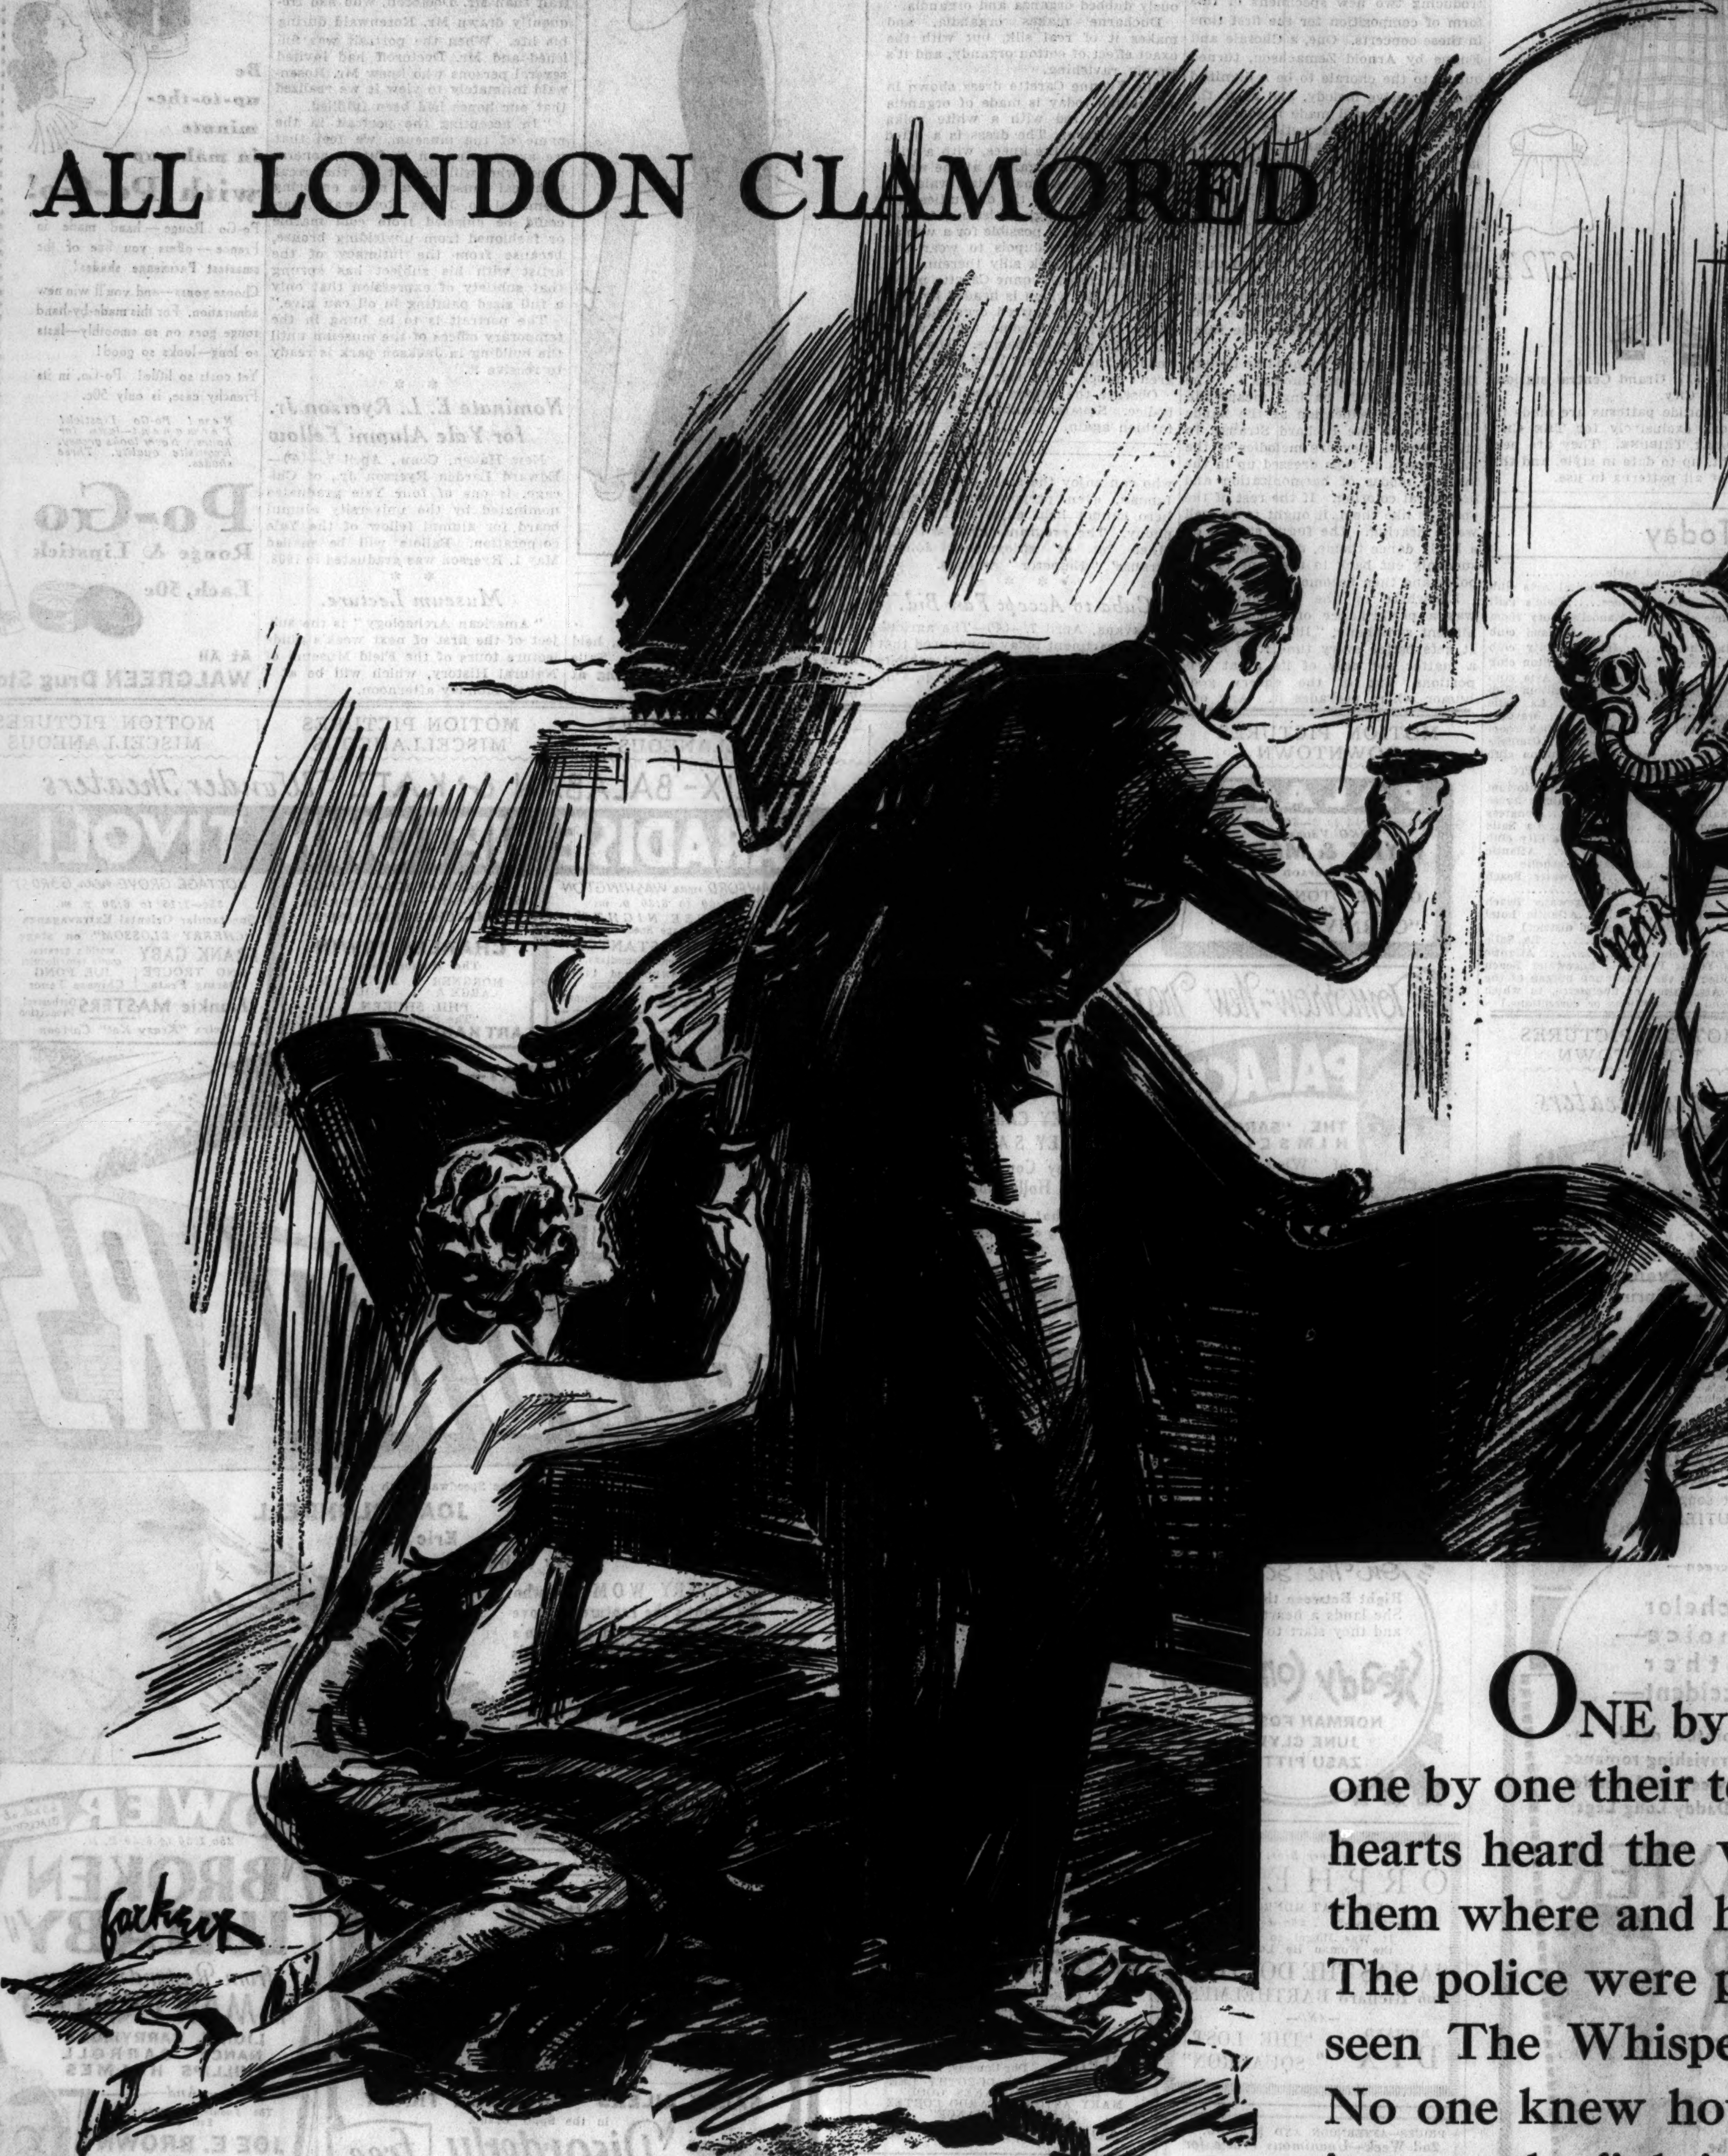
"Get the Whisperer"

ALL LONDON CLAMORED



"I've got the Whisperer!" Roland shouted. But he shot the wrong man!

ONE by one women disappeared . . . one by one their terrified husbands and sweethearts heard the voice on the radio directing them where and how to deliver the ransoms. The police were powerless. No one had ever seen The Whisperer—not even his victims. No one knew how he operated—until a daring youth, fighting a lone battle against an unseen foe for the life of his fiancee, tracked The Whisperer to his laboratory of death. . . .

SLOW COOKING IS NECESSARY IN PREPARING VEAL

This Meat Lends Itself to Many Dishes.

BY VIRGINIA THOMPSON.

Although veal is only young beef, it is strikingly different from beef in color, texture, and flavor. Veal has less hemoglobin than beef, which accounts for the delicate pink color of the meat; and the fatty element of young beef is white with a slight pinkish tinge. Veal also lacks the firmness of beef.

The wholesome cuts of veal much resemble those of lamb, and the method of cooking veal is much the same as that employed in cooking lamb. Because it is taken from a young animal, generally from six to eight weeks old, it must be thoroughly cooked. Though we often encounter veal "steaks," these should not be cooked like beefsteaks. Veal is always better cooked by slow roasting, baking, or some other method where moist heat is used. Due to the fact that veal does not have as much fat as beef, some other fat often is added in its cooking. Butter and pork fat are preferred.

Dishes Made with Veal.

Among the many dishes which may be made from this meat are veal birds, breaded veal cutlets, fricassee of veal, veal chops Bavarian, India curry, roast veal, veal pot pie, veal and ham pie, and innumerable veal loaves.

Veal round steak is taken from the leg of veal. This may be transformed into savory little "birds" stuffed with a sage and onion or perhaps a mushroom stuffing, or again the birds may be dusted with salted flour, seared in butter, and baked without stuffing.

The cook may cut the veal steak into two or three inch squares. Then the birds should be wiped with a damp cloth, pounded to about one-fourth inch thickness, and then spread with any preferred stuffing. The next step is to roll the meat up tightly and fasten it together with toothpicks or skewers, after which the birds are rolled in flour, seared in hot fat, and cooked with moist heat until tender. With a dash of parsley or watercress they make a most attractive offering on the meat platter.

From the loin of veal the veal loin chops and veal steak are taken. This is the highest priced cut of veal, and, like beef, is better for quick cooking due to its larger percentage of fat. However, the admonition of "slow cooking for young meats," to insure their digestibility, also holds true for these cuts.

Ease in Carving Is Important.

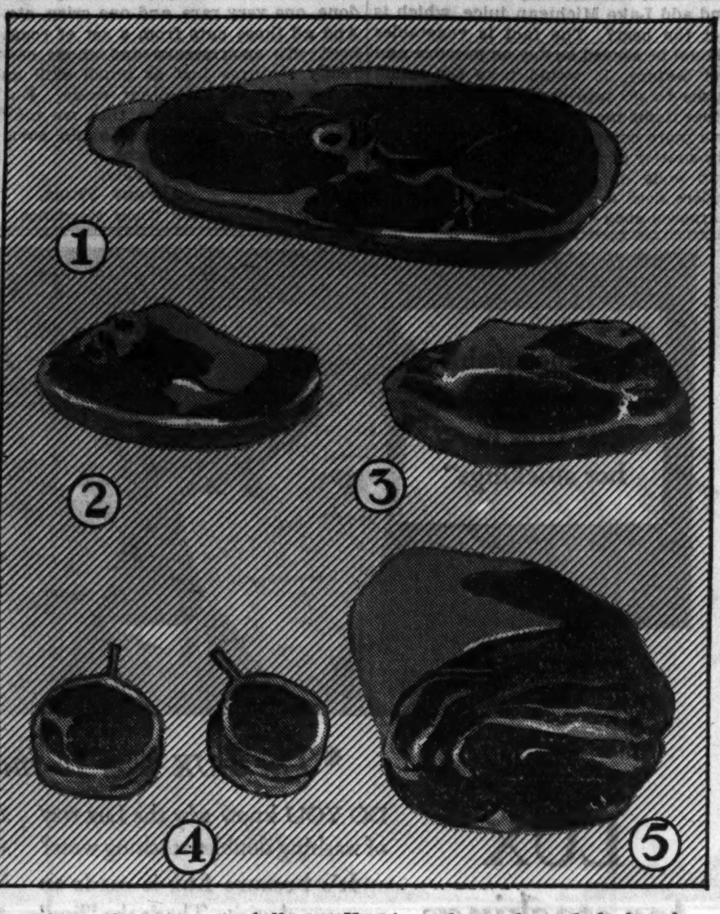
When the cook buys the shoulder of veal let her view it with an eye to its ease of carving. The master of the house will appreciate it if she has the butcher bone the meat, and then roll it. Or may be stuffed with a spicy dressing.

All the roasts of veal, whether they come from the leg, loin, rib, or shoulder, require the same roasting process. For each pound of meat take about three-fourths of a teaspoon of salt and one-eighth teaspoon of pepper. Dredge lightly with flour after these seasonings have been well rubbed into the meat. Place a little hot fat in the roasting pan and sear the meat in a very hot oven, about 525 degrees Fahrenheit. Sear for fifteen to twenty minutes, depending on the size of the roast.

Then reduce the oven temperature to "slow," or 275 degrees Fahrenheit, and roast the meat, uncovered, twenty minutes for each pound. You might add another ten minutes of slow roasting for good measure. Baste frequently, too, during the cooking with the fat in the bottom of the pan. No water is necessary.

One of the most agreeable things about veal is that it provides material for versatile left-over luncheon and dinner dishes. One of these is a veal soufflé, in which last Sunday's roast is unrecognizable. A second is a gourmand's idea of a meat loaf—this consists of a pint of chopped cooked veal combined with chopped sauted mushrooms and a dash of garlic. And a third is something new in veal stews, or perchance, we should say "veal ragout," as this is its more aristocratic title. Recipes for these and any other veal entrées may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Mary Meade, at THE TRIBUNE.

VEAL OF VARIOUS CUTS



The veal cuts are as follows: No. 1, veal round steak (taken from the leg); No. 2, veal loin chop; No. 3, veal loin steak; No. 4, veal bird (taken from the leg), and No. 5, rolled shoulder of veal.

KINGFISH LONG ADDS POTLIKKER, CORN PONE TO SENATORS' MENU

Washington, D. C., April 7.—[Special.]—Senator Huey [Call me Kingfish] Long [Dem., La.] loves his pot liquor. So today when he had sold the idea of this southern delicacy to the steward of the senate restaurant, he scribbled off the following announcement, the capitals are his, marked it "important" and sent it up to the bulletin board in the senate press gallery:

"Potlikker is at last a National Dish. It enters the Dining Room of the U. S. senate next Monday pursuant to arrangement, upon the arrival of Turnips and Turnip greens from Louisiana. Fat, Salt meat can be found here. Corn pone to accompany the delightful product will also be made."

Here's Senator Long's recipe for "potlikker."

Boil turnip greens, turnips and a piece of salt fat meat for several hours. The greens and turnips are then taken out and the liquid remaining is the "nectar of potlikker."

KISSES (CANDY KIND) TEMPTING AS OTHER KIND

If You Don't Believe It Try These Recipes.

BY IRENE STEYSKAL.

To borrow the songster's phrase, you may talk about your love affairs, but for high romance let April meet an artist.

In the studio their greeting would be a melody of golden sounds falling from a keyboard like sweet spring rain, or silver words fashioned into a singing net to catch the rhythms of returning wings and of tall young grass and new leaves that sway in ecstasy to the flutes of little winds. But if the kitchen is the rendezvous—well, what could be expected but kisses?

Here's Way to Make Them.

A facility for pet names is no negligible phase of the universally acclaimed technique of the presiding genius in the kitchen of the southland. For example, in New Orleans pecan kisses are "pralines." This is the way to produce them:

Add to the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs a half teaspoon of salt, a cup of light brown sugar and a cup and a half of pecans. The mixture should be placed in little mounds, dropped from the tip of the spoon, well apart on buttered tins. Pralines require from 45 minutes to an hour in a slow oven.

Date and Nut Kind.

Fully as satisfying as southern pralines are date and nut kisses. Beat the whites of two eggs stiffly. Fold into them a cup of powdered sugar, a cup of chopped walnut meats or blanched almonds, and three dozen dates that have been stoned and chopped. Drop the mixture into buttered tins, as for pralines, and bake until crisp in a slow oven.

For cocoanut kisses, fold into two stiffly beaten egg whites a half cup of powdered sugar, three quarters of a cup of shredded cocoanut and four or five drops of vanilla extract. Drop into buttered tins and bake in a slow oven until crisp.

Walnut Kisses.

THE TRIBUNE'S home economics department recommends this recipe for walnut kisses:

1¼ cups powdered sugar	3 egg whites
2 tablespoons flour	1 cup rolled walnut meats

Sift the sugar, flour, and nut meats together. Beat the egg whites until stiff and dry. Add the sugar mixture slowly. Drop from a teaspoon on a buttered baking sheet, and bake in a slow oven. When done, the kisses will be slightly brown on top.

THREE MEALS A DAY

From the Tribune Cook Book

BY MARY MEADE.

A man sent me a nice little brochure the other day about eggs. And while we all think highly of eggs, this man had divided people in general into classes, and told why each class should eat eggs. I thought he summed up the need well, so I'm passing on what he said.

1. Infants—because the iron in the yolk continues the good work their milk starts.

2. Children—because doctors have found that one egg a day supplies a child with minerals and vitamins in such degree that the omission of the eggs soon makes itself evident in the child's retarded development.

3. Adolescents—because egg proteins build body tissue effectively.

4. Adults—because eggs are rich in the vital vitamin A.

5. Elderly people—because eggs are easy to digest.

6. Convalescents—because the easily digested egg builds up tissue broken down by sickness, and because the yolk is a palatable source of what we call sunshine vitamins.

Eating eggs because they are good for us is reason enough, but they are also such adaptable and versatile things. Just the breakfast egg alone can appear in an almost limitless variety of forms. Try, for example, poaching eggs in cream instead of water. Use a small skillet, over a pan of boiling water. Pour a scant cup of thin cream [top milk is excellent] into the skillet and when it has a rim of small bubbles around the edge break two eggs into it. Season them well. Loosen the whites from the side of the pan at the first sign of opaqueness, and when the eggs are set serve them on a thick slice of toast.

Omelets are good luncheon dishes, as well as breakfast ones. I usually beat the yolks [with the addition of one or two extra ones left from baking that required only whites] with a tablespoon of cold water for each, and pour them into a large skillet swimming with hot butter. When this mixture has been well seasoned and has begun to cook I add the whites, beaten well, but not so stiff that they seem dry. And when they have cooked I cut the omelet down the middle with a pancake turner, pile the jam or peas or diced ham on one-half and flop the other over onto it with two pancake turners. You don't have to have an omelet pan to make a successful omelet, though it is a convenience.

NEW ENGLAND BOILED DINNER.

- 4 pounds corned beef.
- 4 white turnips.
- 1 small head cabbage.
- 4 carrots.
- 6 or 8 potatoes.
- 6 beets.
- 6 small onions.
- Pepper.

Put the meat into the kettle with cold water to cover. Bring it rapidly to the boiling point; skim; reduce the heat and simmer until the meat is tender. About an hour before serving time remove some of the liquid in which the meat has been cooking to another kettle and in it boil the vegetables which have been prepared, with the exception of the beets, which should be cooked separately, as they will color the other vegetables. When the vegetables are tender arrange on a large platter around the meat.

EGGS TETRAZZINI.

- 4 hard cooked eggs.
- ½ cup milk.
- ½ cup mushrooms.
- ½ cup diced celery.
- ¼ cup blanched almonds.
- 1 tsp. cooking sauce.
- ½ 4-ounce package spaghetti.
- 2 tsp. flour.
- 1 tbs. minced onion.
- 2 tbs. chopped green pepper.
- 4 tbs. butter.
- Salt to taste.

Cook the spaghetti in boiling water till tender. Brown almonds in butter. Remove almonds from pan and brown vegetables. Add flour and stir till slightly thickened, then add milk. Season with salt and cooking sauce. Chop three of the eggs and add to vegetables. To serve, pile spaghetti in center of hot platter, surround with vegetables and egg mixture and garnish with browned almonds and slices of egg.

QUANTITY BUYING OF CANNED FOODS CALLED ECONOMY

Buy by the dozen instead of the piece, the large size can instead of the small, to save money.

As much as 50 per cent sometimes may be saved by purchsing canned foods in quantity, expert buyers say.

Three small No. 1 cans, one and one-third cups each, hold the same amount as does one large No. 3 can, but the small ones may cost 15 cents more. It may be worth money to compare prices. The No. 2½ can of fruit, which holds three and one-half cups, may not cost three and one-half times as much as the picnic size, which contains only one cup. It is wise, of course, cooks point out, to make sure that the increased quantity will all be usable.

EATING HABITS OF NATION CHANGED BY REFRIGERATION

Quality Meats Available at All Times.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Little realized by the modern consumer are the vast changes that have come about in half a century of feeding a nation, all as the result of a single invention.

Unheralded as have been the electric light or the steam engine, the readjustments that affected consumers and the commerce and agriculture of the nation with the invention of the refrigerator car are nevertheless almost as striking.

For this reason Dr. A. W. Bitting, the veteran food authority who is directing the foods exhibits for Chicago's World's Fair next year, is planning to visualize for visitors the developments brought about by this invention. It will be one of the many stories of progress in a Century of Progress exposition.

Changed Food Habits.

"It is almost unbelievable what such an invention as that of the refrigerator car may do in changing the food habits of a whole nation," declares Dr. Bitting.

"Prior to its development in 1869, by a Chicagoan, the major meat packing operations were conducted only during the cool months. Fresh meat could be cured only during cold weather and nearly all meat for outside markets was pickled or cured.

"The cooper shop was a tremendously important adjunct to the meat business, with millions of barrels required. Fresh meat was available in those days only in local markets as it was slaughtered."

Boosted Meat Consumption.

But the refrigerator car changed all this. Meat was soon made available at all times and of better quality. Vastly increased consumption of meats resulted. This made the great stockyards and packingtown of Chicago possible and changed a seasonal to a continuous operation. Railroads became handlers of both live animals and dressed meats in enormous quantities.

"This effect," states Dr. Bitting, "carried through to the hotels and public eating places. A study of the menus from the eighties to about 1910 reveals the fact that meat was the important item, in great variety and served in large portions.

"That was a reflection of what was going on in the home. It was the meat eating age, made possible by the great herds on the western plains and the means of transportation to the market. Another trend is taking place with respect to meat in the diet at this time."

Slow to Develop.

Speaking academically, Dr. Bitting opines that men think slowly. It took years to apply the same principles of refrigeration and transportation to poultry and eggs.

"The result is the development of great egg producing centers and poultry feeding and dressing establishments where the work could be done under conditions which result in the best products for their special culinary purposes," Dr. Bitting explains. "It has resulted in the building up of income on thousands of small farms which in a measure take the place of the great pasture areas in supplying food for the nation."

It required another set of men to apply the same principles to the delivery of fresh fruits to distant markets. Perhaps it was fortunate that California was so far from the central and eastern markets that losses in transporting oranges were 50 per cent or more, an unprofitable distribution.

Orange Men Learn.

"The situation brought forth a Powell who studied the effect of temperature and other factors which contributed to keeping qualities and solved the problem which makes wealth for growers, adds revenue to freight lines and has so changed the diet that oranges have dropped from the luxury class to a healthful staple at low cost in every hamlet."

The principles of refrigeration that carry the foods from producing areas to consuming centers have since been applied to warehousing of reserve stocks of food. They have been utilized to enable storekeepers and housewives to maintain the quality of perishable products until ready for consumption.

Bacon Prices Are Down; Leg of Veal Cheaper, Too

In its regular weekly report issued for the guidance of consumers, the committee on marketing information of the meat council of Chicago states:

"Roast leg of veal and bacon represent the most economical buys in retail meat stores over the coming week-end. Recent declines in the wholesale prices of bacon have made this meat available at retail at prices lower than those which have prevailed for some time."

MACHINES PULL ALL THE GLAMOR OUT OF TAFFY

But They Can't Spin Yarns Like "Candy Man."

BY ROE FOWLER.

Candy making, for some reason or other, is considered one of the gentle arts. Yet one of the brawniest fellows I ever saw was the taffy man who used to come to town every year for the county fair.

Just to watch his muscles bulge was a delight, and we youngsters would be around the fair grounds the whole day before the fair opened, looking at the early exhibits and listening to the tales of the taffy man. As soon as his great sharp steel hook had been made fast to a tree, at about head height or a little higher, the taffy man was ready to hold court for the youngsters who gathered round his throne—a barrel.

Six Feet of Candy.

Like as not he would have his shirt off, and we marveled at his great hairy chest and his tattooed arms, while he told us tales of carnival life.

Meanwhile the taffy would be boiling in the old copper kettle under the watchful eye of Red's wife. The taffy man's name was Red Armstrong, and while he always mixed up the batch of taffy and put it onto the fire, he never cared to watch it cook. He left that to his wife, while he told of his many exploits.

When the taffy was cool enough Red would roll it into a great club of brown candy about six feet long and almost a foot in diameter. He would shoulder this plastic mass of sweets and carry it out to the great steel hook on the oak tree.

First Pull the Hardest.

There he would balance the club of candy across the hook and pull down on the ends until they met. Then would come the first long, hard pull. With every muscle straining, he would bear his weight down on the warm taffy. At first it would refuse to give, but he would continue to strain and pull. Then, slowly, the taffy would begin to string out.

How we kids would cheer this initial victory! Red would string the taffy out to about 12 feet and, gathering the end in both hands, would heave the great rope of brown stuff up into a loop, which fell with unerring precision around the hook.

Again and again he would lasso it, and with repeated pulling the taffy would begin to turn white. Then if it was to be pink taffy, the coloring would be added, and I wondered how the coloring, which was brown, could make the taffy pink.

Once the taffy was soft enough and sufficiently "worked," Red would unhook it and take it into his stand, where it would be placed in pans to harden, or pulled into strings which were in turn chopped into convenient pieces for chewing. If the taffy was hardened in the pans it would be broken up with a hammer and put into sacks which Red's fans would purchase, loyal to the last tooth.

That was almost 14 years ago, and Red's picturesque taffy hook and muscular performance have long since been supplanted by a machine that—I must confess—makes creamier and softer taffy. At that, if Red ever came back to the fair I would patronize him for old times' sake. Besides, no taffy machine has yet been invented that could tell such tales of adventures on the road.

WHAT THE COOKS SAY

Dear Food Editor: Are cooks public enemies? With about forty years of experience and study preparing and serving food in public eating places, both here and abroad, we feel that an article appearing in Friday's TRIBUNE of March 25 entitled "Too Many Cooks Spoil the Broth, Etc." was written by a person who is totally ignorant of the definition of chef or cook.

A few months work in a kitchen and a white jacket and cap does not make one a cook. On the contrary, it takes a good many years of hard work in kitchens with added study to become an expert in the preparation of food.

No one would think of taking an automobile or a watch to a blacksmith for repairs, but the delicate human system in many cases is entrusted for repairs or refilling to any one who claims to know how to cook, and who is nothing else but a bungler.

But now let us answer our friend, "Pro Bono Publico." His criticism of the cooks calls for an answer. Underdone pork chops, overdone Brussels sprouts and cold mashed potatoes, ye gods, what a combination to order in the first place; does our friend not know that to mix protein and starches is not advisable and is nothing but slow suicide?

Our friend marvels at the fine quality of food that flows into the Chicago markets and worries what happens to half of it. He answers this himself when he states and admits that there are places where cookery is entirely satisfactory. We stake our reputation that these places employ properly trained cooks, and hence serve good food. He would do us a genuine service if he carried out his own suggestion and did away with a few of those imitation cooks.

All vegetables mentioned in the article are excellent, providing they are cleaned and cooked right and of course the sooner they are eaten after being cooked the better they are. In most restaurants where insufficient help is employed it is very difficult to cook fresh vegetables every few minutes. Our friend also admits his ignorance by advocating pouring the juice off the vegetable and adding fresh water. Does he not know that the liquid of the peas for instance retains all the mineral salts, etc.? So why drain them off and add Lake Michigan juice, which is not the best? The fact is vegetables should be served as dry as possible and not watery. It would take too much space to go into details about all the other items mentioned, but we just add one more complaint. Take for instance the matter of roast beef. There are only two ends or outside cuts, but what orders does a poor waiter get for the harassed cook—six roast beef, one outside cut, one medium, one very well done, one very rare, and one crisp, etc. And all these cuts from a set of roast beef. To cook steaks and chops correctly requires just as much skill as is required in any other trade. But we will close and hope that we may all enjoy a glass of beer again some day which will help some.

Yours very truly,
ALFRED FRIES,
President, International Cooks association.

PADEREWSKI HAS A SWEET TOOTH, EVEN UNTO WINE

If Beverage Is Dry He'll Put Sugar Into It.

BY BETTY BROWNING.

"What do you suppose Paderewski eats?" This thought suddenly occurred to us as we stood with a thousand other concert goers in the half-lit auditorium applauding wildly after the great Pole's fourth and final encore. The echoes of a Chopin polonaise were still ringing in our ears.

Our companion turned her eyes from the door through which Paderewski had disappeared just long enough to give us a disdainful glance, and remarked, as she went on clapping, "What a question at a time like this!"

But backstage M. Sylwin Stzakacz, Paderewski's secretary, apparently considered it in quite another light; as an eminently reasonable question, in fact. He gave us to understand that the greatest living pianist, his country's first premier after its independence was regained, had not been too busy with music and diplomacy to make an art of eating also.

His Diet Is Simple.

"If you will but wait, mademoiselle, you may ask M. Paderewski about this, but now he talks to friends," M. Stzakacz informed us outside the door of Paderewski's little sitting room.

The door opened and Paderewski came out with his departing friends. Erect and commanding for all his 71 years, he swept the crowd with the assured and friendly gaze of one long habituated to such homage. Hopefully we stepped forward, but friends, it seemed, were to be succeeded by more friends and relatives and friends.

Finally we turned to M. Stzakacz, and declared our despair of interviewing Paderewski on such a subject at such a time. But surely he could help us? He deliberated, then summoned Paderewski's manager, much occupied in policing the throng. Further deliberations, then this:

M. Paderewski is particular about what he eats; in fact, for years a chef always accompanied him on tour. But his diet is very simple, as befits one so busy as he.

Much Sugar in His Diet.

If there is anything remarkable about his eating habits, it is, perhaps, that M. Paderewski has something of a sweet tooth. Sugar, certain source of ready energy, plays a large part in his diet. Plenty of sugar in his coffee and tea, sweet wine always, and when, as so frequently occurs in Anglo-Saxon countries, dry wines are served, sugar in them, yes, even in champagne!

M. Paderewski's day begins with breakfast at 11 or 11:30 o'clock. This consists invariably of half a grapefruit, a slice or two of toasted white bread, and a small cup of black coffee, both grapefruit and coffee having their full quota of sugar.

Luncheon comes at 2 or 3 o'clock. The introductory omelette is usually followed by lamb chops and string beans, asparagus or peas. A green salad of endives, lettuce or chives, with French or mayonnaise dressing, a fruit compote, and a demi-tasse complete the repast. The compote must consist of fresh fruits—cooked or preserved fruits he does not like.

Dines Well But Late.

At 6 o'clock M. Paderewski pauses for an interval of relexation and a cup of tea. His dinners are always very late, never before 11 or 11:30 o'clock, so that he may have a long evening for music, letter writing and his favorite contract.

Dinner begins with a rich cream soup and olives, of which M. Paderewski is very fond. Fish follows, preferably white fish, "your American pompano," or shad roe, but never shad itself. Then come chicken or roast beef, dessert and another cup of black coffee.

On concert days the régime is altered. Before a matinée a slice or two of ham and a cup of tea replace the luncheon, and the dinner hour is advanced to 8 o'clock. After an evening concert, dinner is frequently postponed to midnight or later. An unchanging ritual culminating all dinners after a concert is the serving of a sherbet, lemon, orange or strawberry.

At this point, the manager departed to quell a minor disorder in the ranks, leaving M. Stzakacz to inform us that of all the cuisines of the world M. Paderewski prefers the French. Parenthetically, he observed, is not Warsaw the Paris of eastern Europe? As for Polish dishes, M. Paderewski has many favorites, but tripe served in place of soup and in much the same state is perhaps his preference.

BUTTERMILK ENTERS THE LUNCHEON MENU

Attractive as is this luncheon setting, still more enticing are the uses to which the hostess has put the buttermilk used in making the muffin, in preparing the sauce for the milkfed veal and the sparkling glass of this healthful dairy product. A quart of buttermilk used in such a menu will furnish an economical luncheon for two persons.

LOWLY TOMATO RANKS HIGH IN CULINARY WORLD

From It We Get Good Soup and Catsup.

BY BETTY ECKERSALL.

A vegetable, important for its nutritive value, decorative worth, ease of preparation and condimental source, is the tomato. This vegetable, formerly known in France, England and America as the "love apple" and termed by the Italians the "golden apple," has only within the last three generations become a food of general use.

The history of the tomato is as varied as its many uses. It was cultivated in Mexico and Peru for many centuries prior to the advent of the Spaniards. By the end of the sixteenth century England knew of several varieties, and Gerard, surgeon and botanist, mentioned it in his "History of Plants." The Netherlands herbalist, Dodoens, mentioned it as early as 1583 as a vegetable to be eaten with pepper, salt, oil, and if preferred a little lemon juice.

First Sold for Food in 1835.

As far as any records show, the tomato was first produced and sold for food in 1835. Since that date it has grown in popularity until it takes its place next to the potato in commercial importance. The United States is the greatest per capita consumer and southern Italy comes next, where it is used in the preparation of, or as an accompaniment to, nearly every dish. Our northern states grow their own crops from June until November. The West Indies, southern states and the localized hothouses supply the winter and spring demand. And incidentally the hothouse production has increased more than 500 per cent during the last decade.

Tomatoes come in the category of green vegetables valuable as a source of mineral salts. The most abundant of these are compounds of potash which have an alkaline reaction and help to keep the blood supplied with alkali and also lower the acidity of the entire system. They also supply the blood with iron. Tomatoes, as well as other green vegetables, contain vitamins, to which the curative influence of fresh vegetables in scurvy is due. The sour taste in tomatoes is attributed to citric acid, not oxalic, as is often stated.

Good to Eat Raw.

When one realizes that green vegetables lose a great deal of their nutritive elements through cooking, the value of tomatoes is doubly stressed. For not only are they the easiest vegetable, with the exception of lettuce, to prepare, but they are also palatable eaten raw. The most important use of tomatoes on the daily menu is in salads. They may be served in conjunction with other vegetables, as in a combination salad, or merely sliced, and with the preferred dressing constitute the complete salad.

Then the subsidiary uses of tomatoes make up a large list, too. Used in soups, sandwiches, stews, condiments, sauces, as a cooked side dish, and last but not least, they are, second to the corn canning industry, one of the most important foods in the canning occupations. Catsup and chili sauce is another one of the tomato's major uses, and the production of these two sauces constitutes one of the leading industries of the world.

Canned tomatoes are the most widely consumed of all canned vegetables, and this popularity is thoroughly deserved, as for many culinary purposes they are more convenient than, and equally as good as, fresh vegetables. When a "tinny" flavor is noticeable in the canned product it can be alleviated by adding a little sliced onion during the heating, the average portion is about half a medium-sized mild onion to the contents of a three pound can. The quantity mentioned is not sufficient to give a perceptible onion flavor.

Many Varieties.

There are many varieties of tomatoes, ranging from the fancy generally small types, known by their resemblance to fruits as the currant species, which are acid in flavor and grow currant style in long clusters. The other tomatoes of this type are the pear-shaped, plum, peach, and cherry variety. These tomatoes are generally poor shippers and so are not used commercially, but for home demand only. These tiny species are also employed for pickling, eating raw, and preserving.

Italy has invented a commercial use for tomatoes that is rapidly forging its way to favor in this country. It is the manufacture of tomato paste, which is made from the pulp of the ripe vegetables, freed from skins, cores and seeds and concentrated by evaporation. This paste may be serviceably employed in many ways—in making sauces and flavoring soups, broths, and other dishes; also diluted as a soup; and undiluted for service with spaghetti and numerous other foods on which sauces would be efficacious. If served in a less concentrated form it is familiar as the tomato purée.

HIS HEALTH IMPROVED 40%

After Use of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

If you are constipated, read this letter which Mr. Murray had attested by Notary Public:

"Two months ago I commenced using Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to relieve constipation. I am in better health today than I have been in years, due to the use of your wonderful bran. My bowels move regularly, and my general health has improved 40%."—George A. Murray, 288 K Street, South Boston, Mass.

Laboratory tests show ALL-BRAN brings two things needed to correct common constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also furnishes iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Inside the body it forms a soft mass. Gently it clears the intestines of wastes.

How much better to use ALL-BRAN than to abuse your system with pills and drugs—often harmful.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation—in serious cases, with every meal. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Use as a cereal with milk or cream, or in cooking. At all grocers in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

IT'S CERTAINLY A TREAT TO SEE STUDENT STRIKE

It Proves College Isn't All Play.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Copyright: 1932: By The Chicago Tribune.]

New York, April 7.—The familiar complaint that American college students do not take life seriously enough is answered to some slight extent by the strike of the Columbia students in protest against the dismissal of Reed Harris, the boy editor, who began his career as an irritant by criticizing the football team and football itself.

This was something like throwing old garden truck at the royal guards, for the football team at an American school stands for tradition and the established order. The football men might be compared to the members of the decorative and dashing class of military officers at some royal court, and when the strike came and the strikers would have hung a crepe on the statue of alma mater, the football players tore it away and tapped a few strikers on the chin.

Harris Shows Possibilities.

Harris, the boy editor, did not do a very polished job of criticism in the course of his troublesome career, but then he is only a boy editor and college editors do not have the benefit of such expert coaching as the football players enjoy. They edit by instinct and Harris' instinct was to find fault, which has been a trait of many distinguished editors. Thus he naturally made himself a pest to his superiors and eventually they lost their temper and fired him, which was a great favor to Harris because by now undoubtedly he has been offered numerous opportunities to turn pro for the magazines and extend the scope of his fault finding.

Harris may develop into a great national fault finder and pest, but it does not follow that he will, because some phenomenal young editors, like some phenomenal young ball players, have distinct limitations and prove to be hopelessly bush league when they are tried out in fast company.

But the strike was a very grim affair, and though the most recent trouble arose from a dispute over the formula used in the manufacture of student hash in the refectory, or some such enormous triviality, the Columbia students on both sides showed something of that political consciousness which American youth had been blamed for lacking. Possibly from this start with the hash formula the student generation will go on to evince an interest and exert an influence in adult matters as the student groups of Europe are said to do.

He Was First, Anyway.

At any rate, though a conflict between a student editor and the faculty is by no means unique, Harris was the first college editor to start a row with the whole football institution and carry it through, realizing, of course, how unpopular this would make him with the conformist class, who are the greatest number. Football players threatened to bust him on the nose, the conformist response to all embarrassing criticism.

It was unfortunate that Harris happened to be the college editor in a school whose football institution is one of the least worst in the country. The president of the school has proposed the abolition of the turnstiles at the football games and Harris, excited complaint that football at Columbia was semi-pro referred only to the fact that the players were under the direction of professional coaches and were accorded a few privileges in compensation for the demands of football on their time and energy.

If he had been an editor at Southern California where a student on the football team was shadowed by private detectives on suspicion that he had betrayed the football signals to Notre Dame, he would have had material worthy of his squawk. The upshot of it was that the boy editor was compelled to build up his issues and yell for the troops to arrest a fellow for parking near a hydrant.

The Affair Was Encouraging.

Out of this beginning came the expulsion and the issue of the free press, one of the most reliable rabble baits known to man, and the strike was on.

So, for once anyway, there has been a straight challenge to football as a sacred American institution, with a considerable number of students tussling against the athletes who stormed into the Nevsky Prospekt with their medals clinking to put down this disrespect for the Emperor Osky-Wow-Wow.

The demonstration will be slightly encouraging to those who have been feeling so gloomy because the college students hadn't solved prohibition, the depression, and the reparations thing, but only slightly so. Miss Edna Ferber was very sad in print last spring because the spirit of the American student was one of frivolity and his conversation a blight on the language.

The strike and the student row were terribly serious matters to both the rebels and the royalists, but in the midst of the brawling parties on both sides were heard to yell "Hot dog," and "Come on, gang, the old pepper."

Bill Roper Urges Sunday Baseball in Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Pa., April 7.—[Special.]—A new move to permit paid Sunday sports and amusements in Philadelphia, with a 25 per cent share for the city, was started today by Councilman W. W. Roper, former Princeton football coach. He estimated the city could obtain $1,250,000 a year for unemployment relief from this source.

Roper introduced an ordinance petitioning "that the director of public safety be requested to permit all forms of amusement, entertainment, and sport to which an admission fee may be charged, on Sunday after 3 p. m., provided that such sports and other amusements shall pay into the city treasury 25 per cent of the gross proceeds thereof."

No Customers, No Game, So Cubs Are Idle

Kansas City, Mo., April 7.—[Special.]—The Cubs didn't play ball here today because of clouds in the sky, chill in the air, and depression in the community. The official explanation for the cancellation of the game was that it had rained last night and was cloudy and cold. But the real reason was that the Giants and Detroit had played to nearly 5,000 customers here yesterday and the Kansas City club officials figured that there couldn't be anybody left in the city who would want to see a ball game today.

Rogers Hornsby, manager of the Cubs, wasn't sorry for the day off. It was the first time this spring that a Cubs' exhibition game had been canceled and the day of rest didn't hurt the ball players a bit. Unless the weather will not permit, the Cubs and Blues will play tomorrow, but the series here now will be only three games.

Root Will Pitch Today.

It had been Hornsby's plan to use Burleigh Grimes today to prepare him to pitch the second game of the season next Wednesday in Cincinnati. Charley Root, who is already elected to pitch the opening game on Tuesday, had been assigned to pitch tomorrow's game, which would give him three days of rest before the bell rings.

Root will work tomorrow, as previously planned, so that he will be properly topped off for the opening, and Grimes will have to be only half topped off by pitching a few innings on Saturday just to loosen up his aged but high priced arm.

Hornsby isn't worried about his pitching staff. All of the regulars are in shape and ready to go, regardless of any distress some of them may have shown in recent exhibition games. Root, Grimes, Bush, Malone, and Smith are five men classed as regulars and all of them are physically fit.

Wanted: A Hitting Outfielder.

There is plenty for Hornsby to worry about without fussing over his pitchers. He is wondering if Stanley Hack will continue his rampant pace when he faces the big leaguers in championship games, and he is wondering if Bill Herman will be able to hit. These two youngsters will be in there to open the season, but the manager isn't sure of the makeup of his outfield on next Tuesday.

He is carrying seven men for the outfield and appears to be in a mood to trade six of them for a fellow who can hit. Kiki Cuyler is the only one of the seven sure of a job all summer. However, it looks as if the outfield on next Tuesday will consist of Stephenson, Cuyler, and Barton, with Danny Taylor, Lance Richbourgh, Johnny Moore, and Marvin Gudat sitting on the bench.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., April 7.—The Chicago White Sox this afternoon seemed in a fair way to wreak some revenge at the expense of the Louisville Colonels when many buckets of rain spilled down just as Watwood and Appling had opened the third inning with stupendous triples. The Sox sort of hated to see things end at this time, because they were tied 4 to 4 as a result of activity in the first inning and their start in the third.

Three runs were produced by the Chicagoans in the first on a walk to Anderson, a triple by Simons, a single by Watwood, and, after outs by Appling and Blue, a single by Selph and a double by Cissell.

Inasmuch as Sam Jones was pitching it was thought this lead might prevail for a spell, but four singles, a walk, and a long fly gave the Colonels four runs.

Cissell, Watwood Still Hitting.

Both teams went scoreless in the second inning. Then Watwood tripled to left center and came home with the tying run when Appling tripled off the scoreboard in left. Then it rained.

Through their brief efforts today Cissell and Watwood brought their hitting spurts to five straight. Cissell's string included a triple, a double, and three singles, and the run hasn't been terminated. Watwood has an unfinished run which includes a homer, a triple and three singles.

The next stop is Terre Haute, which is in a class B league. The Sox revealed yesterday and in the first inning today that they are not quite ready for sturdy class AA competition, but it is hoped that they will be able to get going again when they meet Terre Haute.

As the Sox near the opening of the American league season Manager Lew Fonseca finds his hopes fairly well realized as to the formation of his pitching staff and his infield, but he obviously is up in the air as to his outfield and his catching staff. Fonseca is too thorough a student of the art of hitting to allow himself to be deceived about his outfield, and he also knows that operating a club in a major league with one experienced catcher is a hazardous business. Tate will be out for three weeks at least.

Simons May Perk Up.

Lew probably will have to play the outfield himself. He'd rather not, but he can hit consistently and that is something that not another outfielder on his roster can do. Simons would seem to be the team's best prospect, but it has been shown from the outset that some one in the Sox organization is sour on Mel for reasons that haven't been explained. Simons has sensed this and has proceeded with an indifferent attitude, though his insertion in the lineup today may lead to happier circumstances.

The Sox are ending their spring season with as good a fielding second baseman as Chicago has seen since Eddie Collins; a steady, able third baseman, who will get his hit or two every day; a slightly improved shortstop, and one of the best first basemen, offensively and defensively, in the majors. They have one fairly good and exceedingly hard working catcher, and a pitching staff as good as any in the second division of the American league.

But something will have to be done about the outfield.

How I Got My Start in Baseball

BY LU BLUE.

[As told to Edward Burns.]

Louisville, Ky., April 7.—My father, Charles Blue, was a big league second baseman, but when he and my mother were married her father said he couldn't have her the wife of a ball player. So he set my father up in the feed business.

The first six sons of Mr. and Mrs. Blue respected their grandfather's wishes and refrained from being ball players. But No. 7, little Luzerne, had ideas of his own and, of course, the six older brothers ridiculed his early yen for baseball.

Despite family discouragement I played on the usual kid teams around Washington, D. C., and spent my waking hours idolizing Ty Cobb until I was sent to the Briarley Hall Military academy at Poolesville, Md.

My folks didn't know it, but the master of the school, Capt. Sid Lodge, was an old time catcher, once up with the Giants. I straightaway became the first baseman on the Briarley team.

Capt. Lodge had a tie-up with Country Morris, who had the Martinsburg club in the Blue Ridge league, and when I got through with Briarley he prevailed upon me to sign up with Martinsburg.

My six brothers all let me know that they thought my left handedness had developed into insanity and called me the black sheep of the Blue family.

I told them to go about their drug clerking and such; that my goal was to become a $10,000 a year ball player. This was in 1916, and at that time a $10,000 goal was shooting pretty high. The figure drew a big laugh from the relatives.

Several years later I signed my first $10,000 contract. And on that day six sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Blue received telegrams apprising them of that fact.

Brooklyn Buys George Kelly from Millers

New York, April 7.—[Special.]—Long George Kelly is coming back to the big show. The Brooklyn Dodgers today purchased the former first baseman of the New York Giants and the Chicago Cubs from the Minneapolis club of the American association for an unannounced sum of cash and a pitcher.

Kelly, who has been on the Pacific coast, where he has been training, left last night for New York. He will report to the Dodgers Monday and will be at first base when the Dodgers open the season against Boston Tuesday afternoon.

Kelly, who is 36 years old, having spent eighteen years in organized baseball, refused to sign his 1932 contract with the Minneapolis Millers because of salary difficulties.

Kelly starred with the Giants from 1919 to 1927. He played in four World Series with the New Yorkers in 1921, 1922, 1923, and 1924. Kelly's best year was 1922, when he had a batting average of 328.

The Giants released him to Cincinnati, where he stayed until 1930. The Reds passed him along to the Minneapolis Millers and later he appeared in the majors again, going to the Cubs when Capt. Charley Grimm was injured.

When Grimm recovered, Kelly was sent back to the Millers.

Duluth, Minn., April 7.—[Special.]—The third game of the American Hockey league championship playoffs resulted in a 4 to 2 victory for the Duluth Hornets over the Chicago Shamrocks tonight and extended the series to a fourth game. The Shamrocks won the first two games.

Three Duluth goals in the third period, two on one man attacks, broke a 1 to 1 tie. Chicago scored first in the first half minute of play. The Hornets had marched into the Chicago defense zone and Buswell got a break, leaving the three Duluth forwards down the ice. He passed to MacKenzie and the latter shot. Turner saved, but Armand scooped up the rebound and drove it into the cage.

Hornets Even Scores.

Scott, Merrill, and Forslund did Duluth's scoring, Scott scoring the first and third goals. The Hornets evened the score midway through the second period when Bouchard gave Scott a perfect pass.

Early in the third period Merrill rushed down the left side and shot. Karakas attempted to catch the puck with a nonchalant gesture of his gloved mitt and the puck bounced off his gloved hand and into the cage.

The Shamrocks sent down five men late in the period. Scott broke out of a mêlée and dashed for the goal, flipping the puck over the fallen Karakas.

Five Man Attack Fails.

The Shamrocks continued to attack with five forwards and again the Hornets get a break, Merrill pacing Forslund down the ice. Karakas beat Merrill's shot, but was drawn far from his cage as he sprawled and Forslund pocketed the rebound.

Boston, Mass., April 7.—(AP)—The Toronto Maple Leafs tonight strengthened their claim on the Stanley cup, emblematic of the world's professional hockey championship, by blinding the New York Rangers with speed to gain a 6 to 2 victory on the neutral Boston Garden ice.

This victory made the Leafs two up on their American division rivals, as the Canadian entry won the opening clash, 6 to 4, in New York Tuesday night. The teams will continue the series at Toronto on Saturday.

It was a thrilling battle of speed from start to finish. A crowd of 13,000 saw the game.

Rangers Shine in First Period.

The Rangers put on their best play in the opening sesion when Bill Cook gained the puck in center and drove straight down the middle lane. As his brother Fred cut in from the left wall, Bill fed him a scoring pass.

Early in the second period, Doug Brennan, on for Ching Johnson in the Rangers' defense, stopped a Toronto drive and carried back. He dived through the opposition at the blue line, skirted outside King Clancy and banged the rubber through Goalie Chabot.

Brennan was a hero for only a few seconds. On the play that followed the face off Harvey Jackson ragged the puck into the New York zone, fooled Brennan neatly and scored with a back hand shot. The Rangers, having taken a two goal lead, were preparing to go on the defense, but Jackson's score ruined their plans.

Conacher Ties Score.

Charlie Conacher registered an unassisted tally to tie the score, after splitting Brennan and Earl Siebert and the teams ended the second period deadlocked at two all.

The Rangers were in a fighting mood when the third opened and four men went down on every rush to put on the pressure after Harvey Jackson was boxed for tripping. While he was off Joe Primeau broke up the Rangers' passing attack and beat them back to their zone. His shot hit a post, but King Clancy was on hand to bang the rebound home to put the Leafs on top.

Three times later in the final the New York forwards were slow checking back and the Leafs ran up their total to six goals. Conacher and Clancy each got another tally and Hal Cotton ended the scoring on Primeau's third assist of the game.

A. A. U. FIGHTERS CLASH TONIGHT IN FINAL BOUTS

Higgins Defeats Kastman; Scialaba Wins.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The eight amateur boxing champions of the Central A. A. U. will be crowned tonight at Loyola university gymnasium. The program of bouts, semi-finals and finals, will comprise 24 matches. The titleholders will be sent to New York next month to compete in the National A. A. U. meet, which will decide the makeup of the American Olympic team.

The quarter-finals in all weights except the heavyweight were held last night. The battle between Henry Kastman of Trafton's gym and Gene Higgins of the C. Y. O. topped the card. Higgins received the decision after three furious rounds during which Kastman had the better of the infighting, but lost because of his opponent's superior long distance boxing.

Scialaba Wins Easily.

Nick Scialaba, international Golden Gloves bantamweight champion in 1931, stopped Peter Misiag of Cornell Park in two rounds. He is the outstanding bantamweight.

Spirited competition in the featherweight class is promised tonight. Joe Palazzolo of Howard's gymnasium, who defeated Jimmy Dunnington last night; Tony Muscarello of Chicago and Joe Romano of Rockford, Ill., are survivors. Muscarello, intercity Golden Gloves winner last year, will have a worthy opponent in Romano, if they draw tonight, for Romano's left hand is as effective as Muscarello's.

Leonard Cohen, Medinah Athletic club, defeated Oscar O'Hanian, C. Y. O. champion, in the flyweight division in an upset.

Phagan, Celebron Win.

Johnny Phagan, Golden Gloves 147 pound champion and intercity winner, knocked out Patrick Carroll in the second round. William Celebron of Rockford, Ill., runner-up to Phagan in the Golden Gloves, also reached the semi-finals. Celebron whipped Einar Hedquist in three rounds.

PHILLIES DEFEAT A'S IN TENTH, 3-2; WIN CITY SERIES

Mallon's Single Brings In Bartell.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 7.—[Special.]—The Phillies clinched the city championship today for the third straight year, winning from their American league rivals, the Athletics, 3 to 2, in ten innings.

One game remains to be played, and the series stands at three victories for the Phillies and one for the Athletics.

Bartell started the attack on Rube Walberg which gave the Phillies the decision in the tenth inning. He led off with a single and advanced to third on sacrifices. Mallon scored him with a single to left field.

Mallon had hit a home run earlier in the contest and Jimmy Foxx got one for the Macks.

Grove, Earnshaw, and Walberg yielded nine hits, and the National league pitchers, Collins and Grabowski, were touched for the same number.

100 Chicagoans to Open Golf Season at French Lick Today

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

JOE DAVIS.

The opening of the golf season couldn't come any too soon for a number of Chicagoans, so nearly 100 of them, led by Tom Heneage of Oak Park, entrained last night for French Lick, Ind., where the first annual midwest amateur championship will open today with 18 holes of medal play. Play will continue tomorrow with another 18, and Sunday's tour over the same distance will conclude the tournament.

The championship will be decided over the Hill course under the supervision of George O'Neil, formerly pro at Beverly. A tournament for women will be held on the Valley course under the direction of Mrs. Eliot Evans of the Women's Western Golf association.

Prizes in the men's play will be awarded for low gross and first and second net in each class for 54 holes, low gross and low net in each class for each 18 holes, and low net foursome for 54 holes. The women's prizes will include first and second low gross and low net.

The handicapping will be in charge of Joe Davis. This phase of the tournament will give golfers an opportunity to use their Chicago District Golf association individual handicap cards for the first time.

Progress of Handicap Cards.

Speaking of individual handicap cards, their progress in this district is an interesting one. The United States and Western Golf associations formerly had handicapping systems, but the scope of these organizations made them unwieldy and it finally became the work of the district associations to rate the players. The Chicago District Golf association carded only the better tournament golfers when it began the system more than ten years ago, six strokes being the top handicap. This figure went to ten in 1927, and for the third successive year the association now includes players with handicaps up to 20. This number may be raised to 25 next year.

The individual handicap card has been used for a number of years by the Metropolitan (New York) and Massachusetts associations, the former having a list of nearly 6,000 cards last year, while the latter was in the neighborhood of 5,000. Last year the C. D. G. A. sent out 8,000 cards to members. These were free of charge, but $1 will be charged for them this year, as is the case in New York and Massachusetts. The charge is made necessary by the extra expense of issuing the cards, publishing official lists of the ratings, and keeping them up to date throughout the season.

The advantages of the individual card were pointed out recently by Jack Westland, chairman of the C. D. G. A. handicap committee. Jack stressed the fact that the card gives the player definite official standing no matter where he may compete, whether it be in the district, California, New York, or the south. It also strengthens his playing position in his own district, which a club handicap does not. The card has been the salvation of many an invitation tournament committee where players from several courses of different classes compete. The C. D. G. A. card establishes their talents on a uniform basis, particularly in foursomes, where golfers from class A, B, and C clubs may be playing together for the first time.

P. G. A. Meeting.

The Illinois Professional Golfers' association will hold its first 1932 meeting Monday afternoon in the office of A. R. Gates, business administrator of the P. G. A. of America, 707 First American Bank building. The officers of the association are James Wilson, president; Ed Newkirk, secretary and treasurer; Elmer Biggs, James Carberry, Harry Adams, George Smith, and Eddie Garre, vice presidents.

Take Body of Olympia Fields Official to Michigan

Funeral services for Charles Turner superintendent of the locker room at the Olympia Fields Country club, will be held this afternoon at 1158 North Clark street. Turner, a native of Lowestoft, England, died Wednesday. He was a familiar figure to every golfer who visited the south side course during the last decade. He is survived by his widow, Gladys; a daughter, Victoria Anna, and three brothers and two sisters. Interment will be at Unionville, Mich.

Madison Plans Big Welcome for Dr. Spears

Madison, Wis., April 7.—[Special.]—A large crowd will welcome Dr. Clarence W. Spears, Wisconsin's new football coach, Saturday morning. Plans were being made today by Herman Egstad, secretary of the Wisconsin Alumni association, and Alvin E. Gillett, secretary of the Madison Association of Commerce, for a huge turnout.

A majority of the students are spending the Easter recess at home, but those remaining here are preparing to join the welcoming throng.

The official welcome for Spears will be held April 27 with a banquet at the university gym. This affair is being arranged by the Wisconsin Alumni association and the campus "W" club.

Dr. Spears will meet with his assistant coaches, Guy Sundt, Fred Swan, and Rube Wagner, Saturday afternoon to discuss the personnel of the 1932 squad and also to outline the spring practice drills, which open on Wednesday.

IN the WAKE of the NEWS

REFORMING, AS IS.

HIGH school athletic associations, at first fostered by colleges and universities until they became sufficient unto themselves, and impressed with their own power, succeeded in preventing the Stagg interscholastic basketball tourney and similar events Colleges preferred to drop out of the picture rather than engage in acrimonious discussion.

Of course, suspicion prevailed at the time that the high school bodies were not without guile in their protests. In fact, some thought they were influenced by sordid motives such as gate receipts, for surely a state tourney was not as attractive as a national meet. Here is a plaint on the subject from Helper H. S. A. of Charleston, Ill.:

"Just what is the object of the state high school basketball tournament? I supposed it was to advance the game of basketball in high schools and sort of give the youngsters coming along more incentive to enter the sport. From what I saw at Champaign, Ill., I am inclined to believe the object of these tourneys is purely mercenary.

"I saw a man ask the ticket seller how much admission for two boys of 13 and 16 years. The seller replied there was no reduction for children and the charge was the regular $1. These boys were right at the age to respond to the spirit of the game. The man walked away with the two boys. Evidently $3 was more than he could afford. There were few youngsters in the crowd of 3,000 which filed into a building accommodating 7,500.

"I believe that as the Illinois State High School Athletic association has some $100,000 profit from tournaments in its treasury, and since the gymnasium at the University of Illinois, built by taxpayers, is donated free of charge to these all important [to themselves] state high school officials, some concessions should be made in gate admissions to the youngsters whom they profess to benefit and protect. Here's to lower prices for kids at state high school athletic events."

Quitting Golf.

We're never going to quit golf again. F'rinstance. We were invited to be one of 150 Chicagoans, headed by Tom Heneage of the C. A. A., which left for French Lick last night, returning Monday morning, for three days of golf and other diversions which French Lick offers—you know what we mean. It was the kind of crowd one likes to be with. We don't believe our resolutions will survive another such invitation, even if our 115 at Skokie mounts to 128 on the hill course at French Lick.

The Three Cent Stamp.

Tell me, neighbor, how shall we,
[Minus two cents] manage three
For the service needed so,
As through troubled times we go.

Why do solons tax away
One necessity, we pray?
In this hour of dire need,
Shall our hope no comfort read?

Luxuries enough there be
Taxable by three times three . . .
Yet the wise [?] in Washington
Still the way of wisdom shun.

Tell me, neighbor, if you can
Why we hold to such a plan?
Why deny one urgent need
That a penny less will feed?

DEER FEEDING ON FISH VIOLATE ALL OUTDOORS RULES

BY BOB BECKER.

The question of wild deer eating fish has been causing considerable comment among scientists and outdoor fans because reliable evidence on this novelty has been assembled which simply shows that the longer we study animals the less one is sure that individual behavior can be depended upon. Deer as a group are not supposed to eat fish. Yet certain deer have been seen doing it.

The fact that some one has seen deer catch fish and eat them is of no economic importance, as there is no reason to fear that the deer are going to deplete good fishing holes! But it is interesting because it shows there is always something new in the outdoors.

Writes of Deer Stealing Fish.

Some years ago Thornton Burgess wrote in the Journal of Mammalogy that he had every reason to believe that deer visiting his camp had stolen and eaten some fish.

Now comes Sigurd F. Olson, of Ely, Minn., an instructor in zoölogy, an experienced woodsman and student of the outdoors whom we have known for many years, with an account [also published in the Journal of Mammalogy, vol. 3, No. 1, February, 1932] of actually seeing a deer catch suckers and eat them like sweet clover.

Olson was paddling down a lake in the Quetico Provincial park. It was around noon when he caught sight of a doe and a fawn. Because of the arrangement of vegetation on the shore he was able to get within 40 feet of them.

The two deer were standing in the rocky bed of a small creek up which the black suckers were running. The creek was so shallow that some of the fish were throwing themselves out of the water as they tried to get up the stream.

Tries to Impale Fish.

Olson says that the doe was stamping around doing her best to impale one of the suckers with her forefeet. Then he writes:

"Finally she succeeded in killing one and immediately took it in her mouth. While the fish still was flopping strongly she oriented it, as any fish eating animal would do, and munched it down head first in the same identical fashion she would manipulate a bunch of grass. The fawn made no effort to eat any fish or trample on them, but gamboled up and down the creek while its mother was feeding. The sucker eaten was about 14 inches in length."

Then the doe caught another sucker. While eating it she saw Olson and ran away. Tracks were found around the creek indicating that other deer had visited the stream, although it was not a drinking hole nor did the stream have aquatic vegetation such as deer like. The conclusion was that the animals had been there to obtain the fish.

B'AR HUNTER IS FEATURE VICTOR ON BOWIE OVAL

Beats Wotan, Favorite, by Four Lengths.

Bowie, Md., April 7.—[Special.]—B'ar Hunter, the fast son of Black Servant, carried the colors of E. R. Bradley to their first victory at this meeting in the Mayor Jackson trophy purse, feature at Bowie race track today. Ed Haughton's Wotan, the favorite, was second, and Ryland C. New's Frumper third.

It was a hollow victory for the Bradley colt, for, after drawing alongside the pacemaker, Dancing Mack, on the back stretch, Jimmy Smith turned the colt loose and he won by four lengths, running the mile and one-sixteenth in 1:48. He paid $9.40.

Fair weather brought 12,000 people to the course.

Worldly Lad, Slim Robertson up, won the sixth race by a length. Broadway Lights was second and Lucky Jack third. Lucky Jack with Hank Mills up set the early pace and held on well. The winner paid $12.70 and the time was 1:46 3-5 for the mile and 70 yards.

Snobful Pays $57.

Favorites were bowled over in the fourth race, secondary feature, when W. W. Vaughn's Snobful, S. Herbert up, came fast in the stretch to win by a head, paying $57. Hal Price Headley's Pigeon Hole was second and Sir Walter third. Sir Walter, with much early speed, sprinted to the front and seemed to have the race at his mercy, but his stride shortened in the stretch, when Snobful passed him, running the six furlongs in 1:12 35. Broad Meadows, favorite, was fourth.

War Saint, the favorite, led all the way in the third race, winning as his rider, Mills, pleased. Ruane was second and Genial Host third. War Saint went to the front from the starting gate and loafed along all the way, moving faster when he was challenged.

Black Watch Is Victor.

Mrs. W. E. Martin's Black Watch, Melvin Lewis up, won the second race by three lengths. He was one of the outsiders, paying $24. Fervor finished second and Pop Gaffney third.

Cresta Run, C. V. Whitney's Mad Hatter colt, had to be much the best to win by a nose in the first race for 2 year old maidens. H. C. Phipps' Postponement was second, and a half length back D. C. Sands' Keltwick was third.

KAMPFER READY FOR MAT BATTLE WITH JIM LONDOS

Hans Kampfer, 25 year old heavyweight, who was sent to America nine months ago by the German Athletic council for the express purpose of bringing the world's championship to the Hindenburg republic, yesterday pronounced himself fit for Monday night's match against Jim Londos at the Coliseum.

Kampfer worked out for two hours in Kid Howard's gymnasium, and at the conclusion declared he had got down to 215 pounds, his normal weight, and was confident he would win. Kampfer won the Graeco-Roman championship of Europe last year in a round robin tourney against 30 of the best heavyweights on the continent.

His match against Londos, the recognized title holder, comes as a reward for throwing or beating most of the lesser lights in the Curley troupe. If he is successful at the Coliseum, he undoubtedly will return to Germany to give the Europeans their first look at the world's championship since wrestling went into big business.

Four other matches complete Monday's card.

WEST DIVISION CAN'T LOSE IN K. C. BASKETBALL

Damen to Meet Hennepin for Title Sunday.

For the first time in the seventeen years of its existence, Damen and Hennepin-Shields of the west division will meet Sunday afternoon for the championship of the Knights of Columbus Basketball league at the 132d Regiment armory, Madison and Rockwell streets.

Although there have been many instances where two teams from the same division have reached the semifinals, this is the first time where both have come through to battle for the title.

The Damen-Hennepin game will be one of three on Sunday's schedule, which is as follows:

2:15—Quigley vs. Lafayette for fifth and sixth places.
3:15—Madonna vs. Loyola-Hyde Park for third and fourth places.
4:15—Damen vs. Hennepin-Shields for championship.

Damen is the defending champion, and a victory will make that team the second repeater in league history. Marquette won championships in 1926 and 1927.

The two other games on the schedule also promise plenty of good basketball. Madonna and Loyola-Hyde Park are the respective champions of the central and south divisions. Lafayette and Quigley are both from the central division.

BRUINS TO TEST 10 SECOND RULE AGAINST STARS

Basketball's proposed new ten second rule will be tried out Sunday night, when the Chicago Bruins meet The Purdue All Stars in a return game at the Rainbo Fronton.

At the recent meeting of the National Basketball Coaches' association, it was recommended that a rule be passed compelling the attacking team to advance the ball past midfloor within ten seconds after receiving it—the referee to count the seconds.

Manager George Halas of the Bruins called Johnny Wooden at Purdue and got the captain of the All Stars to agree to try out the rule.

The Bruins staved off a last half rush to score a 1 point victory over the All Stars last Sunday.

LOYOLA TO OPEN TENNIS SEASON NEXT WEDNESDAY

Loyola university's tennis team will open its season next Wednesday against the Chicago Y. M. C. A. team on the Loyola courts. Meets with Notre Dame, Northwestern, University of Detroit, Armour Tech, Detroit City college, Lake Forest, Michigan Normal, North Central, and Wheaton tentatively are listed.

Capt. George Zwikstra, Jack Laemmar, Joe Frisch, and Bob O'Connor, veterans of last year, are on the squad. Jim Brennan, John Gill, Gene Migley, and Edward Schramm are the most promising of a dozen new candidates.

Harrison Beats Lake View, 3-2; Roosevelt and Schurz Win

Harrison Tech's baseball team won a 3 to 2 victory over Lake View yesterday in a Chicago Public High School league practice game at Winnemac park. The game was stopped in the fifth inning because of chilly weather.

A three run rally in the third gave Harrison victory. Lake View scored two runs in the fifth inning off Wingik, who was replaced by Wiktorski. Younberg and Purto hurled for Lake View, allowing only four hits. Steve Remias led the Harrison attack in the third, driving in two runs on a single.

Roosevelt and Schurz Win.

Two north section teams also triumphed, Roosevelt gaining a 5 to 4 victory over Evanston on the latter's field, and Schurz winning from Marshall, 7 to 0, at Kilbourne park.

SHADE, MALLOY MEET TODAY TO DISCUSS FIGHT

Dave May Box Winner of Kilbourne Bout.

Dave Shade, New York middleweight boxer, will arrive in Chicago today to talk terms with Mique Malloy, White City promoter, for a contest April 18 with the winner of the Jack Kilbourne-Haakon Hansen ten round bout at White City next Monday night. Shade is en route to Milwaukee, where he will box Sammy (Kid) Slaughter Monday.

Shade Beats Kilbourne.

Shade never has met Hansen, but he won a ten round decision from Kilbourne at Santiago, Cal., two years ago. However, the bout was only Jack's fourth windup encounter and he was not ready for Dave. Since then he has won all his bouts. He returned from Australia last summer after winning the middleweight championship of the Antipodes.

Hansen has been idle because of sickness during the last six months. He defeated Bud Saltis on the south side last summer. Haakon was a speedy boxer and a hard puncher before his brief retirement. Both attainments were noticeable yesterday throughout his four round gymnasium encounter with Jerry Crano. Crano is a slugger and had considerable difficulty hitting Hansen.

Jack Down to 157.

While defeating Roy Williams, Harry Fuller and Ray Tramblie at White City in recent weeks, Kilbourne showed he had boxing, as well as hitting ability. The Australian champion weighed only 157 pounds yesterday and will not train today.

TAX BURDEN THREAT TO U. S., SHIPPERS TOLD

I. C. Official Warns of Collapse.

BY O. A. MATHER.

No one knows better than railroad officials what onerous burdens excessive taxation has imposed on American enterprise. Particularly is this true because the railroads have been the chief football of politics for more than a generation. Therefore, some ideas expressed yesterday by R. V. Fletcher, vice president of the Illinois Central railroad, before the annual meeting of the Midwest Shippers' Advisory board, may be illuminative. The audience was composed of railroad men, manufacturers, and wholesalers who engage in shipping.

"We are faced with the possibility that our government itself will collapse unless we untangle our tax situation," Mr. Fletcher said. "It is folly to talk of entering upon a program of better business until we clear up the tax situation. On every hand we find too much property reverting to the state for taxes. In Mississippi, I understand that 40 per cent of the farms on 25 per cent of the land have been forefeited to the state because of inability to pay taxes. In Chicago we have a similar situation with respect to city property.

Must Talk Taxes Constantly.

"This is the most critical period in American history with the exception of the revolutionary war. We must talk taxes day and night. We must become tax conscious. We must be zealous cranks and crusaders. If we keep it up long enough and strong enough those who fix our taxes will lower them. Both political parties should put tax reform planks in their platforms. If we don't correct this situation our democratic form of government will collapse."

Mr. Fletcher pointed out that the American people are paying nearly 14 billion dollars a year as the price of government, whereas the entire national income last year amounted to only 52 billions. Thus, the ratio of government expenditure to national income was almost 27 per cent. Each family now pays an average of $525 a year toward the cost of government.

"Beyond All Reason."

"This is beyond all reason," he asserted. "Twenty million people in this country are being supported by government, which means that every five persons are supporting a sixth."

Further, Mr. Fletcher contrasted the present burden with taxes in 1913, when the cost of government was less than 3 billion dollars. Thus, the cost of government has increased 332 per cent, whereas our population has increased only 16 per cent.

"The practice during recent years of embarking upon unwise and poorly planned projects has greatly swelled expenditures," he concluded. "American business is being stifled by the terrific burden. National, state and local governments, feeling the pinch of declining revenues with no reduction in expenditures, have declared an 'open season' on the American taxpayer."

INCREASE BORROWINGS

Greater needs for credit and currency consequent to commercial settlements at the end of March and also the first quarter of the year are reflected in the weekly statement of the federal reserve system, issued yesterday. Thus, the member banks increased their borrowings from the reserve banks by $2,019,000, although their borrowings still are abnormally low at $635,274,000. The reserve banks also extended credit by their open market operations. They bought $13,396,000 of government securities, although they sold $8,416,000 of bankers' acceptances and $2,590,000 of other securities.

Currency in the form of federal reserve notes expanded $15,298,000 following several weeks of shrinkage. Such currency now totals $2,561,573,000. All kinds of money in circulation expanded $19,000,000 to a total of $5,458,000,000. The country's gold stock increased $8,000,000 to a total of $4,396,000,000. Gold reserves of the federal reserve banks expanded $14,445,000, and now total $3,032,202,000. Total reserves increased $10,179,000, but the ratio of reserves to liabilities eased to 70.8 per cent, compared with 70.9 per cent last week.

Coincident with the decline in securities prices, the reserve board reported a decline of $9,000,000 in brokers' loans in the last week. The total now stands at $516,000,000, which is $1,306,000,000 below a year ago, when the figure was $1,822,000,000. The detail of the current report shows that the New York banks reduced their own loans by $8,000,000, the interior banks withdrew $2,000,000 and nonbanking lenders furnished an additional $1,000,000.

CZAR OF RUBBER MAY BE NAMED IF LAW PERMITS

New York, April 7.—(AP)—A one man "dictatorship" as a means of revitalizing the rubber industry in the United States virtually has been agreed to by 32 leaders of that and allied interests, it was learned today.

The only thing holding back the appointment of such a man was understood to be uncertainty as to whether it could be done without violating the Sherman anti-trust act. Legal counsel has been set to work on the problem.

George T. Bishop, president of the Continental Shares corporation, whose company has a substantial stock interest in the leading rubber companies and who himself has had long banking association with those companies in Ohio, was proposed by the rubber leaders as the man to assume the post of leadership, should it be created.

House Group for Rail Law Clause Repeal

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 7.—[Special.]—Repeal of the provisions of the transportation act, under which the interstate commerce commission is directed to recover from railroads 50 per cent of net railway operating income in excess of 6 per cent on the value of the individual railroad was voted today by the house committee on interstate and foreign commerce in approving a bill revising the transportation act.

Estimates of the amount of money the railroads as a whole may have to pay the government in excess earnings unless the present law is repealed have run as high as $361,000,000 for the last ten years, though it was conceded by commission representatives that that amount would be substantially reduced if weight were given to cost of reproduction of new railroads in the 1920-1930 period. If the bill is passed about $10,000,000 would be refunded to carriers that have paid the commission.

Would Be Retroactive.

Repeal of the recapture provisions under the committee action would be retroactive and claims that have arisen would be wiped out.

Retroactive repeal was urged by the commission, the railroads, railroad security owners, shippers, and state regulatory commissions.

The committee also proposed a new rule of rate making to take the place of that in the present law directing the commission to fix rates that would yield as nearly as may be a fair return on the value of carrier property. The new rule approved by the committee provides that the commission, in the exercise of its power to prescribe just and reasonable rates, shall give due consideration, among other factors, to the effect of rates on the movement of traffic; to the need, in the public interest, for adequate and efficient railway transportation service at the lowest cost consistent with the furnishing of such service, and to the need of revenues sufficient to enable the carriers, under honest, economical and efficient management, to provide such service.

Change in Valuation Clause.

Further revising the present rate regulation law, the committee adopted an amendment to the valuation provisions under which the commission will keep fully informed as to railroad inventories and investments, but will not be required to bring valuations up to date and keep them current.

It is also provided that the commission shall not be required to make an original valuation of the property of any street, suburban or interurban electric railway which is not operated as a part of a general steam railroad system of transportation but it may, in its discretion, make an original valuation of the property of any individual electric railway, subject to its jurisdiction in the event it decided such a valuation was required in the public interest.

N. Y. CENTRAL BUYS MORE OF LACKAWANNA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 7.—The New York Central railroad increased its interest in the Delaware, Lackawana and Western railroad to 10.7 per cent in 1931. This was shown by the list of the 20 largest stockholders in the latter company. Under the four party consolidation plan for the east, the Lackawanna would be merged with the New York Central system. This plan is now before the interstate commerce commission.

The New York Central's holdings of Lackawanna were bought through the securities corporation of the New York Central railroad and are held in the name of Hank & Co. They totaled 157,825 shares on Dec. 31, against 131,325 a year previously. Some of the shares, it was said, might have been bought from the estate of the late George F. Baker, because, although the Lackawanna holdings in the name of Mr. Baker on Dec. 31, 1930, were 94,400 shares, the holdings in the name of his estate were only 32,500 shares a year later.

Holdings of Harold S. Vanderbilt, William K. Vanderbilt and George F. Baker Jr. remained unchanged. Gerdes & Co., with 60,000 shares, appears on the list of the 20 largest stockholders for the first time, indicating that this stock is held in behalf of interests friendly to the New York Central.

BRITAIN TO STABILIZE BACON AND MILK, AS WELL AS WHEAT

LONDON, April 7.—(AP)—The government's wheat quota bill to provide a guaranteed price to British wheat growers was given third and final reading by the house of commons tonight. The vote on third reading was 398 to 58.

It provides for a subsidy amounting to the difference between the world price of wheat and a fixed price of 45 shillings a quarter [about $10.80 at par, or approximately $8.50 at the current rate of exchange, for eight bushels].

Sir John Gilmour, minister of agriculture, in final defense of the bill described it as an essential part of the government's scheme to relieve a distressed agricultural industry. He said it aimed at a balanced grain production and left a great mass of incoming wheat untouched.

Sir John did not reply to a question whether the wheat quota would be extended to take in wheat from the dominions. He said, however, in reply to another question, that some form of quota might be applied to the bacon and milk industries as part of a scheme to reorganize them.

He added that he hoped shortly to announce the personnel of a commission which would be established to deal with these industries.

WILD RUMOR MARKS PARIS RAID ON DOLLAR

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, April 7.—The attacks on the American dollar which have been occurring sporadically in recent months reached a climax today. The Parisian newspaper L'Ordre published a false report that the National City Bank of New York had suspended payments. The National City directors have retaliated by lodging official protests with the state department at Washington and with the French government. It is believed those protests will have far-reaching results.

The American embassy here "is taking serious interest" in the libel on the bank. Premier Andre Tardieu, to whom the National City officials immediately protested, is understood to have prompted vigorous action.

Viewed as Dollar Raid.

American financial circles are deeply stirred and feel the time has come to put an end to the unscrupulous attacks whose sole objects are speculation against the dollar. Today the dollar closed at 25.32, which is well below the gold point and two points below yesterday's closing, when the dollar also had been subjected to heavy pressure.

It is noteworthy that the report on the National City bank was only one of the many attacks on American financial and economic structures in the Paris press today. One paper, Le Journal du Commerce, devoted three pages to editorials and articles intended to show the weakness of the United States financially and industrially as well as to prove that American business policy seeks to thrive at the expense of Europe.

Other papers, such as Le Capital, Le Journal des Debats, and the Paris Midi, also attempt to demonstrate that the United States is in a serious condition.

Back Yankees' Protest.

It must be said at the outset that the French government, the Bank of France, and the whole body of reputable French private banking interests are wholly in sympathy with the Americans' efforts to stop this subversive campaign. National City officials expressed gratification today at the reaction of the French banks and it is beyond dispute that the French officially and privately hold no fears as to the present essential soundness of American finances. It is true there is disappointment over the unpromising budget situation and the continued weakness of Wall street, but as yet no one here is worrying very much.

The publisher of the L'Ordre went to the National City bank this afternoon and, it is said, offered full apologies, stating that the article was printed without his knowledge and promising complete retraction tomorrow. It is understood that the bank officials informed him that the matter was now in the hands of the French government and the state department, to which they referred him.

TO RESUME EXPORTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 7.—For the first time in several weeks gold shipments to France on straight exchange transactions will be resumed tomorrow. Local banks reported that, up to a late hour this afternoon, about $7,000,000 in gold had been engaged for shipment on two liners, the Ile de France and the Olympic.

It is possible that amount will be increased by sailing time tomorrow and that the French shipments possibly may be supplemented by some consignments to Holland, since the Dutch guilder, like the French franc, also crossed the price at which shipments of metal overseas become profitable.

Previous Gold Shipments.

No metal has been shipped to France since early last month when $37,500,000, mostly earmarked supplies, was taken for export to Paris. In February France took $98,400,000 from local gold stocks and in January $83,700,000 was shipped to the same destination. The shipments tomorrow will make a total of about $225,000,000 sent to France since Jan. 1.

Strength in the French franc this week has coincided with strength in other European currencies, much of the advance being ascribed to European fears over the lack of a balanced budget in the United States. The present gold point on French francs is 3.94⅝ without allowing for interest on money tied up in gold while it is in transit. This allowance for interest at present low money rates and in view of the speed of the two vessels sailing tomorrow adds a small fraction more to the basic 3.94⅝. The francs today was at a new high for the year at 3.94⅞, which leaves a nice margin of profit to the gold shipping banker.

Direct Order from Paris.

The shipments being arranged are said to be mostly on direct order from Paris offices or corespondents of bankers here, the Paris bankers assuming most of the risk and making most of the profit.

Until about a month ago the gold point on francs was about a point lower around 3.93½ cents a franc.

March Sales of 19 Chain Systems Total $88,077,067

March gross sales of 19 reporting chain store organizations, exclusive of restaurants and mail order firms, totaled $88,077,067, compared with $91,864,542 in March, 1931, a decrease of 4.1 per cent. Nine of the reporting companies reported increases in March over a year ago. For the first three months the aggregate sales of these chains showed a decrease of 5.9 per cent as compared with the 1931 period.

KANSAN WARNS STANDARD OIL ON KANSAS LAW

Independence, Kas., April 7.—(AP)—Thurman Hill, member of the Kansas public service commission, informed the Standard Oil Company of Indiana today the commission considers the taking of Kansas crude oil under different prices for the same quality of oil a discriminatory act under the ratable taking law.

Unless the Standard meets present prices, ranging downward from $1 a brl, paid by other companies, he informed Standard officials the commission will call an early hearing at Wichita.

Hill said action was prompted by failure to receive a reply to a telegram sent the Standard Wednesday urging the company to meet the recent advance in crude prices and the receipt of an appeal from thirty purchasers of Kansas and Oklahoma crude. The purchasers characterized the situation as critical and said unless the Standard meets the advance it will be necessary for them to return to the former 85 cent top.

Would Raise Prices.

Fort Worth, Tex., April 7.—(AP)—Charles F. Roeser, vice president of the American Petroleum institute, today appealed to executives of major crude oil purchasing units which have not joined in the recent price advances to take such action at once.

He said prompt meeting of the higher price would be constructive, while failure to act probably would result in a reversion of prices to former levels. A top of a dollar a brl now is being paid in the midcontinent area.

ASK RECEIVER FOR BELLAS-HESS IN NEW FIGHT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 7.—An application for a receiver to take over the assets of the National Bellas-Hess Company, Inc., ranked as the third mail order house in size in the country, was made to Justice Dodd of the Supreme court in Brooklyn today by a group of preferred stockholders.

They charge that the directors have misrepresented the financial status of the company, have dissipated assets, and are planning to "cull the cream" of what is left by selling the company's best stores to interests friendly to themselves.

The petition for a receiver is part of an action in which the plaintiffs seek an accounting of the company's funds and an injunction to restrain the directors from selling any further assets or continuing with a plan to liquidate the corporation.

Spencer Pinkham, of House, Holthusen & McCloskey, counsel for the plaintiffs, said a group of common stock holders is asking for a receiver, with the permission of the attorney general, in an action in the Supreme court in Manhattan.

The Brooklyn action came before the court on a hearing of a show cause order directed against Edward E. Cody, a director and present head of the company, and eight other directors, including Robert Lehman and Arthur Sachs, and Albert S. Scott, former president of the company.

CONSTRUCTION AWARDS GAIN IN SOUTHERN AREA

Baltimore, Md., April 7.—(AP)—The south's construction awards for the first quarter of 1932 are figured above $63,000,000 by the Manufacturers Record. The publication says the region's March showing was proportionately better than that of the rest of the country.

Sixteen states were included in the March survey and the quarterly $63,000,000 total did not include projects costing less than $10,000.

Lone Star Gas Earnings Equal 75 Cents on Common

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 7.—(AP)—Net income of $4,885,124 after interest, depreciation, depletion and taxes is reported for 1931 by Lone Star Gas corporation and subsidiaries. This is equal after dividends on the preferred stocks of subsidiaries and parent company to 75 cents per share on the 5,451,043 shares of common stock outstanding at the end of the year. Net income in 1930 was $6,428,936, equal after preferred dividends to $1.30 per share on 4,557,131 shares of common.

Celotex Tells of Process to Halt Product Decay

After ten years of research, the Celotex company announced development of a process to render its cane fiber products impervious to decay and termites. Bror G. Dahlberg, president, said the process had been tested thoroughly under the most severe tropical conditions and proved capable of immunizing wood, cane, and cellulose products against the natural agencies of decay.

EASTERN RAILROADS' FEBRUARY OPERATING INCOME JUMPS 4.98%

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 7.—The 10 per cent wage deduction that took effect Feb. 1, together with drastic cuts in other disbursements, made it possible for the eastern railroads to show an increase of 4.98 per cent in net operating income for February, compared with February, 1931. This is shown in figures issued by the bureau of railway economics.

Other districts did not do so well. The western lines reported a drop of 72.7 per cent in February net operating income and the southern roads reported a drop of 11.2 per cent. For January and February combined the western lines reported a drop of 92.6 per cent in net, roads in this region having operated as a whole at a deficit in January.

The decrease in net operating for all railroads in February was 20.5 per cent and for the two months compared with the same period last year the drop was 45.6 per cent. However, results in February were an improvement from January, when the decline in net operating income for all roads was 65.9 per cent. In December the drop was 57 per cent, the highest for any month in 1931.

PRICE DECLINES HIT EARNINGS OF LIBBY-M'NEILL CO.

Drastic declines in prices and the depreciation in foreign exchange contributed to make 1931 a year of unprofitable operation for Libby, McNeill & Libby. The annual statement issued yesterday showed a net loss of $4,981,946 for the year as compared with a net profit of $2,130,357 in 1930. The loss was arrived at after taking credit for an inventory reserve of $1,200,000 carried over from the preceding year.

After payment of dividends on the preferred stock profit and loss surplus showed a decline to $1,118,922, as compared with $6,804,268 at the close of the previous year. The company's fiscal year ended Feb. 27. At the close of the period current assets were $34,736,307, against current liabilities of $14,699,442.

The volume of business, as measured by the volume of cases of products sold, was only one per cent below 1930, Edward G. McDougall, president, said in his report. "Successful efforts to reduce operating and distributing costs have been and are being made," he said.

BANKERS TO ACT ON TENNESSEE LOAN NEXT WEEK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 7.—Preliminary conferences between officials of the state of Tennessee and representatives of the major banking group organized to purchase the state's issue of $9,000,000 of bonds, were concluded today in Nashville. The representatives of the bankers will return to New York this week. It is expected a conference of the New York members of the syndicate will be held on Monday.

American Commonwealths Asks Stockholders' O. K.

Coöperation on the part of holders of all series of the first preferred stock of the American Commonwealths Power corporation is essential to a satisfactory reorganization of the company, Frederick Peirce, chairman of the protective committee, told the stockholders in a letter issued yesterday.

The Beavery Valley Water company, a subsidiary of the Consumers Water company, is asking holders of its first mortgage 5 per cent bonds, due on May 1, to extend the maturity three years with an increase in the annual interest rate to 6 per cent. The sum of $25 for each $1,000 bond would be paid to holders upon the plan being declared operative.

BOOM, SLUMP, TRADE IS FIGHT, FIGURES SHOW

Business Arena Has Quota of Slain.

New York, April 7.—(AP)—While business profits seem particularly elusive these days, a review of income tax statistics indicates that even in the most profitable days of the last decade not more than 60 per cent of American corporations made a profit—and between 35 and 40 per cent showed losses.

A total of 28,285 business firms failed last year, but even in 1929, a boom year, 22,909 failed—and since 1925 every year has seen more than 20,000 failures, according to Dun's survey.

The figures do not minimize the severity of the present slump, since the number of failures in 1931 was an all-time high, and all corporations probably will show an aggregate deficit of a billion or more for 1931, the first time there has been such a deficit since 1921. The depressing feature of these figures is somewhat relieved when it is considered that the number of corporations has increased, statisticians point out.

Give Figures on Banks.

Federal reserve statistics show a similar situation in banking. In the good year of 1922 at least 30 banks were suspended every month, while in the prosperous period of 1922-'29 the average number of suspensions every month was 53.7. This compares with the more drastic figures of 112 and 141 for 1930 and 1931. In the last month, suspensions dropped to 40.

The course of business and finance does not run smoothly, the figures show. The competitive battle, traditional to American economics, makes existence difficult and only the strongest and most enterprising survive. As might be expected the small business house often has more difficulty than the large one in meeting sudden changes in the economic scene.

1925 Best Year.

Out of a group of corporations studied, 269 made $10,460,000,000 net profits in 1929, while 186 had a deficit of $2,914,000,000. For this group 1929 was the most profitable year in the last decade. So far as percentage of companies making profit is concerned, 1925 was probably the best year when 58.6 per cent of 252 companies made a profit of $8,413,000,000, against a loss of $1,962,000,000 by 177 companies, or a net of $6,450,000,000. This net compares with $7,042,000,000 in 1928 and $7,546,000,000 in 1929.

The full statistics for 1931 are not yet available but Moody's service says 1,400 corporations made $2,120,000,000 in 1931, against $3,460,000,000 in 1930. Implications are that deficits more than offset the 1931 profits by a wide margin.

NATIONAL TEA SALES GAINING FOR THIS YEAR

The marked turn for the better in the business of the National Tea company was one of the bright spots of the chain store figures for March.

Not only did the sales of the big grocery chain for the four weeks ended March 26 exceed those of the preceding four weeks by some $272,500 but the percentage decrease as compared with a year ago was the smallest since last October.

The decrease of 11.6 per cent in dollar sales reported for the March period as compared with the same period of 1931 is somewhat less than the decline in food prices as compared with a year ago, which could be taken to indicate that actual volume of business was ahead of that for last year.

For the twelve weeks ended March 26 the shrinkage in dollar sales was only 12.9 per cent as compared with the corresponding period of last year, also somewhat below the average shrinkage in food prices.

Tells Development of Grain Standardization Methods

Development of grain grading standards so that purchases and sales may be made all over the world without a personal examination of the grain was traced yesterday by William H. McDonald of the Rosenbaum Grain company in the course of informative lectures sponsored by the Association of Grain Commission Merchants of the Chicago Board of Trade. The speaker is a former member of the grain standardization bureau of the department of agriculture.

"In 1854 the system was adopted in Chicago of buying and selling grain by weight instead of by bushel," said Mr. McDonald. "The first standard grades for wheat were established in 1856 the system of inspection of grain was instituted in 1857. The minimum weight test for the measure of grain was adopted in 1858. Illinois was the first state to enact a grain grading law in 1871.

Give Southern Railway Value of $475,188,476

Washington, D. C., April 7.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission today announced that the Southern railway on June 30, 1916, had a total value of $475,188,476, including $6,608,064 of working capital. The commission also announced that the Seaboard Air Line railway on June 30, 1918, had a rate making value of $141,550,275.

Insull Shares Firmer Here, in New York

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

A steadier tone developed in the Insull securities in the Chicago and New York markets yesterday as indications appeared that some progress is being made on plans for refinancing Middle West Utilities company.

From New York came word that Samuel Insull conferred with Owen D. Young, chairman of the General Electric company, immediately on his arrival there yesterday. This lent support to the reports that the General Electric chairman is playing an important rôle in the negotiations over the Insull financing problems. Both Mr. Young and Mr. Insull declined to discuss their meeting. The conference was also attended by two of Mr. Insull's associates.

Representative of the Chicago bankers left yesterday for the east where they will take part in the negotiations. The bankers were asked to join the conversations at the request of both Mr. Young and Mr. Insull, it was stated.

Gains Three Points.

While definite news was lacking traders were inclined to take a slightly more optimistic view, judging from the market action of the Insull issues. The market generally was irregular as were the Insull securities. Middle West's June note maturity was bid up three points, however, on the New York curb. Other series showed recessions. The company's common shares were quiet and a fraction higher at 62½ cents on the Chicago exchange.

No important volume of selling appeared in any of the shares. Commonwealth Edison and Public Service issues were slightly off on moderate trade. These companies are not concerned in the negotiations now being carried on.

Back in Fold.

A sidelight in the news yesterday was the announcement that Public Service corporation of New Jersey, Philadelphia Electric company and United Gas Improvement rejoined the National Electric Light association from which they withdrew several months ago. At that time gossip was current in financial circles that the companies had withdrawn from the trade association because they resented "domination" of the activities of the group by the Insull interests.

The withdrawal led to many wild rumors, not the least prevalent of which was the story that the action marked the beginning of a titanic struggle between Samuel Insull and J. P. Morgan & Co. for control of competitive utility fields. The story was scouted in well informed circles but it gained widespread currency and latterly has been popularly regarded as related to recent developments in the Insull situation.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 7.—Flurries of short covering enabled the speculative market to achieve an irregular close today for the first time in nearly a week.

Efforts to talk up prices on the administration's belated economy move, the growing opposition to an additional soldier bonus and the treasury department's stand against some of the more radical provisions of the house tax bill probably influenced a measure of this "precautionary" buying.

Observers have been reminding those with lines out, for some days, however, that the list was ripe for a technical recovery. The easing up of pressure indicates that some of the more wary ones have been taking these warnings to heart. Commentators agreed that today's selling was largely liquidation—much of it plainly of a necessitous character—rather than the operations of professionals working for a further decline.

Affects General List.

Whatever its nature, it went on pretty persistently in all departments of the list keeping prices submerged most of the time below last night's closing levels. New lows for the bear market were recorded on a generous scale, and many of them remained unchanged at the close.

American Can, which ranks as the runnerup to United States Steel in market leadership, was driven down to the lowest point in five years on selling presumably growing out of the suits just brought against the corporation by other packing concerns. It closed at 53⅛, off 2⅛, after being about a point lower.

Another conspicuous weak spot was Kresge which broke some 4 points to a new low on selling of a mysterious origin. One explanation of the upset was that one of the big brokerage houses had been carrying a large block of the stock for a client who was either unwilling or unable to put up additional margin. Brokers also talked about dividend prospects and the suggestion was offered that some of the selling represented collateral behind loans. The drop in the stock brought a depreciation of about 33 per cent of its open market value and had a disturbing influence on the rest of the merchandise group.

Utilities Register Losses.

The "Insull situation" so-called was blamed for further weakness in the utilities, most of which registered new minimums for the major decline. Consolidated Gas, Public Service of New Jersey, American and Foreign Power, and other prominent light and power issues were depressed without much resistance. Peoples Gas sagged to 66¼.

Railroad shares for a change were given some respite. They were no worse than irregular most of the time and the finish found some of the leaders of the group, New York Central for instance, and New Haven and Illinois Central showing slight gains.

Preferred stocks once more got it in the neck. Losses of from 2 to 9 points were suffered in the preferred issues of American Ice, Consolidated Cigar, Kansas City Power and Light, Loews, Inc.; Union Pacific Railroad, and Midland Steel.

Some of the industrial specialties did better. In the automobile group, General Motors dropped to a new low of 13 on expectations that the corporation's sales report due tomorrow will not be calculated to justify exorbitant hopes of a spring upturn in business for the industry.

RELIANCE BANK TAKES TITLE TO WESTERN FLATS

Step in Reorganization of Property.

BY AL CHASE.

Title to the Western apartments, at 4440-48 North Western avenue, has been secured by the Reliance Bank and Trust company through foreclosure sale from Benjamin Kogan and others for a stated $120,420. The building, containing twenty-eight apartments of two, three, and four rooms and four shops, was erected five years ago. The site is 100x125. It was financed by a $100,000 Reliance Bank and Trust company first mortgage bond issue at 6½ per cent.

According to Martin T. O'Brien, secretary of the bondholders' protective committee, yesterday's conveyance of title was a step in the reorganization of the property for the benefit of the bondholders. The members of the committee are: Robert C. Fenner, chairman; John T. Pain, Arthur C. Leebrick, L. T. Kelly, and D. Avery Kimbark. Kirkland, Fleming, Green & Martin are the attorneys.

In order to combine the equity holdings in the Engineering building at Wacker drive and Wells street in one holding, Virginia M. and Daniel A. Coffey, Marie W. and Alexander F. McKeown Jr., the Engineering Building corporation, and John Murphy yesterday conveyed their interest in the title to Florence R. Walsh, said to be a relative of Mr. McKeown's. The building was erected several years ago and financed by the American Bond and Mortgage company.

Waynwood Apartments.

Progress in the reorganization of the Waynwood apartments at 6808 Wayne avenue is reported in a bulletin issued by the committee for the protection of the holders of bonds sold through the American Bond and Mortgage company. The furniture and equipment of the building have been acquired for the bondholders and negotiations are pending for the purchase of the equity and junior interests.

The structure, a three story apartment hotel of forty-four suites, is security for a $110,000 issue underwritten by the American Bond and Mortgage company. Bonds totaling $106,000 were outstanding at the time of the first default in principal payments on Dec. 1, 1930. Interest and principal due and unpaid aggregates $7,380, while taxes for 1928 and 1929 totaling approximately $2,461 are also unpaid pending objections.

Income of the property is being collected by the American Trust and Safe Deposit company, trustee, under a surrender of possession secured from the owner, Joseph Gawner, by the committee. Receipts for the six months ending Dec. 31, 1931, were $7,025; disbursements were $3,861, a net income of $3,164.

Offer Being Considered.

The trustee expended $1,704 in buying the furniture, which is appraised at $6,000, at the chattel mortgage foreclosure sale. An offer to convey title for a cash consideration, submitted by the owner and junior lien holders, is being considered by the committee. Difficulties in procuring a loan in the present market are delaying the completion of the reorganization.

A substantial majority of the bonds of this issue are on deposit with the committee, but a virtually complete deposit is being sought so that the property may be taken out of foreclosure and the net income made available to the bondholders more quickly than if the proceedings were to continue to foreclosure sale.

The depositaries are the Chicago Title and Trust company, the City Bank Farmers Trust company, New York City, and the Atlantic National bank of Boston.

Craig B. Hazlewood is chairman of the committee, which includes Frank W. Blair, Frederick G. Curry, H. K. Hallett, Dayton Keith, Joseph E. Otis, Walter J. Sugden, and Charles W. Weston. George L. Wire is secretary.

WHEAT HIGHER DESPITE DROP IN STOCK PRICES

Damage Reports Offset Market Here.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Two major market factors have to be considered by wheat traders at the present time. The result is that price fluctuations are extremely erratic. On one hand, the traders get sensationally bullish crop reports from part of the southwestern and western winter wheat belt. On the other, the continued weakness in the stock market has a great deal of effect on general sentiment.

What the final outcome of the winter wheat crop will be is a mystery to the traders. Latest official and private returns suggest, however, there has been irreparable damage in western Kansas and Nebraska, and unless rain comes shortly the damaged area is expected to be materially enlarged. The government report will be given to the trade today at 2 p. m. Chicago time, but will be compiled from data as of April 1, and in consequence the trade claim it will not fully reflect the condition which exists at the present time.

Wheat Market Unsettled.

Speculative interest in the wheat market is at a low ebb, but nevertheless it went contrary to stocks and other commodities yesterday, closing ⅝@¾c higher with May at 56½@56⅝c; old July, 59⅜@59½c and old September, 61⅝c. The day's range was 1@1¼c with a sharp break at one time due to selling by tired longs who became discouraged over the failure of outside trade to increase despite the sensational character of the crop damage reports.

Recessions in the wheat market, however, were taken advantage of by local professionals to buy and with a lack of aggressive selling the futures closed within a fraction of the top. R. O. Cromwell and H. C. Donovan, local crop experts are now in Kansas and sent in pessimistic returns.

Cromwell after a 120 mile trip wired L. son Bros. & Co., from Kinsley, Kas., that wheat was very spotted and needed surface moisture badly. About 15 per cent of the acreage is expected to be abandoned. Donovan wired Logan and Bryan from Newton, Kas., that March frosts in that section damaged the crop 20 per cent, with prospective abandoned acreage ranging from small to 10 per cent. He expressed the belief that the same condition would develop in central Kansas and Nebraska.

Foreigners continue to show a lack of enthusiasm on the buying side despite the unfavorable crop reports and were credited with taking only 300,000 bu hard winter and Manitobas yesterday. Liverpool closed ⅛@⅜c per bu lower with May at 57⅝c, while Winnipeg was unchanged to ⅜c higher with May at 62⅜c, the latter in Canadian funds which were around 9¼ per cent discount.

Corn Dull But Steady.

Corn futures held within a range of ½c yesterday, failing to show independent action. There was buying at times on the strength in wheat with the close unchanged at ⅛c per bu higher. May finished at 35½@35⅝c; July, 28⅞c, and September, 40¾@40⅞c. Country offerings were not large, but the shipping demand was slow, and there was nothing in the general character of the news to cause operators to take a decided stand on either side of the market.

Houses with foreign connections were credited with buying July oats early, but there was sufficient pressure from cash interest to prevent any upturn of consequence. Closing trades were ⅛c higher to ⅛c lower with May, 24⅛c; July, 24⅜@24½c, and September, 25c.

Intimations of foreign demand for cash rye was not reflected to any extent by operations in futures. The latter were affected largely by the action of wheat, but sufficient selling developed from longs to prevent any advance, and the close was ⅛c lower to ¼c higher. May was 45¾@45⅞c; July, 47⅜c, and September, 48⅛c at the last.

CASH GRAIN NEWS

Scattered sales of hard winter and Manitoba wheats were reported as having been made for export yesterday, but the aggregate was not large, being estimated at around 300,000 bu. Nothing further was heard regarding the rumored demand from France and Germany. There were intimations of foreign inquiries for rye, but no sales were indicated.

Chicago handlers sold 43,000 bu wheat, 6,000 bu corn, 28,000 bu oats, 1,000 bu rye, and 4,000 bu barley to the domestic trade. Purchases of 3,000 bu wheat, 7,500 bu corn, and 6,000 bu oats were made to arrive.

Offerings of cash wheat from the country were small, and with a fair milling demand the basis was advanced ¼@½c to May price to ¼c under for No. 2 red, while No. 2 hard was ¼@½c under; No. 2 yellow hard and No. 2 mixed, ½@¾c under the future.

Little change was shown in the basis on cash corn. Discounts as compared with May follow: No. 2 mixed, 1c; yellow and white, ½c; No. 3 mixed, 3@3¼c; yellow, 2½@3c; white, 2@3c; No. 4 mixed, 3¾@4¼c; yellow, 3½@4c; white, 3½@3¾c.

Basis on light weight cash oats was somewhat easier with other kinds steady. No. 2 white brought ½@1¼c over and No. 3 white, 1c over to 1½c under May. No. 2 rye was May price to 3c under.

Official receipts of grain at Chicago Thursday: Wheat, 12 cars; corn, 47 cars; oats, 39 cars; rye, 2 cars; barley, 6 cars.

MILNOR DELAYS HIS DEPARTURE FROM GERMANY

BERLIN, April 7.—(AP)—George Milnor of the United States Grain Stabilization corporation spent the morning in conference with government officials, although he had planned to leave yesterday.

This development gave rise to reports among grain dealers that a proposition was under consideration by which Germany would buy an additional quantity of American wheat.

Nothing could be learned about the negotiations and the usual sources of information professed ignorance of the transaction. Reports persisted, however, that the deal hinged on the sale of 10,000,000 or 12,000,000 bushels. Credit arrangements apparently had not been completed.

This afternoon the government announced it would permit duty free importation of 7,500,000 bushels of cheap wheat for sale to the poultry interests on the theory that this would help Germany's 70,000,000 hens to compete in the egg market.

FIRMER TONE IN LARD

Lard had better support and the offerings were not so large. Hog supplies were lighter and the market irregular. May liquidation of lard is being cared for and there is a little better support for the distant futures. Cash trade is said to be fair. At the close prices were 2½c higher Bellies were offered moderately and well taken care of. Cash trade in all was moderate. Liverpool lard was unchanged to 6d higher, and export clearances of lard were only 121,400 lbs. Prices follow:

GRAIN BROKER ATTACKS HYDE VIEWS OF BOARD

Cites Russian Scare and Milnor Voyage.

The controversy which has been going on for months between the Chicago Board of Trade and Secretary Hyde of the department of agriculture was enlivened yesterday by the statement of William J. Springer, for 25 years a trader in the grain pits here. While the recent attacks on board of trade methods have been made by Secretary Hyde as an official and answered by Peter B. Carey as president of the Chicago board, Mr. Springer had his say merely as an individual.

"With the nation facing perhaps its greatest crisis," the statement said, "and with chief hope resting in a rise in farm prices, it is shocking to observe the blunders, deliberate or otherwise, of Mr. Hyde which serve as price depressants.

"Mr. Hyde's major blunder came with his grotesque Russian wheat scare some eighteen months ago, which launched a wheat selling wave throughout the world that started security prices tumbling.

Recalls Milnor Voyage.

"Recently on departure for Europe of George S. Milnor of the stabilization corporation, Mr. Hyde made statements construed as a fire sale of the American farmer's wheat. The price of May wheat dropped to 52 cents a bushel, though it was 72 cents a few months ago.

"On the heels of this blunder Mr. Hyde at once resorted to subterfuge by alleging short selling in the Chicago market was responsible. Yet those of us who observed the selling when prices crashed anew can prove it was being done openly, by brokers acting for the farm board. Moreover, when May wheat was around 56½ to 57c selling which carried prices lower came from these sources.

Recalls Grading Controversy.

"In an apparent frenzy to protect the farm board, of which he is ex-officio member, Mr. Hyde mercilessly assails the farmers' markets and displays impatience with small coöperative groups who venture criticism. Recently on pleas from vast numbers of farmers who were suffering from a ruling suggested by the department of agriculture, the Chicago market permitted delivery on contract of No. 1 and No. 2 yellow hard wheat. The anger of Mr. Hyde and his subsequent misrepresentation of this situation, and of others, inspires the sincere belief that he is an incompetent and unworthy servant of the American farmer.

"In the present dire situation 120 million people could better their condition with higher wheat and cotton prices, and it is extremely distressing to see a secretary of agriculture and a farm board purposely or stupidly crashing each hope that arises in the breast of the farmer."

BUOYANCY OF U. S. LIENS STEADIES N.Y. BOND MARKET

Federal Issues Advance in Active Trading.

New York, April 7.—(AP)—Buoyancy of United States government issues, several of which ascended to new high levels for the year, today kept the bond market on a somewhat more even keel, although corporate loans sagged generally throughout the session.

Trading in the federals was unusually active and at no time did any of the Liberties or Treasuries show even a fractional loss. New 1932 tops were recorded by all of the Liberty bonds and the Treasury 4¼s. Several of the Treasuries gained a point or more. On the other hand, the railroads, utilities and industrials continued to slip, although their average declines were a trifle less than yesterday. Losses of 1 to 3 or more points were common in the various corporate classifications.

Rally Early, Drop Later.

Some of the low-priced speculative rails rallied sharply early, but were unable to hold all of their gains. Nickel Plate 6s and St. Louis Southwestern consolidated 4s, after a spurt, reacted and closed with net advances of 4½ and 1⅞ points, respectively. Canadian Nationals and Canadian Pacifics were under pressure, as were some liens of Baltimore and Ohio, Atchison Boston and Maine, Chicago and North Western, Cuba Northern, Great Northern, Illinois Central, New Haven, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, and Wabash.

Consolidated Gas bonds eased at one time, but steadied later as did those of American Telephone. Some substantial losses, however, were taken by International Telephone, American and Foreign Power, American Smelting and Refining, American Water Works, American I. G., Chemical, Armour & Co., Bethlehem Steel, Chile Copper, Columbia Gas, Goodrich, Inland Steel, International Paper, New York Steam corporation, Remington Rand, Replogle Steel, Warner Bros., and Western Union liens.

Number of Advances.

At the same time advances were registered by California Petroleum 5½s, Detroit Edison refunding 5s, Kansas Gas 4½s, Pacific Gas 5s, Postal Telegraph 5s, Shell Pipe Line 5s and U. S. Rubber 5s.

German bonds rallied moderately, the government 7s gaining 1¼ points. Japanese obligations firmed and Austrian loans gained from 1½ to 3¼ points. British 5½s eased.

BUTTER AT RECORD LOW

Sinking further into all time low territory, butter futures broke ⅜@⅝c on the Chicago Merchantile Exchange yesterday. Egg futures were off ¼c. November butter fell to 19c, April fresh to 18c, May to 17⅝c, and June to 17½c, all prices being the lowest at which the deliveries ever have sold on the exchange. Unfavorable storage news, production reports construed as bearish, and heavier receipts brought out the selling. Liquidation appeared and new selling was prominent. Egg news continued unchanged, the storage movement sharply under last year and receipts continuing much lighter. Sales: Butter, 100 cars; eggs, 24 cars. Deliveries: Butter, 2 cars. Prices follow:

BANK CLEARINGS REVEAL GAIN IN PAYMENTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 6.—Bank clearings for the week ended April 6 totaled $5,953,955,000, an increase of 39.3 per cent over the preceding week, but a decline of 27.3 per cent from a year ago. Clearings for cities outside of New York City aggregated $2,054,393,000, as compared with $1,602,013,000 last week, a gain of 28.2 per cent, Bradstreet's finds.

Reasons for Increase.

The decided improvement shown in this week's totals is largely owing to the month-end payments included therein and the fact that the decline in last week's totals was due to observance of Good Friday and the shutdown of exchanges on the Saturday before Easter. However, after making allowance for these factors the advance this week was exceptionally large. Bradstreet's adjusted index stands at 52.2, compared with 41.9 in the previous week and 68.4 for the corresponding week last year [1928-'30 equals 100].

Business failures as reported to Bradstreet's magazine for the week ending March 31 number 580, a gain of 1.0 per cent over the previous week, as against a normal expected decrease of 11.3 per cent. This brings Bradstreet's adjusted index of weekly failures to 162.4, which compares with 142.6 in the preceding week, 149.8 two weeks ago, and 125.7 for the same week of 1931. Last week's total, 580 failures, compares unfavorably with 449 defaults recorded for the corresponding week a year ago.

More Retail Failures.

The number of failures rose only in the retail group, which showed a sharp increase from 375 to 412. The commercial service group also gained. The retail group, however, was the only one in which liabilities involved declined. Liabilities as a whole increased 27.8 per cent over the preceding week, the greater part of this gain being due to the failure of two large foundries in Pennsylvania and Ohio, which greatly increased manufacturing liabilities.

Number of failures rose markedly in the New England group, from 53 to 73; south Atlantic and mountain districts were the only other divisions to show increases. Liabilities increased in every district except the northwestern and mountain, the most notable gain being in the south central district.

Businesses with a capital of $5,000 or less made up 71.6 per cent of the total failures during the week, which compares with 75.3 per cent in the preceding week and 71.7 per cent during the same week of 1931. Those with a capital of $5,000 thousand to $20,000 accounted for 17.8 per cent, as against 15.2 per cent the week before, and 17.8 per cent in this week last year.

SWISS BANKS ACT TO STOP INFLUX OF ALIEN MONEY

New York, April 7.—(AP)—Banking leaders of Switzerland, which has successfully withstood the financial backwashes growing out of the world depression, have taken a new protective action designed further to safeguard the strong position of their banks.

Private banking advices received in Wall street say Swiss banks have agreed on a plan to suppress interest payments on current accounts and deposits. This, it is expected, will forestall the heavy inrush of foreign funds to Switzerland for refuge in Swiss bank investment channels, because, under the plan, Swiss banks will refuse to pay interest on such deposits.

Many nations, one after another, have been flooded with foreign funds that suddenly have been recalled. The international run on American banks last fall was one example, bankers today stated. England went through a similar experience last year, imposing a severe strain on its money markets, and resulting in abandonment of the gold standard.

By refusing to pay interest on current or transient accounts, Switzerland hopes to discourage foreigners from sending their money to that country. In effect, bankers said, the Swiss plan is to keep existing Swiss investments for the Swiss people themselves.

New York banking authorities estimated today that about one-half of all Swiss bank deposits today are for foreign account. They said that the flow of international capital to Switzerland has been out of all proportion to Switzerland's size measured in terms of its national wealth.

PROPOSE TO HELP CANADIAN PACIFIC TO BORROW MORE

OTTAWA, Ont., April 7.—(AP)—A bill to increase the borrowing power of the Canadian Pacific Railway company, but which limits all secured obligations to one-half the company's capital investment, was submitted today by the railway committee of the house of commons.

Officials said the bill would provide a "definite relationship" between bonding power and the cost of authorized undertakings, such as railways, steamships, telegraphs and their accessories, and that it was considered "a sound plan of finance, affording ample protection to security holders."

On Dec. 31, 1931, a company report said, securities amounted to 37 per cent of the investment. Secured obligations on that date were $428,475,248, against investments of $1,162,001,028, divided as follows: Railways, $967,289,070; steamships, $124,035,386; hotels, $70,676,571. Assets of $145,284,178 in lands, mines, and miscellaneous investments were not included

COTTON UNCHANGED

Pressure on cotton was sufficient to make an erratic market, selling of a liquidating character being sufficient to carry prices down to new low levels after an early advance.

Liverpool closed 2 points net lower and sterling exchange was easy. The Cochran estimate of acreage is 37,047,000 acres, a decrease of 7.3 per cent. Holders of cotton in the south appear indifferent about selling, and offerings from that quarter are said to be light.

March sales of fertilizer in six leading cotton states, as given by the New York Cotton exchange, are 259,000 tons against 626,000 tons last year and 984,000 tons two years ago. The trade awaits announcement from Washington as to the Stabilization corporation's policy regarding the disposition of the farm board holdings, which seem to be the leading feature in the market. Cotton exports for the season to date are 7,016,191 bales against 5,768,964 bales last year.

New York futures made a new low. The close in Chicago was at losses of 1@6 points lower with other markets 1@5 points lower. Spots lost 5 points, New York and Galveston being 6.05c and New Orleans and Houston 5.95c. Prices follow:

CROP FORECASTS

The government crop report for April is expected to be bullish. It is due in Chicago at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Estimates are for 475,000,000 to 495,000,000 bushels. Private reports issued April 1 showed an average of 500,000,000 bushels of winter wheat, compared with 787,000,000 bushels harvested last year. The actual condition of winter wheat has declined probably 10,000,000 to 15,000,000 bushels since the government returns were made, according to trade views. Dry weather in the southwest and high winds absorbing surplus moisture have caused deterioration.

Murray's report for Kansas to Clement Curtis on April 1 gave an estimate of 117,000,000 bushels compared with 240,000,000 bushels harvested last year. Five-year average for Kansas is 151,000,000 bushels.

American Ice.

I am thinking of buying fifty shares of American Ice on the New York Stock exchange. Will you please give me some information on it?—F. W. V.

American Ice company has been in business for 33 years. It is the foremost manufacturer and distributor of ice in the northeastern section of the United States. It sells ice in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Atlantic City, Baltimore, and Washington.

The company has 84 manufacturing plants and extensive storage facilities. It has sold much of its real estate formerly used for ice cutting, and has followed the trend of the industry towards artificial ice.

In an effort to iron out seasonal variations the company has been selling fuel oil and coal.

Sales for 1931 were $19,232,000, against $20,596,000 for 1930, $20,804,000 for 1929, and $20,772,000 for 1928. Net income in 1931 was $2,832,000, against $3,260,000 for 1930, $3,431,000 for 1929, and $3,252,000 for 1928.

Preferred dividends were earned 3.15 times last year and 3.62 times in 1930. Per share earnings on the common were $3.55 in 1931, against $3.93, on a smaller number of shares, in 1930.

The harvesting of ice in the winter just ended was considerably restricted because of unseasonably warm weather. The price of ice was low, due to competition within the industry and the competition of mechanical refrigeration.

Coal and fuel oil sales in January and February, 1932, were less than in the corresponding 1931 period, but ice sales were considerably greater due to warm weather. Operating economies enabled the company to show greater earnings than in the first two months of 1931, despite the lower price of ice.

At the close of 1931 current assets were $2,739,000, and current liabilities were $1,681,000. Working capital was $1,057,000. On Dec. 31, 1930, current liabilities were $135,000 more than current assets.

Bonds and mortgages total $6,404,000. There are outstanding 150,000 shares of 6 per cent preferred, par $100, and 559,200 shares of no par common.

Dividends of 50 cents per share are being paid quarterly on the common. Common dividends totaled $2.75 in 1931.

"Holding Company."

Will you be so kind as to give me the meaning of "holding company?"—B. J. B.

A holding company is a company formed especially for the purpose of controlling one or more other companies through ownership of a substantial part of their shares of stock. The companies thus controlled are called "subsidiaries."

Tops, $7.25; average, $6.90.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 1,000; hogs, 14,000; sheep, 11,000.

The hog market yesterday showed an inclination to drift after most of the good to choice grades had sold on a 5@10c higher basis.

Earlier gains were erased before the finish. The extreme top and general average prices for the day were unchanged at $4.40 and $4.05, respectively. Support was lacking on the bulge, but the available supply was small and most sellers managed to unload best quality stock weighing 225 lbs and lighter at the high point of the day. Buyers made a drive on heavy hog prices, converging in packing grades, where losses of 10@15c were registered before the close.

Most heavy butchers sold steady. Pigs and underweights were scarce and in demand at 15@25c higher prices, these being the only classes that succeeded in holding the early gains. Most of the 6,000 hogs left at the close were being held off the market.

There is some encouragement in reports from the wholesale pork trade where movement is fairly good at advancing prices, but packers point out that the trade is unable to stand much and volume is not sufficient to warrant any aggressive buying in the hog market.

Light weight hogs for today's delivery were bid $4.50 on the "to arrive" market yesterday. Offers and bids in future months were unchanged. July and September contracts were for sale at $5.75, but $5.00 was the highest bid posted. May hogs were offered at $5.00@5.25 and bid $4.50.

Cattle Prices Higher.

Yesterday's cattle trade was a long dragged out affair, but offerings were small and prices ruled strong to 25c higher. The weak undertone gave the trade the aspect of a forced affair. Only a "handful" of steers sold above $7.50, the bulk of all beef steers going at $5.35@7.35. Prime 1,299 lb averages topped the list at $8.10. Poorer grades of beef cattle ranged downwards to $4.90 and inferior low yielding stock sold as low as $3.50@4.00. Cows and heifers shared in the full price gain, with yearling heifers at $7.25, highest in two months. Although wholesale beef prices are holding up on light supplies, consumptive demand is low and prices extremely sensitive to receipts. Calves yesterday were slow and steady. Country demand for stockers and feeders is falling off again and trading in that division is almost at a standstill.

Lambs Off 50 Cents.

Lambs came under pressure yesterday and slumped almost 50 cents on very late afternoon rounds, with the bulk of slaughter stock going at $6.75@7.00. City butchers and shippers paid up to $7.25 for several carloads. Aged sheep of light weight held steady, but reports of more heavy stock at other points caused buyers to discriminate against weight yesterday and reductions of 25 cents were made in spots. Buying of shearing stock has slowed down considerably and prices yesterday dropped 25@50c. It is getting late in the season to buy shearing lambs and only a few country buyers were present. Most sales were made at $5.75@6.10, with top classes quoted at $6.25.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 1,000 cattle, 13,000 hogs, and 11,000 sheep, against 1,226 cattle, 10,079 hogs, and 10,356 sheep the previous Friday and 1,708 cattle, 10,902 hogs, and 11,753 sheep a year ago.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, April 7.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL—Bleachable today closed easy at 1@7 points net decline. Sales were 28 contracts or 4,200 brls. Scattered liquidation, favorable cotton weather, and rather weak crude oil were responsible for the setback and more than offset the steadiness of hogs, lard, and grains. Crude oil sold at 2⅝c in the southeast and the valley and was 2½c bid in Texas. Bleachable spot closed at 3.50c, May 3.55c, July 3.72c, September 3.88c, November 4.03c. There were no sales in the prime summer yellow contract, with closing prices as follows: Spot, 3.50c; May, 3.40c; July, 3.50c; September, 3.70c, November, 3.90c.

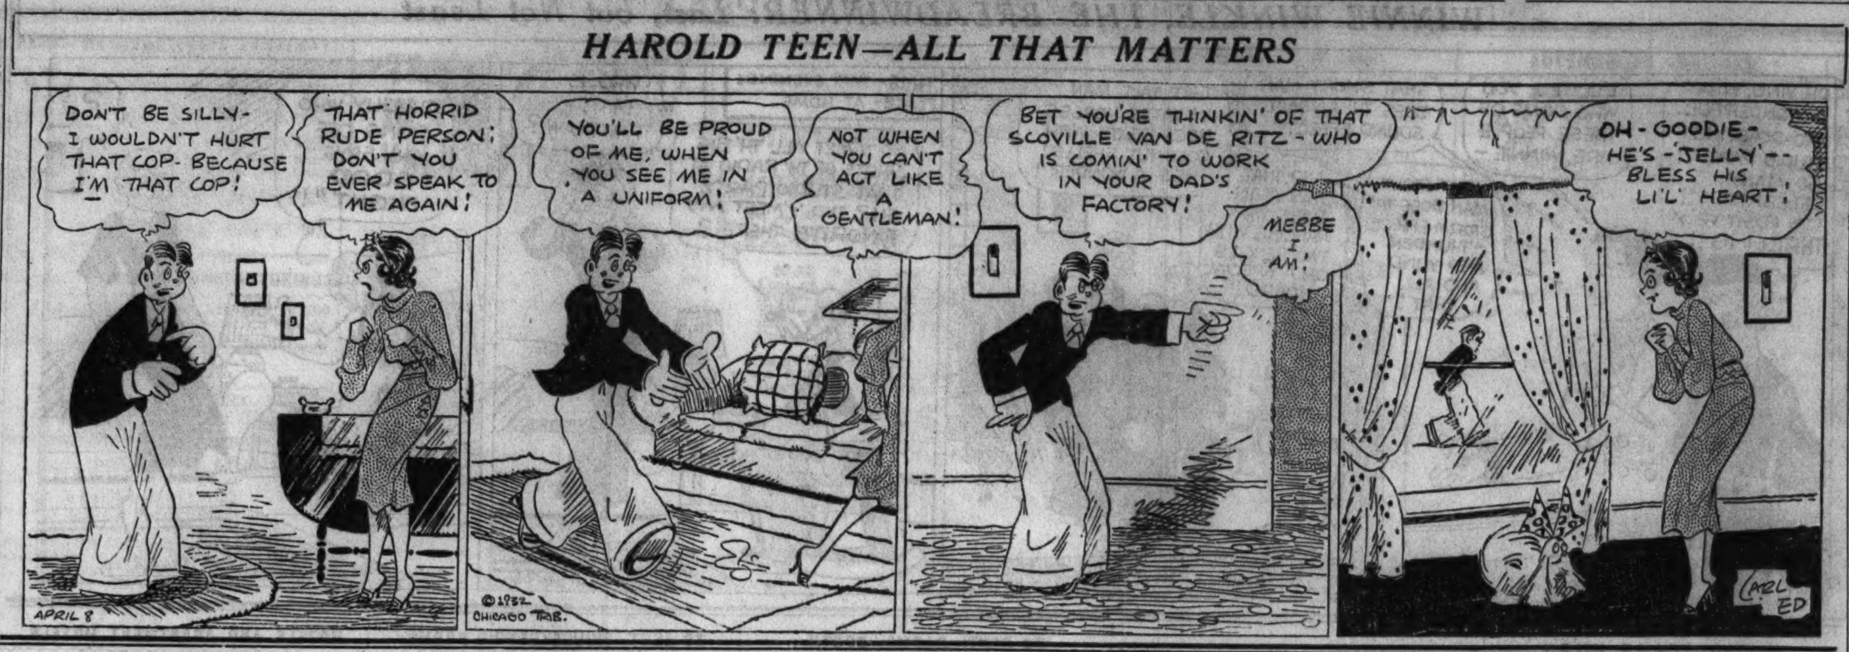
HAROLD TEEN—ALL THAT MATTERS



DON'T BE SILLY- I WOULDN'T HURT THAT COP- BECAUSE I'M THAT COP!
THAT HORRID RUDE PERSON; DON'T YOU EVER SPEAK TO ME AGAIN!
YOU'LL BE PROUD OF ME, WHEN YOU SEE ME IN A UNIFORM!
NOT WHEN YOU CAN'T ACT LIKE A GENTLEMAN!
BET YOU'RE THINKIN' OF THAT SCOVILLE VAN DE RITZ - WHO IS COMIN' TO WORK IN YOUR DAD'S FACTORY!
MEBBE I AM!
OH - GOODIE - HE'S -'JELLY'-- BLESS HIS LI'L' HEART!
